STATE JOBS HIS BAIT.

Johnson's Tactics in the Legislature.

Repudiated Progressives Yield to the Influence of the Boss at Sacramento.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5.—Indications tonight are that the Governor will have forty-four votes in the Assembly for his nonpartisan registration bills. He has lost three or four votes in the Senate, but his majority there is not endangered. Republican and Democratic leaders assert tonight that they expect to see the machine line-up hold, as the ones who might be weak are all cared for on the State pay roll.

The jingle of the State money in their pockets is helping the hurt that twenty-two Assemblymen feel for being repudiated in their own districts at the October special election. These twenty-two are all on the State pay roll for jobs ranging from $2100 to $3000 a year. They all voted for the nonpartisan bills last January, and they are all lined up to vote for them again at the present special session.

"I know I am not coming back," said one of these to another Assemblyman this afternoon, "we are all dead men, irrespective of how we vote here now. Progressivism is dead, Johnson is dead politically, and so are all we fellows who hold State jobs while members of the Legislature. We keep our jobs for three years longer by voting with the administration. If we buck we would be fired; so of course we shall all stand pat."

There has been but one defection in the ranks of the opposition; Senator Eddie Wolfe of San Francisco has joined the Johnson forces in the Senate.

STATE JOBS PLENTY.

"It looks as though there are too many State jobs floating around for us to win in the Assembly," asserted Assemblyman Carey after an informal caucus at the Sacramento Hotel this afternoon. "We shall oppose the amendments contained in the two bills presented by Speaker Young this afternoon. They are directly in opposition to the will of the people as expressed in October. I shall favor invoking the referendum against them if they carry. I have no question as to what the attitude of the people will be."

In the Assembly this afternoon a bill was introduced jointly by Assemblymen Bartlett and Lyons of Los Angeles which provides for stating party affiliations when an elector registers. The same bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Ballard. Following the party caucus tonight, another bill was prepared for introduction tomorrow. This bill re-enacts the registration law which was in effect in 1915 and permits party registration.

Senator Lyman King will introduce this bill in the Senate tomorrow and Assemblyman J. C. Burke will introduce it in the Assembly. This was a Conscription bill in English Parliament.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The whole energy of the Russian army is being directed to making a gap between the German armies in the center and the Southern Austrian forces, and the desperate Austrian attacks in the region of Koliki are designed to prevent this. The fighting must continue for a considerable time yet, but upon the result will depend in a large measure the strategy of both sides when spring comes. For England, the attitude the labor men will take regarding conscription at a great conference to be held in London today is a matter of anxiety.

FORCE MEN INTO WAR.

Compulsion Measure in Parliament.

But Ireland is Excluded from the Terms of Britain's Conscription Bill.

Premier Asquith Convinced also that Immediate Change is Necessary.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Today will loom large in the history of the great war. It will undoubtedly hold a place with dates like the battle of Mons and the Marne and the fall of Antwerp and Warsaw. To Britons it will have even greater significance, for to most of the people conscription means an overturning of the very foundation of the government, and the casting aside of the fundamental principle of personal liberty.

THE PLAY GOES ON.

Walking down the Strand on the way to Parliament this afternoon you would be amazed at the great lines of people waiting to enter the pantomime theaters, to see "Robinson Crusoe" or "Puss in Boots" plainly indicating that nothing can disturb the whole of the British public, but its attitude toward Zeppelin raiders gave proof of that months ago. Long before the opening of the momentous session, crowds had gathered around the House of Commons, every man and woman hoping to catch a fleeting glance of the ministers and statesmen hurrying back and forth, arranging the final details of one of the most important sessions in the long history of Parliament.

EXCITEMENT.

Inside every gallery was filled and a buzz of excited comment filled the air until Asquith arose and announced in the simple, mild manner of a country clergyman the details of the government's compulsion bill. It would be interesting to know the real emotions of this sturdy white haired man as he made his historic speech advocating a system to which he had been all his life opposed, and which he knew was bound to split his party and estrange him from his home and his closest friends.

Nearby sat Sir John Simon on what has come to be known as the "farewell bench" as that is the place from which Winston Churchill made his last speech.

As Asquith got into his speech the applause increased until he seemed to be carrying the entire house with him. It was a wonderful triumph for this skilled politician and leader.

Patriotism ran high and there was scarcely any need for oratorical ability to rouse the gathering. By comparison Simon's speech following that of the Premier seemed forced and labored, as he had to deal with figures before the majority of the opposition. But he, too, had the closest attention of the gathering.

LABOR'S ROLE.

But there are still some aspects of conscription to be reckoned with. Labor plays a prominent part in this and there is also a body which is unalterably opposed to the system. A member who has served twenty years declared tonight that he thought the opposition would fail to muster more than sixty votes on the first ballot. The events of the day make Lord Derby a bigger figure in Great Britain than he has ever been before.

TERMS OF THE BILL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Jan. 5, 3:46 p.m.—Under the terms of the compulsory military service bill, introduced in the House of Commons, today, all males between the ages of 18 and 41 who are bachelors, or widowers without children dependent on them, are liable for military service.

KITCHENER'S STATEMENT.

"Seventeen months ago," said Earl Kitchener, in beginning his speech, "I stated the broad principles of the military steps which I considered necessary to meet the emergency of the war. The scheme for augmenting our forces then set on foot was based on a definite plan to secure by successive increases to our military strength an army complement of reserves and reinforcements necessary to keep up its effective strength in the field during the war.

"Further, we had to produce for the army thus created the guns, ammunition and military material requisite to maintain its fighting value. This scheme had developed under the system of voluntary military service existing in the country, and this system has given us results far greater than most of us would dared have predicted, certainly beyond anything our enemies contemplated. In the early stages of the war men responded to the call in almost embarrassing thousands and until a few months ago we maintained by a steady flow of recruits the supply of men we required in as large numbers as we could train and equip them.

PRO AND CON OF CONSCRIPTION; WHY THE IRISH ARE AGAINST IT.

LONDON, Jan. 5, 5:16 p.m.—The fullest and fairest trial has been given the voluntary system, declared Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, addressing the House of Lords today.

"We are now asking Parliament to sanction a change," said Earl Kitchener, "as it has been proved that in the special circumstances of this unprecedented struggle the existing system, without modification, is not equal to maintaining the army which is needed to secure victory.

"Compulsion," he added, "affects during the period of the war only one class of men, those who have but a poor idea of their duty as citizens."

LONDON, Jan. 5, 7:32 p.m.—Speaking on the compulsion measure, John Redmond said:

"It is with the greatest regret that I have to announce that my party cannot support the bill. Ireland regards this as her war and she will stop at no sacrifice to bring it to a speedy and successful issue. Nobody, however, has shown that this bill is necessary for this purpose, Premier Asquith himself having declared it was needed to fulfill a certain pledge which he had given.

"I believe we have today more soldiers than we can train, equip and provide with officers."

Declares the Country was Promised that Parliament Would Have Nothing to do with any Compulsion Measures—Irish Ulsterites Object to the Humiliation of Being Omitted in the Call.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Sir John Simon, whose resignation as Home Secretary was announced yesterday, made a speech in the House of Commons today in which, after expressing regret that he had found it necessary to sever his relations with Premier Asquith, he pleaded for rejection of the compulsory service bill.

When the national register was taken Sir John said the country was given a pledge that it had nothing to do with compulsion.

The present bill, Sir John said, represented legislation first and inquiry afterwards.

BREAKERS AHEAD.

LONDON, Jan. 4 (delayed.)—The Irish sectional issue is considered as likely to prove a troublesome point in carrying the compulsion measure. The Ulster members have adopted a resolution framed by Sir Edward Carson, denouncing the proposal to omit Ireland as "an insult and humiliation to the loyal and patriotic population and the abandonment of the principle of equality of sacrifice in time of war on the part of all His Majesty's subjects in the United Kingdom."

SINGLE MEN CHEAPER THAN MARRIED MEN.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The advocates of compulsory service for single men were furnished with an additional argument today by official statements that the cost of separation allowances for the dependents of one thousand unmarried men amounts only to £267 weekly as compared with £870 for the same number of married men.

STEAMER STRIKES A PIER; SINKS IN OHIO RIVER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PARKERSBURG (W. Va.) Jan. 5.—The steamer Kanawha, owned by the Kanawha Packet Company, struck a pier about nine miles south of here in the Ohio River tonight and sank in thirty feet of water. The steamer carried thirty-six passengers and a crew of forty-five, but Capt. Brady Berry, who landed at Meldahl's Station, near which point the accident occurred, expressed the opinion that all had been saved.

Since some of the rescued were taken to the Ohio side and others landed on this side of the river, it was impossible tonight to check up the list of passengers and crew.

At a late hour tonight reports received from various points along the river indicated that only forty-one survivors have been landed. Owners of the steamer expressed the belief, however, that the others had been landed at remote places along the shore or been carried down stream on pieces of wreckage. They said that it would be impossible to ascertain if any were lost until the passenger lists had been checked up tomorrow morning.

Among the rescued was R. N. Beaver of Racine, O., who with his wife and three other women was dragged from the water and taken to a near-by farmhouse. According to a telephone message received here, Beaver said that a lifeboat containing about fifteen persons got away from the packet before she sank and was rowed to the Ohio side of the river. He is quoted as saying that when the Kanawha settled a dozen persons were standing on the roof in three feet of water. Whether any of these succeeded in reaching the shore has not been ascertained here.

The place where the packet sank is near a sparsely settled territory and because of the bad condition of the roads and lack of wire communication, it was impossible to get complete details tonight.

The Kanawha left Pittsburgh for Charleston Wednesday afternoon. The boat had a net tonnage of 429 and was 180 feet long.

LONDON, Jan. 6, 2:06 a.m.—Although the Russians appear to be continuing their progress, there still is no news concerning the actual Russian occupation of Czernowitz, capital of Bukowina, which already has changed hands four times since the war began.

The Times' Petrograd correspondent, telegraphing Tuesday, says in the opinion of the military critics there the approach of the Russians to the railway line running from Salestchitky to Czernowitz has greatly lessened the value of the former point for the Austrians.

"It is quite possible," the correspondent adds, "that the Russian cavalry already has cut the line, but there is no confirmation of the report that we have occupied Czernowitz, which in itself is not a tempting bait for either belligerent. The preponderant importance the enemy attaches to the possession of the Styr River is reflected in the German army orders, where the river is described as the 'Dvina of the south and the permanent tenure of which would secure to a foe a lasting front from Pinsk to Galicia, provided its shores were converted into an unbroken fortress.'

"In view of the enormous strength of the enemy's fortified lines in the southern theater, the military critics warn the public against pitching their hopes too high."

No Division of the Debaters on Party Line, but Most of the Members Indicate Clearly the Cast of Their Sentiments with Reference to the European Struggle—Californian Holds America Responsible for Lusitania Deaths.

BY HARRY CARR.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—Despite the efforts of the President and the administration to prevent the international controversy over submarine warfare from breaking out in the form of discussion in Congress, the storm broke this afternoon.

It was led by Senator Works of Los Angeles, who declared that the United States government is morally responsible for the deaths of American citizens on the Lusitania and that, while pretending a hypocritical neutrality, this government is actually a party to the war.

This so agitated the Tory Senators and the administration defenders that for about an hour the Senate resembled the crowd in front of a newspaper bulletin board. Senator "Gum Shoe Bill" Stone, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, finally succeeded in choking it off; not, however, until most of the Senators had pretty definitely indicated the direction of their sympathies in this war.

HOW IT ALL STARTED.

The whole thing flared up suddenly when Senator Jones of Washington read an editorial from one of the Washington daily papers suggesting that Americans are in duty bound as a matter of patriotism to stay off belligerent vessels during this war.

"Does the Senator mean to imply that our Consul, Mr. McNeely, was unpatriotic in traveling on the steamer Persia?" inquired Senator Nelson of Minnesota, severely.

"I think he should not have taken passage on the Persia," replied Senator Jones.

Senator Owens and the white-haired, splendid looking Senator, O'Gorman of New York, rose almost at the same time. Senator Owens said he thought, if necessary, this government ought to send its consuls to their destination on battleships to avoid any more embarrassments like the McNeely case. Senator O'Gorman said that McNeely had been duly warned by Consul Skinner in London to keep off the Persia, but disregarded the warning. He said McNeely could just as well have traveled on a Dutch or other neutral boat.

"Well," said Mr. Nelson bitterly, "I will call the attention of the Senate to the fact that the neutral nations of Europe have lost just as many ships by dynamite as any of the belligerent nations. Even the ship that carried this Ford peace party was in danger. Ships have been torpedoed within the three-mile limit of Sweden."

Senators Borah and Owens and a lot more dipped into the discussion.

WORKS AT THE BAT.

Then Senator Works rose slowly in his place and let go a 16-inch gun.

"I have a case in mind," he said, "where a citizen of my own city, Los Angeles, was warned publicly and privately. He made light of the warnings; disregarded them and lost his life on the Lusitania. The officers of this government knew perfectly well the Lusitania was loaded to the guards with munitions of war. Yet these passengers were permitted to sail on that vessel, carrying death and destruction.

"Senators, this government is morally responsible for the loss of life on the Lusitania."

Senator Works said that this government, in the circumstances, cannot approach this submarine inquiry with clean hands.

Senator Stone of the Foreign Relations Committee was squirming in agony in his seat. He suggested weakly that the discussion ought not to go on; but they rode right over him. Senator Reed of Missouri got up, very stern and accusatory.

"The Senator from California has brought a very grave charge against this government. Under what law does he think Americans should have been prohibited from sailing on the Lusitania?"

Senator Works replied that it would only have been necessary to have notified the passengers, force would not have been necessary.

Senator O'Gorman and Senator Robinson tried to cut in, but it had

CREW OF THESSALONIKI RESCUED BY PERUGIA.

Escape of Sailors is Culmination of Ten-day Battle with Continuous Gales After Sister Vessel had Taken off Three Hundred Passengers—Captain Insisted on Sticking to Ship to the Last.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The crew of the Greek liner Thessaloniki has been taken off the ship, which has presumably been abandoned, according to a wireless message received today by the Scandinavian-American line from Capt. Goetsche of the steamer United States. The message read as follows:

"Received news Anchor liner Perugia rescues crew of Thessaloniki. Thank God. We proceed on our voyage."

DRAMATIC RESCUE.

The rescue of the crew of the Thessaloniki is the culmination of a ten-day battle with continuous gales by the crippled liner. Some days ago wireless messages stated that the 300 passengers on board the ship had been taken off by the Patris of the same line.

Apparently the Patris stood by her crippled sister ship in order to give assistance to the crew if the captain decided to abandon the ship. Nothing could be learned today, however, as to the whereabouts of the Patris or of the reason why the crew was transferred to the Perugia instead of to the Greek liner.

The disconnected and contradictory wireless messages received from the time the Thessaloniki first reported that she was in trouble indicated that serious trouble had occurred on board through the determination of the captain to stick to his ship and efforts made by the crew to force him to abandon it.

OFFICES BESIEGED.

All day today the Greek line offices were besieged by the relatives and friends of the passengers and crew of the missing ship clamoring for some assurance of their safety. The company expressed itself confident that it would have definite news by tomorrow morning.

The Thessaloniki, which has apparently been abandoned to her fate, was formerly the City of Vienna. She was built in 1890 at Belfast and has a registered tonnage of 4682 gross. She has been in the freight and passenger-carrying business between New York and Greek ports.

RUSSIAN ATTACK FAILS ON THE AUSTRIAN LINES.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Jan. 5 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—After prolonged artillery fire the Russians attacked again along the front in Galicia and Bukowina, but were nowhere able to break the Austrian lines, according to the statement by the Austro-Hungarian War Office received today from Vienna.

The statement says:

"Austro-Hungarian troops fighting in Eastern Galicia and on the Bukowina frontier everywhere remained victorious. The Russians, after the heaviest of artillery fire, again attacked our positions near Toporoutz and east of Rarancza. Some of the Russian attacks were made in as many as eight lines following each other, but all broke under our fire, with heavy losses. The Croatian and South Hungarian regiments held fast under the most difficult circumstances.

"Russian attacks against the bridgehead at Tocsiensku and in the Jusiovice district equally failed.

"On the Isonzo front the artillery was active, especially in the Krn district and near Oslavia. The Italians again attacked without success the trench north of Dolge, which we had captured.

Details of Disaster Still Sought by the President.

Foreign Relations Committee to Debate Situation.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

COLOGNE (via London) Jan. 5.—The Volks Zeitung, discussing the sinking of the British steamship Persia, says the sending of the vessel to the bottom was justified, as the American Consul at Alexandria reported her to be armed, which made her a warship.

"The Persia," says the newspaper, "undoubtedly would have used her cannon against the submarine if the latter had betrayed her presence."

The Volks Zeitung refuses to believe Reuter's Washington dispatches representing that the official American view is that the armament of the Persia does not change the merits of the case.

"When President Wilson gets the official report from Alexandria," says the Volks Zeitung, "he will call to account the British government for its unscrupulousness in arming a passenger vessel on which hundreds of peaceful noncombatants are sailing and thus criminally risking their lives. President Wilson now knows to whom he must turn concerning the Americans killed."

DETAILS STILL LACKING.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Official details upon which President Wilson and Secretary Lansing will decide the course of the United States in the crisis brought by the sinking of the steamship Persia still were lacking tonight, and in the absence of specific information official Washington continued to view the situation with an open mind.

During a conference which lasted an hour today, the President and Secretary of State carefully considered such information as had been received. While no announcement regarding the conference was made, it is known that the President will adhere to his position of not taking any action until the facts are before him.

During the day the State Department sent additional instruction to representatives abroad urging haste in the gathering of information.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations will begin consideration of the situation Friday. Members of the committee generally agreed tonight that the whole subject of the relations of the United States with the Teutonic powers would be freely discussed. The majority of the committee is understood to look with favor upon the determination of the administration to proceed with the utmost caution.

Late today Secretary Lansing sent to the committee an accumulation of information bearing upon the attitude of Great Britain toward neutral shipping, called for in a resolution by Senator Hoke Smith, and information regarding the negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare, requested in an amendment by Senator Lodge.

ANOTHER AMERICAN LOST.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The American Embassy here has received a report saying that the Rev. Homer R. Salisbury, an American, was a passenger on the Peninsular and Oriental liner Persia, which was sunk in the Mediterranean, but that he was not included among the survivors.

The Rev. Mr. Salisbury's home was at Takoma Park, Washington, D. C. He boarded the steamship Persia at Marseilles, going to join his wife, who is a missionary in India.

The Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company confirms the report that Mr. Salisbury embarked on the vessel at Marseilles.

A fifth boat from the steamer Persia has arrived at Malta, according to a dispatch from that place to the Daily Mail, received through its Milan correspondent. The shrivivors believed that a sixth boat succeeded in getting away.

SALISBURY AN ADVENTIST.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Rev. Mr. Salisbury was superintendent for India of the Seventh Day Adventist missions. His mother lives at Battle Creek, Mich., and his brother, W. R. Salisbury, at Glendale, Cal. Officials of the Seventh Day Adventist general conference at its headquarters at Takoma Park, a suburb of Washington, said today that Dr. Salisbury was on his way back to Lucknow, India, his headquarters, where his wife now is, after attending a council of the North American division of the conference held recently in California.

The Rev. Homer R. Salisbury, who was in this country on a business trip last year, visited his brother, W. D. Salisbury of Glendale, last November.

According to Dr. D. D. Comstock of the Glendale Sanatorium, the Rev. Mr. Salisbury had been in India about two years.

ITALY REJECTS PROPOSAL TO MAKE SEPARATE PEACE.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Germany, in the name of Austria, offered to make peace with Italy at the time when the latter prepared to sign the London pact of the allied nations against separate action in making peace, says the Petit Journal.

Austria, declares the newspaper, proposed to cede to Italy the Italian Trentino and the region now occupied by the Italian forces on the Isonzo and on the Carso Plateau, with Gorizia and Grado to the south. Albania was to continue autonomous, Italy retaining Avlona with the Hinterland. In addition, concessions are declared to have been promised in Asia Minor and the free and peaceable enjoyment by Italy of her African colonies, Tripoli, Massowah and Somaliland, guaranteed.

These conditions, says the Petit Journal, were unhesitatingly rejected and the engagement against a separate peace was signed.

In North Sea.

SIX HUNDRED SWEDE SHIPS SEIZED BY THE GERMANS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Between 500 and 600 Swedish ships are said to have been sent under charge of German prize crews to Swinemuende, where they have been subjected to a delay of at least forty-eight hours, since the examination station at Swinemuende was instituted last year, says an official communication issued by the British Foreign Office today, as an illustration of "how the German government practices in the Baltic the principle of the freedom of the seas which they accuse His Majesty's government of violating."

The statement adds: "When these ships' papers are in order no examination of the cargo occurs at Swinemuende; and the correctness of the papers could just as easily be ascertained in the Sound, where the officers of the German patrol boats invariably examine them," and concludes:

"The purpose of this diversion of traffic has not been ascertained, but captains of Swedish vessels say it is in the nature of a demonstration of German sea power with the object of impressing the northern nations."

PENNANT FOR ADVERTISING HELD BY "THE TIMES."

Another Year has Passed into History, and in the Los Angeles Advertising Field "The Times," as Usual, Holds the Lead, Far in Advance of Any Other Publication.

The publicity people have voted again. The official returns for the entire year of 1915 are in. The Times is, of course, at the top of the list, leading its nearest morning contemporary by 3,498,230 lines of paid advertising, and the third morning newspaper by 5,754,280 lines.

The total volume of advertising printed in 1915 by the first evening newspaper does not equal that of The Times by 6,058,724 lines, and the third evening newspaper is distanced by the big Times by 10,129,700 lines.

* In automobile advertising The Times leads its nearest contemporary by 103,082 lines; and in foreign, or out-of-town, advertising it leads its nearest contemporary by 106,500 lines, and shows a gain of 103,500 lines over its own record of the previous year.

The marked year after year advertising lead of The Times over all other Los Angeles newspapers shows the value of its advertising space, as well as the preference that local advertisers exhibit toward this journal as the most profitable publicity medium in the Pacific Southwest.

	Lines.
THE TIMES	12,765,578
Second Morning Newspaper	9,266,446
Third Morning Newspaper	7,011,398
First Evening Newspaper	6,706,952
Second Evening Newspaper	6,184,290
Third Evening Newspaper	2,635,976

Advertising in The Times pays because this great newspaper regularly goes into more buying homes and has more bona-fide readers than any other local newspaper, and stands first and foremost for the progress of this city and section.

* NOTE: A typographical error in the issues of The Times of January 1 and 2 made it appear that The Times lead over its nearest competitor in automobile advertising in 1915 was only 3194 lines. The correct figures are 103,082 lines.

part of the 1913 election law and the party committee holds that it can be re-enacted under the Governor's call.

Senator King voted with the administration for the anti-party bills last year, but he is now one of the strongest opponents to the Johnson programme.

KING EXPLAINS HIS VOTE.

"I feel there is just one thing for us to do at this session," said Senator King tonight in explaining his change of attitude. "The people voted by a decided majority against nonpartisanship in State politics. It is our duty to follow their expressed wish. If that registration act had been referred it would undoubtedly have been beaten. To assert otherwise is to stultify one's self."

The administration forces feel keenly the loss of Senator King. There was a great scurrying of commissioners about the Capitol tonight when it was learned that King had come out openly against the Governor. Some expressed the opinion that a number of other Southern California Senators would follow his lead; but the general opinion tonight is that the administration majority is welded together too solidly with State jobs to be broken.

Republican legislators gave Speaker Young a bad half-hour at the committee meeting tonight, when they called upon him to explain why his bill amending the Presidential primary act contained a call for a special election. Young admitted that the election call was superfluous. "We did that in 1911 to get the election law in effect at once," said Young, "and the Attorney-General says it is legal."

"What do you mean by legal?" demanded Assemblyman Scott of Los Angeles. "Do you mean that it is a legal way to escape getting the bill referred?"

Young admitted that its form precluded the use of the referendum. The same form cannot be used, however, in the new bill amending the 1913 primary act; and this is the bill against which the opposition will center.

MESSAGE IN FULL.

JOHNSON EXPLAINS MIX-UP.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5.—The Governor's message, in full, follows:

"To the Senate and Assembly:

"Under the power vested in me by the Constitution I have duly issued a call for an extraordinary session of the Legislature and have convened you for three specific purposes:

"1. To amend the election laws of the State as specifically set forth in subdivisions 1 and 2 of the call.

"2. To take such action as you may dee mappropriate in reference to the San Francisco Normal School, and

"3. To pass such laws as you deem essential in relation to the San Diego exposition.

"I—THE ELECTION LAWS.

"I take it that you are familiar with the condition, at once contradictory and confusing, of the election laws of the State, and the necessity for remedial legislation. At the last session of the Legislature, in 1915, four laws relating to elections were passed and these four constituted a harmonious and complete system. Against two of these laws the referendum was invoked, and these two measures, popularly designated the nonpartisan bills, were, on the 24th day of October last, defeated. The two measures thus submitted to the people by referendum and rejected by the people were the bill relating to primary elections and that prescribing the form of ballot at the final election. The two bills, which were not attacked, and concerning which no referendum was invoked, were the registration bill and the Presidential preference primary law. The question presented to the voters at the special election was clean-cut and well-defined, and that question was, whether or not the officials of the State required to be elected by the voters should be chosen in partisan or in nonpartisan fashion. All of the persuasive endeavors of both sides of the controversy in the special election were directed solely to this question, and on the one side it was argued that our State officials should be elected without regard to partisanship, and on the other, the desirability of parties choosing candidates for State offices was earnestly advocated. The registration bill, under which the elector is not required to state his party affiliation at the time of registration, was accepted by both sides, and acquiesced in by all the people of the State of California. Since August 10, 1915, it has been continuously the law of the State and is today the solemn enactment of both houses of the Legislature and of the executive branch of the government.

"The primary law of 1913, continued in force because of the defeat of the law of 1915, at the special election, cannot be operative if the registration law adopted and accepted by all the people of the State be enforced; and presented to us, therefore, is the problem, how shall election of State officers be made partisan and the laws that have been duly enacted and are in force today be preserved as well? It is obvious that we can no more rightfully disregard one law than another and that officials are bound to obey all the laws of the State. It is our plain duty, therefore, while recognising the result of the recent special election and carrying out what those who then voted declared should be the policy of the State—the nomination and election by parties and in partisan fashion of candidates for State office—to maintain and uphold a plain statute which has neither been questioned nor challenged, and which up to this time all of the people of the State of California have accepted and acquiesced in. Speedily and readily the result may be attained by the amendment of the primary law, and by this amendment, candidates for State offices will be nominated by political parties and will be elected wholly in partisan fashion and the registration law will be preserved intact. The time of the declaration of party affiliation is simply changed from the time of registration to the time of the primary. This is neither a new nor a novel proceeding. It is the course pursued in the majority of the States having primary laws. Today in States like Massachusetts, Idaho, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, West Virginia, Illinois, Wisconsin, Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Montana and others, the voter declares his party affiliation at the time of the primary and surely it will not be argued that the election laws of these States are nonpartisan. I repeat that by the amendment proposed to the primary law, every official required to be elected in the State will be nominated as the candidate of a political party and will be elected as a candidate of a political party. If this be done, no man acting in good faith can ask more. If the registration law were today amended, the amendment could not take effect until ninety days after the adoption of the amendment. Registration is to commence on the first day of January, and to continue then for use at the Presidential preference primary to be held on or about May 2. It is important, therefore, that a registration law be in effect now and for the period required in order that there may be no more confusion hereafter. If any other reason were needed for upholding what we have solemnly enacted, and what today is the law, it is presented with unanswerable logic by the fact that we would but add to the confusion now existing and leave the election laws still uncertain and inoperative for more than three months by an attempted amendment of the registration law.

"In its larger sense, however the reason for the amendment of the primary law is that by that amendment we do exactly what the majority who voted at the special election October 26 decreed should be done, and we maintain the law duly enacted and unanimously acquiesced in. There was not a single vote in the Senate of the State of California at the 1915 session cast against the registration law nor was there a single vote cast in that body against the Presidential preference primary law, and yet the Presidential preference primary law then enacted with this unanimity distinctly provided for the declaration of party affiliation at the primary itself and at no other time.

"It is worse than a confusion of thought to say that the will of the people was expressed upon registration at the recent special election. This is not so. The will of the people upon registration was expressed by the representatives of the people at the legislative session of 1915, and thereafter expressed by all of the people in the failure of any to attack the registration law or invoke against it the referendum. It is nothing short of misrepresentation to assert that the amendment of the primary law in the manner suggested makes the election system of the State nonpartisan. The amendment suggested makes the election system of the State partisan. It makes a system by which the political parties of the State will nominate candidates for State offices. Those candidates will then have their names printed on the official election ballot with their party designation and will be voted for as partisan candidates. To claim otherwise, is to demonstrate either a poverty of intellect or the willful design of misrepresentation.

"It may be that other means could be devised for partisan nominations and partisan elections and that if time permitted and no confusion would result another mode might be presented to cure the existing defects. But whether other courses might be adopted, whether any mode could be suggested that would meet the approval of the most captious, the mode now suggested does do exactly the very thing desired—requires nomination of candidates by political parties and election of candidates as candidates of political parties in partisan fashion.

"2—SAN FRANCISCO NORMAL SCHOOL.

"The San Francisco Normal School is occupying practically temporary quarters. The buildings are unsightly and unsafe. All of us who are familiar with the situation have long known that it was a question of but a brief period until an appropriation of some hundreds of thousand of dollars would be required for reconstruction, etc. Out of the beautiful exposition that has just been concluded in San Francisco came a suggestion for the preservation of the California Building, and its acquisition by the State for the San Francisco Normal School. Sentimentally, the idea was enthusiastically received by all who are familiar with the location; but it was not until the trustees of the Normal School, their expert engineer, and those interested in the preservation of the California Building presented the financial economy of the plan, and its advantages from a business standpoint that I felt at liberty to submit the question to the Legislature for action.

"The Panama-Pacific International Exposition, due to prudent, sagacious and very able management, will realize a considerable sum for ultimate distribution among those who contributed its funds. Under the law creating the California Commission, thanks to the foresight of those who prepared the measure, it was provided that the State should receive the State's proportionate share of any moneys realized from the exposition, and subsequently, in conformity with the law, a contract was made by the State Commission with the directors of the exposition of like character. It is represented to me that a sum probably equalling a million dollars will ultimately be realized from the exposition, and the State will be entitled to its proportionate share of this sum.

"The proposal in reference to the Normal School is not to appropriate any money from the general fund at all and the finances of the State therefore will not be strained by consummating the plan. It is desired that the Normal School trustees shall be given power to condemn the land upon which the California Building stands, and land adjacent thereto; to remodel the California Building in accordance with the reports and estimates of the experts; to receive if necessary, appropriate lands in exchange for funds due to the State from the exposition, to change the site of the Normal School from its present location to the California Building of the exposition; to change the site of the exposition, and to dispose of the present site. The estimates submitted to me by the Normal School trustees and their engineer for the modification of the California Building and its construction into a most beautiful State institution, aggregate $195,000, and the purchase price of the real estate, it is asserted, ought not to exceed $100,000. The condemnation proceedings must be commenced at once and it is necessary therefore that the requisite authority be immediately given. The appropriation asked in the bill submitted is wholly from moneys which shall be returned from the exposition to the State, and I reiterate that the general finances of the State are not touched at all.

"I am not unmindful of the difficulties and obstacles which may preclude us from successfully carrying out the proposed design; but, in order that we may endeavor thus to consummate a plan at once appealing to our sentiment and business judgment, the powers asked must be accorded by the Legislature.

"(3.)—San Diego exposition.

"Californians may be very proud of the great international exposition which has just been concluded at San Francisco. It marked an epoch in world's expositions, and its marvels and its beauty were worthy of our State. The State dealt generously with the exposition, but the exposition itself has more than justified the State's generosity. During the year 1915 California has had not only its great international exposition at San Francisco, but the remarkably beautiful exposition at San Diego. I cannot too highly commend the energy and the pluck of the city of San Diego in maintaining as it has an exposition creditable and beneficial alike to that locality and to the State of California.

"The San Diego exposition will continue during the year 1916. In order that it may continue, it asks the passage of the enabling act relating to Balboa Park, and it may be assumed that very readily this will be done.

"In addition, a small measure of aid is asked now from the State; and from the same source as our funds for the San Francisco Normal School are obtained. I should very heartily favor an appropriation of this sort for the San Diego exposition.

"The subjects to which I have referred in this message are the only subjects that are before this extraordinary session of the Legislature. Purposely and designedly have I restricted the call within the narrowest possible limits. I say to you very frankly that I have endeavored by the statement of the matter in relation to the election laws to restrict you to the amendment of the primary law. I have done this after the most careful thought and consultation with those most familiar with the election machinery of the State, and because this amendment immediately dispels a confusion now existing, requires nominations of candidates for State offices by political parties and makes elections partisan in character, while not disturbing other laws in force. If we meet upon a common ground to make nominations and elections in the State partisan and to perform our sworn duty to uphold the laws as they exist, there can be occasion neither for bitter controversy nor long delay. The result, if the design be to make our elections partisan, may be attained in one brief day. Upon important subjects often in one day you have finally acted. Upon this subject, if all that is desired is partisanship in our State elections, and in our State nominations, we may act with celerity and the means are at hand. I would not, of course, suggest undue haste and would ask careful scrutiny and consideration of your legislation, but once it is clear that the object is attained by the amendment suggested, necessity no longer exists for a continuance of the session."

DELEGATES FAVOR VIEW OF WILSON.

PAN-AMERICANS APPROVE MONROE DOCTRINE UTTERANCE.

Unreserved Co-operation of Different Governments of Two Continents Even in Case of War is Advocated by the Cuban Minister at The Hague.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Formal approval of President Wilson's references to the Monroe doctrine and Pan-Americanism was voted today by the international law section of the Pan-American Scientific Congress. A resolution adopted for presentation to the Executive Committee of the congress—the first recorded exposition on the subject which has been uppermost in the minds of many of the delegates since they gathered here ten days ago—characterized the President's utterances as "a true definition of Pan-Americanism."

In its preamble the resolution declared that the words of the President "were of such importance to the relations of the countries of this continent, that we deem it opportune and of unquestioned advantage that the second Pan-American Congress should in some way accord them its approval." Then it resolved:

"The second Pan-American Scientific Congress applauds the declaration made by the Hon. President Wilson in his message of December 7 to Congress, explaining and amplifying the Monroe doctrine, because it regards them as a true definition of Pan-Americanism."

PRESIDENT'S VIEW.

The President in his address proclaimed a duty on the part of the United States to prepare for the defense not only of its own rights, but of those with whom it had made common cause, and spoke of the evolution of the Monroe doctrine into "a full and honorable association of partners between ourselves and our neighbors in the interest of all America, north and south."

Unreserved co-operation of the different governments of the two continents, even in case of war, was advocated frankly by Juan de Dios Garcia Kohly, Cuban Minister at The Hague, in an address before the international law section.

An alliance of American nations to protect their neutral rights during the present war was urged in a paper read by Prof. L. S. Rowe of the University of Pennsylvania.

A suggestion by Secretary of State Lansing to the new institute of international law that it discuss neutrality laws with the idea of securing a clearer definition and greater uniformity, was referred to a committee.

LANSING'S SUGGESTION.

Mr. Lansing said that ordinarily questions of neutrality were defined by the belligerents, but that it appeared desirable and logical that the twenty-one governments of the Americas formulate and agree upon laws instead of waiting for that to be done by belligerents.

Delegates to the institute representing Argentina and Brazil opposed immediate discussion of the subject.

NO KISSES, GIRLS MAD.

They Make Life Miserable for Prof. Roberts of Colby.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WATERVILLE (Me.) Jan. 5. —Being a college professor isn't all that it's cracked up to be, as President A. J. Roberts of Colby College is finding out. Colby is a co-educational institution, and Prexy Roberts is now trying hard to listen to 150 girls at the same time they are stamping their feet and making most determined faces because the intellectual head of the college issued an order that girls must not kiss any one or even attend movie shows. The epidemic of grip is responsible for the remarkable edict. Nothing is said about the 250 masculine students going where they please.

tions) of the large army we now possess having been formed, it is necessary to keep it up to strength in the field by a constant supply of reserves, replenishing the wastage of war. Recently, however, the numbers of voluntary recruits ceased to insure the full provision necessary of trained reserves. Every effort was made by the Earl of Derby's canvass to repair this difficulty, and at the inception of the scheme Premier Asquith, in behalf of the government, gave a pledge in the House of Commons regarding military service for unmarried men. It is now necessary to redeem that pledge in order to maintain the voluntary principle as regards the service of married men in the future.

"So far as we have been able to provide for the large increase in the army and for its maintenance on a purely voluntary system, and I personally have always hoped we should be able to finish the war successfully without changing that system which has done so well, which had given us such splendid material in the field as the soldiers now fighting in the different theaters, I do not consider the change proposed should be regarded in the light of any derogation of the principle of voluntary service in this country. It only affects during the period of the war one class of men among whom there undoubtedly are a certain number who have but a poor conception of their duties as citizens and require some persuasion greater than an appeal to bring them to the colors.

"Whilst there are in the class affected some such shirkers, there no doubt are many whose reasons for not joining will be found valid. I am very far from wishing it thought that all those to whom the new proposals will apply can be described by the term I have used for some. Many of these men have probably conflicting calls upon them and will only be too happy that the government should resolve the doubts which they have been unable to decide for themselves.

"I speak only as a soldier, with a single eye to the successful conduct of the war. I feel sure everyone will agree when I say that the fullest and fairest trial has been given the system which I found in existence, and of which I felt it my duty to make the best use. We are now asking Parliament to sanction a change, as it has been approved that in the special circumstances of this utterly unprecedented struggle the existing system, without modification, is not equal to maintaining the army which is needed to secure victory."

WHAT ASQUITH SAID.

Mr. Asquith opened his address with an analysis of the figures in the Derby report. He emphasized the fact that during the Derby campaign nearly 2,000,000 men had offered their services. Even deducting those rejected on the ground of physical disability, the total was still in excess of 2,500,000.

"They ought to convince both our allies and our enemies that the people of this country have their hearts in the war."

Mr. Asquith said he was unable, after making the largest possible hypothetical deduction, to consider the number of unrecruited single men as anything but a substantial, and even considerable amount. He added that Sir John Simon, whose resignation as Home Secretary was announced yesterday, thought the figures might be reduced to an inestimatable quantity.

If he had shared this view, Mr. Asquith said, the present contingency would not have arisen, but he could not think that. The primary obligation was to keep faith at all costs with the married men.

The Prime Minister said exemptions from service could be claimed under the terms of the bill on the same grounds as in the case of men attested under the Derby plan. The grounds of exemption include conscientious objection to performing military service.

Other grounds for exemption from service, the Premier said, included ill-health, physical infirmity, the necessity to support dependent persons and the fact of being engaged on work of national importance.

The bill, Mr. Asquith continued, was limited specifically to redemption of the promise he had made publicly to married men. This pledge had been given at a time when overwhelming evidence had been submitted to him that married men who were willing and anxious to serve were holding back in large numbers.

They needed to be reassured that, having regard for their circumstances and the business they were carrying on, they could count upon their term of service being postponed until the younger and single men had been called up. If assurance had not been given at that time there would have been danger that the whole recruiting campaign would break down.

"Where, then, should we be now," he asked.

The Premier added that if he were to be confronted with the same situation at the present time he would take precisely the same course. He said he had received no protest against his pledge.

Although he had been a strong supporter of the system of voluntary service, Mr. Asquith declared he was convinced of the necessity of the compulsion bill, which he believed would meet with general approval when its provisions were understood.

The Premier explained that the bill provided that unmarried men or widowers without dependent children, who were between the ages of 18 and 41, and had no ground for exemption, in enlisting under the bill should be deemed to have done their duty to the state just as though they had attested under the Derby plan. They would be deemed as having enlisted for the period of the war. The act would come into force fourteen days after receiving royal assent and twenty-one days after that time would be allowed for the new enlistments. Territorials enlisted for home service come under the bill.

Speaking of the exemption of men who have conscientious objections to military service Mr. Asquith pointed out that similar exemption had been made by Pitt in favor of the Quakers, and said the circumstances under which it might be claimed had been shaped carefully.

Considering the compulsion bill in the light of the general effect, Mr. Asquith said he would have been glad to do without it. He had expressed the expectation that the bill would not be necessary, but his hope had not been realized. He considered that the bill was necessary and was sanguine enough to believe that when its provisions were understood it would have the good fortune to receive something like general assent.

The Premier still hoped compulsion contemplated by the bill would become a dead letter, saying: "Let the men come in now of their own free will. The military authorities will allow them to attest under the group system, which will be reopened."

Sir Edward Grey's Suggestion Refused by America.

Germany Threatens Reprisals Unless England Acts.

Charges Made by Berlin are Denied by London.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—It was authoritatively stated tonight that the United States government would not agree to the suggestion by Sir Edward Grey to Germany that a board of American naval officers investigate belligerent charges and countercharges of inhumane conduct by naval officers.

Ambassador Page, at London, through whom Sir Edward's communication was forwarded to Washington, probably will await an expression of the German government concerning the attitude before bringing the matter to the attention of the State Department here.

GREY'S SUGGESTION.

LONDON, Jan. 4 (Delayed.)—Following the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by the destruction of a British steamer by a German destroyer on the Dutch coast and the submarine attack on the British steamer Rustchuk, which incidents that Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary, has decided for submission to some impartial tribunal for investigation together with the case of the cruiser Baralong.

Sir Edward Grey makes no secret of the fact that the facts regarding the sinking of the German submarine are considered as alleged in the admiralty statement that six Americans, mulcteers on the Baralong, were murdered in cold blood.

These charges first publicly raised the American flag when it was learned that she was a Nicosian steamer coming to rescue the Nicosian survivors. The Baralong, it is alleged, was lurking behind the submarine's base and opened fire, continuing firing on the submarine's crew after they were in the water, and even killed those who later were picked up aboard the Nicosian. It is charged that the British officers gave definite orders to take no prisoners.

"By reason of this evidence, which includes the German note, there can be no doubt that Commander [illegible] of the Baralong gave his crew to understand not to make prisoners of the helpless, unarmed, German submarine crew, but to kill them in a wholesale manner also that his crew shared in the murder and thus shared the guilt of the murder.

"The German government has demanded of the British government that the guilty be punished and to take it for granted that the latter, when they have examined the facts in the case and the evidence, will immediately take proceedings against the commander of the Baralong and the crew responsible for the murder and will punish them according to the laws of war. We await in a very short time a communication from the British government stating that they have instituted proceedings against the participation of this shocking crime. Afterwards they await information as to the result of the proceedings, which should be hastened as much as possible in order that they may be able to satisfy themselves that the deed has been punished by sentence of adequate severity. Should they not be able to point in this expectation they will consider themselves obliged to take serious decisions as to reprisals for the unpunished crime."

OFFICIAL BELIEF.

The belief is expressed in official circles here that the next step in the Baralong controversy will be a demand by Germany, which is expected to take the form of the shooting of a number of English officers and civilian prisoners, equaling the number of German submarine officers and men who, when the submarine was sunk by the Baralong.

There is little hope expressed that Germany will meet Sir Edward Grey's suggestion for a neutral board to consider the Baralong case in conjunction with the charges against German submarines. It is stated that if the controversy is carried further, Great Britain will only will take the stand that the davits of the mulcteers were sufficient and unreliable evidence concerning the charges made.

"It is axiomatic with Germany that all the practices of her submarine campaign are 'honorable' and the world will now find it a difficult matter to find that the government hundreds of women and children to their death by the British naval officers is loudly denied by its enemies, observers in the 'humanity and justice,'" says the Manchester Guardian, in commenting on the Baralong case.

THE POPULAR VIEW.

The popular view of the Baralong incident is reflected in an editorial in the Evening Standard, which says:

"Assuming the truth of the charges, the officers of the Baralong have acted richly deserved punishment for lawlessness and inhumanity. There is no need for the smallest [illegible] either to enemy or neutral governments.

"At the same time the [illegible] is disinclined to [illegible] corroboration what is reported as contradictory evidence."

BUSINESS GAINS OVER COUNTRY.

Unusual Activity Reported by Federal Reserve Banks.

Boston Trade is Better than for Many Months Past.

Railroads Placing Large Orders for New Equipment.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Continued business improvement over the country generally is reflected in monthly reports from the twelve Federal reserve districts, made public today by the Federal Reserve Board. Improvement in the Boston district was continued with "renewed vigor," and the report from that district the upward trend now has spread and business in general is "better than it has been for a long time." Trade in the New York district was reported as unusually active. Loans of banks in the New York Clearing-house increased $146,041,000 between December 1 and January 1, deposits increased $124,234,000 and excess reserves decreased $27,357,000.

Philadelphia reported general business conditions in the district still progressing with banks declaring the outlook most promising. Factories are running full time. Railroads have given large orders for cars, locomotives and other supplies.

Requirements of steel buyers in the Cleveland district were reported as not enough to assure that the entire year's output would be taken care of.

The lumber business was said to be almost normal again.

Trade in almost all lines in the Richmond district has been satisfactory in the past month with no retrogression from the advances of October and November.

GENERAL ACTIVITY.

General activity and expansion in all lines was reported from the Atlanta district. Tennessee reports show a continued sluggishness in the cotton market, attributed to scarcity of ships and high rates.

Chicago reported general improvement in business and manufacturing. Prospects throughout the St. Louis district were declared to be excellent in virtually every industry.

The outlook for 1916 in the Minneapolis district was reported as excellent with all lines of business optimistic. The lumber trade continues to revive and again is approaching normal.

Kansas City reported that probably at no time in the history of the district has wholesale trade been so active and satisfactory. Railroads in this district are using practically all their full rolling motive equipment. Lumber and oil industries are unusually active in the Dallas district, with increased prices that give promise of permanency.

Leading railroads in the San Francisco district report record earnings, with shippers buying ties freely, with a good demand on the lumber business. The loss of ships at ports of the district has been aggravated by the closing of the Panama Canal.

DUCES RISKS OF TRAVELERS.

ASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Two resolutions intended to reduce the risks to Americans traveling on the seas were introduced today by Senator Gore, Democrat. One would prohibit issue of passports for travel on ships of belligerent nations, and the other would restrict carrying of passengers on ships with munitions of war.

BRITH RELIEF DAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Wilson was asked to set aside a day for Jewish relief day on which contributions should be raised for suffering Jews in the war zone, in a resolution introduced today by Senator Hughes of New Jersey. The resolution says 1,000,000 Jews were in a desperate condition in Europe.

At the request of Chairman Stone of the Foreign Relations Committee the resolution was laid over until tomorrow.

TO DISCUSS COMMERCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Secretary Redfield today invited commerce secretaries of Chambers of Commerce in all the larger towns of the United States to come to Washington February 4 for a two days' meeting. His aim is to give them a better idea of what the department is doing to further American commerce.

The conference will be informal and only secretaries in places of more than 184,000 population will take part. Lack of facilities, it is alleged, prevented extension of the invitation to secretaries in smaller cities.

BOARD PLAYGROUNDS.

Bill Offered in the House to Incorporate Association.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A bill to incorporate the Playground and Recreation Association of America, which, headed by Joseph Lee of Boston as president, annually raises and spends $100,000, was introduced today by Representative Gardner of Massachusetts. The purpose is to give the organization a nation-wide scope.

REINTRODUCES COTTON BILL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Representative Lever of South Carolina, author of the cotton futures law recently declared unconstitutional by the Federal District Court of New York because the measure originated in the Senate, today introduced an identical bill in the House.

FORD FOR PRESIDENT,

LANSING (Mich.) Jan. 5.—The name of Henry Ford, who recently returned from his European peace mission, has been placed on the Republican Presidential primary ballot in Michigan this spring. Enough petitions to make possible Mr. Ford's candidacy for president were filed with the Secretary of State this afternoon.

Export of Munitions.

"I am willing to go further back," said Senator Works. "From the beginning I have been opposed to the citizens of this country being allowed to ship ammunition to this war. In particular I objected to the shipment of munitions to the allies after the ports of Germany had been blockaded by Great Britain." He said to continue to ship munitions of war to England after Germany was no longer able to buy, made us a party to the war. "We are not neutral," he declared, "although we hypocritically claim to be neutral."

FROM THE DEBATE.

Senator Reed: I will ask the Senator from California if the first loan to be floated in this country was not $25,000,000 for Germany and if the first munitions to be purchased were not purchased by Germany.

"Oh, Mr. President," replied Senator Works cuttingly, "I do not doubt that the citizens who have been making fortunes by selling ammunition to England would also have been glad to sell to Germany."

Senator Reed: Does the Senator contend that it is against the law for us to sell munitions to the allies?

Senator Works: I haven't said so.

Senator Reed: Then your objection is that these munitions enable them to kill each other?

Senator Works: There are many objections; that is the principal one.

Senator Reed: On the same ground you object to selling the allies cannon, rifles, clothing, shoes, horses, mules, or anything?

Senator Works: That is my position exactly.

Senator Reed turned to the Senate and made a short dramatic speech, in which he declared that such a position taken by the United States government would have brought to this country a dreadful commercial disaster.

Senator Reed comes from Missouri, where they sell mules for wars, and the climax of his speech was the agonized cry: "It would reduce the value of every horse and mule 50 per cent."

Senator Works stood icy and calm under this assault, and, when Senator Reed was through, said coldly: "The difference between the Senator from Missouri and myself is that I value human life above—" he hesitated a second as though he were about to say mules, but changed his mind, and added: "above property."

THE TORY OUTBURST.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, a Tory of the Tories, burst into the fray. He seemed to be in a state of emotion. He snapped at those who interrupted him and was testy and savage. He said to place an embargo on arms being shipped to England would be a gross violation of neutrality. "It would change," he said, "the conditions created by the war. If we undertake to stop the shipment of arms to England we become an ally of Germany."

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska broke in, asking Senator Lodge if Sweden, Norway and Holland had been guilty of a violation of neutrality when they placed an embargo on the shipment of munitions and provisions.

"No," snapped Senator Lodge, "everybody knows that the embargo of those countries applied to all parties."

"And everybody knows," retorted Senator Hitchcock, "that the shipment of these supplies was all going by land to Germany. There is no way for these countries to ship to the allies. Germany was the beneficiary and was deprived of an enormous advantage when England compelled these countries to put on this embargo."

"The question is too clear; it's not worth discussing," snapped Senator Lodge, growing more agitated all the time. "If we were to place an embargo on the shipment of arms we would be doing an act just as unneutral as when Germany shut down the ammunition factories of Liege."

Senator O'Gorman stood up and, in his rich voice, asked a question that rang through the Senate like a menace. "Does the Senator admit," he asked, "that we would be entitled legally to place an embargo on arms if the country to which we are sending them were to disregard our rights?"

"Of course, if we wanted to," said Senator Lodge.

But before any one could say anything else, Senator Stone got up again and said nervously: "I think we had all better go into executive session. I haven't made any objection up to this time. But they all seemed to agree on the historical facts, and we all see how they are lined up." This practical demand from the head of the Committee on Foreign Relations could not, of course, be disregarded and the public filed out of the chamber.

Valid.

TO GIVE PATENTS FOR OIL LEASES.

HONOLULU COMPANY WINS TITLE TO VALUABLE PROPERTIES.

General Land Office Sustains the Good Faith of Claimants and Holders in the California Field are Elated at the Prospect of Defeating the Withdrawal Order.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Claims of the Honolulu Oil Company to more than two thousand acres of California oil lands, valued at millions and withdrawn from entry by executive order in 1909 have been found to be valid by the General Land Office. Patents probably will be granted, if certain formal requirements are met, it was said today.

The lands involved comprise twelve quarter sections of a seventeen quarter-section tract in a vast area withdrawn for naval reserve purposes. Charges made by the Land Office that four quarter sections were filed by dummy locators will be heard at a hearing in California.

The decision is regarded as of far-reaching importance because it holds that every oil operator who in good faith was in occupancy of oil lands at the date of the withdrawal and was overtaken in the diligent prosecution of work leading to the discovery of oil or gas and continued such work until discovery, regardless of the Taft withdrawal act, is protected in his rights.

It sets forth that work done outside the physical boundaries of an oil claim, which is plainly intended to benefit such claim, is "the work" required by the Pidket law to make the claim valid. It further decides that belligerent prosecution of work is not to be narrowly construed as actual drilling for oil, but may be any work which is plainly necessary to develop the claim.

The decision was made by Commissioner Talman of the General Land Office with the approval of Secretary Lane.

PATENTS TO BE GRANTED.

VISALIA (Cal.) Jan. 5.—Patents to two valuable claims in the Kern county Midway oil fields will be granted to the Honolulu Oil Company, it was learned today by the United States Land Office. Additional proofs were asked on claims covered by about fifteen other applications filed with the local Land Office here several months ago. Officials would not state which claims would be approved.

The Honolulu Oil Company already controls a number of claims in Kern county. Capt. William Matson of San Francisco, president of the Matson Navigation Company, is president of the oil company and the controlling factor.

OIL MEN ELATED.

BAKERSFIELD (Cal.) Jan 5. — Bringing great comfort to the claimants of 20,000 acres of oil land in the Midway field included in a withdrawal order of former President Taft is the confirmation here today of the news that the General Land Department at Washington has clear-listed seventeen quarter sections of such land, located and developed by the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company. Patents are to issue for these lands as soon as addition abstracts are made and owners of other developed lands consider the decision a precedent that will govern in determining applications that involve many sections of developed property in the heart of the proven field and patents for which are withheld owing to the Taft withdrawal order.

The order in question made in September, 1909, and reaffirmed in 1910, withdrew from entry many thousands of oil lands.

The Honolulu began development in the spring of 1910 and its position was less favorable than many companies which developed their properties prior to the withdrawal order.

Based on the present decision, oil men believe that patents will now issue wherever good faith has been shown by the locators.

"GOOD FAITH" SUSTAINED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Land applications of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company, on file at the Visalia Land Office, cover claims on 2720 acres of oil land in the Midway field.

Federal officials here in touch with the situation said it was their understanding that the Washington Land Office had sustained the "good faith" of all the claims. Officers of the oil company confirmed this.

The company owns 800 acres of oil land in the county and leases 160 acres of patented land, all of which produce about 6000 barrels of oil a day. The company also supplies 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily to a distributing company.

ROOSEVELT IS CENSURED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Charges circulated during the last session of Congress that administration officials acted in the interest of foreign business firms in urging the passage of the government ship-purchase bill were held to be baseless in majority and minority reports filed today by the Senate committee appointed to investigate them. Both reports also found the shipping interests blameless of illegal activity in opposition to the measure.

The majority denounced Theodore Roosevelt for failing to appear before the committee to testify concerning his published assertion that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan "had endeavored in the interest of certain foreign business firms to secure for the United States the power to purchase the interned ships of one of the belligerents."

The charge, the report said, had its origin "in that ungenerous trait of the human mind which makes it prone to attribute unworthy motives to redoubtable rivals and particularly political antagonists."

"The writer," added the report, "whose eminence was naturally calculated to give weight to his utterances, finding himself without any basis, even of a hearsay character, for his slanderous attack upon the highest officer of his government, simply resorted to a palpable sophistry to escape the responsibility for the assertion he had made."

While the committee found no evidence to indicate that the President or Secretary harbored any purpose to buy interned ships, the majority held that it was not difficult to conceive of reasons consistent with the most exalted motives that might induce the President to refrain from a public declaration that belligerents' ships would not be bought.

"Such an action," said the report, "would rightly be construed as an abandonment of our rights, which our nation has vigorously maintained, to acquire merchant ships by bona-fide purchase, though a state of war exists involving the nation under whose flag they previously sailed."

Senator Sutherland presented the minority report for himself and Senator Penrose. "We do not concur," it said, "in so far as the report defends the bill itself nor in so far as it insists there would be no impropriety in the purchase of the belligerents' idle ships. We believe the bill a thoroughly bad piece of legislation and are certain that to have purchased the boats now seeking security in American harbors would have developed serious trouble for the United States."

The committee's investigation was authorized by a resolution offered by Secretary Burton and an amendment by Senator Williams directing the inquiry as to whether the so-called shipping trust had maintained a lobby against the bill.

ONE GOOD NAVY HARBOR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—There is only one thoroughly dependable deep-water naval station in the United States, according to Rear-Admiral Stanford, head of the bureau of yards and docks, who testified today before the House Naval Committee, and that station is the Puget Sound navy yard.

The biggest battleships, Admiral Stanford said, found no difficulty in entering the Puget Sound yard.

"On the other hand, I regard the situation at the New York navy yard as rather serious," he said. "The basin there was dredged to a depth of thirty feet at mean low tide. Extreme low tide makes the basin only twenty-six and one-half feet. The big battleships require thirty feet. Each year sedimentation to the depth of a foot takes place in the basin and annual dredging is required."

Difficulties were encountered at times in entering the Philadelphia and Charleston yards, he said, and the channel at Norfolk needed widening. He promised to give more details at tomorrow's hearing.

Sixty-fourth Congress.

A KIEL CANAL FOR UNCLE SAM.

Inside Waterway from Cape Cod to Washington.

Would be of Inestimable Value in Time of War.

Bill to Build Such a Route Offered in the House.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—A remarkable project to build an inside route where in time of war the United States can send its warships along the coast under conditions like that of Germany's use of the Kiel Canal was introduced into the House today by Representative Miller of Delaware. The route begins at Cape Cod and ends at Washington.

"At this particular time," said Representative Miller, "the project of an inland waterway extending from Boston to the entrance of Chesapeake Bay is attracting more than usual attention because of its bearing on the question of national defense which can be said to be the livest issue before the present Congress. The inland waterways scheme includes the Cape Cod Canal, which has been dug; the enlarging of the channel through Hell Gate between New York City and Long Island, the deepening and widening of the Delaware and Raritan Canal connecting New York Bay with the Delaware River and the deepening and widening of the Chesapeake Canal, which connects the Delaware and Chesapeake Bays.

ARTERY OF COMMERCE.

"The acquirement of the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal by the government has been advocated for years because the canal, while an artificial inland waterway, is a real artery of commerce. The arguments as far as commerce is concerned are just as good now as they were years ago and they should have prevailed upon Congress to give favorable consideration to the project. Adding to the reasons already advanced from a commercial standpoint we have those to consider at the present day which bear upon the subject of national defense. The Delaware and Chesapeake Canal is a vital link in the chain of inland waterways extending from Massachusetts Bay to the Virginia capes. The situation presented is analogous to that of the Kiel Canal, which connects the North Sea with the Baltic Sea, and which Germany built with great foresight. By this canal the Germany navy is rendered twice as effective because one fleet can defend the German coast line where it would require two if the Kiel Canal had never been built. Present events obviate further comment on the Kiel Canal and the lesson it presents to the people of this country. If the inland waterways extending from Boston to the Virginia capes are completed it will be possible for a fleet of our battleships to defend, without taking to the open seas, the most important stretch of coast line we possess."

DROPS GASOLINE INQUIRY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Investigation of the rise in the price of gasoline will be left to the Federal Trade Commission and not undertaken at the present time by the Department of Justice. Officials pointed out today that the Department of Justice has no power to examine witnesses under oath unless it has brought suit. The Trade Commission has such power and already has an investigation under way.

The Senate adopted today without debate a resolution by Senator McCumber calling upon the Secretary of the Interior for all information in his possession concerning the recent increase in the price of gasoline and a complete report on production and consumption of gasoline in the United States.

An amendment by Senator Walsh calling for a report on the amount of oil land that is unproductive and undeveloped as a result of restrictive laws also was adopted.

Situation in Mexico to be Taken up with Gen. Carranza.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Strikes among Mexicans employed in foreign-owned mines, said to have been fomented by labor agitators and which threaten to extend to cotton mills and other industries just recovering from the effects of the revolution, probably will be made the subject of diplomatic correspondence by the United States with the Carranza government.

NEARLY HALF-BILLION OF GOLD IMPORTED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Gold imported into the United States between January 1 and December 24, in 1915, amounted to $435,875,000, and exports of the metal during the same period were only $26,825,000, the Federal Reserve Board announced today. Of this amount imported about $213,000,000 was in foreign coin, about $155,000,000 in coin of the United States and about $44,000,000 in bullion. About $280,000,000 of it came through the Port of New York or through Canada and then into the United States. San Francisco, however, received importations of about $66,000,000.

ARCHIVES IN DANGER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Fire early tonight caused minor damage in the basement of the great building that houses the State, War and Navy departments. The loss, practically confined to odds and ends, stored in the basement by the building janitor force, was estimated at about $2000.

Stories of incendiarism were circulated, but officials said after investigation spontaneous combustion generated in a pile of old rags started the blaze.

Valuable diplomatic documents, military records and other priceless papers, including the original copies of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, are stored in the building. It is separated from the White House by only a narrow street.

MILLION FOR HARBOR DAM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—Representative Stephens introduced bills today calling for appropriations for the proposed dam from Dominguez to Cerritos, whereby the silt is to be kept out of San Pedro. The various items are $130,350 to dredge the channel connecting Long Beach and San Pedro harbors and $1,080,000 for the dam.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Investigation by a special Senate Committee into the freight embargo on trunk lines leading into New York city, alleged excessive ocean freight rates, alleged discriminations against certain shippers and the ocean shipping situation generally was proposed in a resolution today by Senator Walsh of Montana. Action on the resolution was deferred until tomorrow.

TELLS WHY JAP FLEET MOBILIZED AT TURTLE BAY.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—An explanation or at least a theory for the mobilization of the battleships of Japan just south of our western coast last summer was given by Senator James D. Phelan of California today in the course of a visit with a newspaper man.

"When Japan made her demands upon China she expected a protest from the United States. Her foresight was proven by the fact that we did protest and further by the fact that at the very time of our protest Japan was in a position to make our protest look silly.

"The position I refer to was Turtle Bay. She had a fleet mobilized there that was large enough to make an instant demonstration against any note writing or diplomatic protests that we might make. Those ships were there for that purpose, I sincerely believe. They were there with guns and ammunition enough to carry out their purpose.

"The only reason that the Japanese fleet was not called upon to make its demonstration with the intention of forcing our acquiescence to the demands upon China was because other world powers made similar protests to Japan at the same time with the result that there would have been more than one to deal with."

BUYS CALIFORNIA BONDS.

Portland Bank Pays Premium for Good Roads Paper.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 5.—Two issues of California highway bonds aggregating $30,000 were bought today by the Lumbermen's Trust Company of Portland. For Kern county's $500,000 bonds, bearing 5 per cent. annual interest and redeemable serially from 1919 to 1938, a premium of 7.31 per cent. plus accrued interest was paid. Issue of $300,000 of Santa Barbara county bonds, drawing 5 per cent. interest and due serially in six to twenty-five years, with average maturity at fifteen and one-half years, brought 108.08 and accrued interest. At the price paid for Santa Barbara county road bonds they will yield an income of 4.26 per cent. for the average period of the investment.

A HUGE NAVY IS DEMANDED.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY AMERICAN DEFENSE SOCIETY.

An Army of Two Million Men is also Needed, it is Said, to Meet the National Emergency that will Arise Within the Next Twelve Months.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Resolutions calling for military preparedness to meet a national emergency which will arise "within the next twelve or thirteen months" were passed today at the first meeting of the advisory board of the American Defense Society. The meeting was attended by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, his cousin, Phillip Roosevelt; Hudson Maxim, David Jayne Hill and other well-known advocates of preparedness.

The first resolution adopted calls for the immediate construction of forty-eight dreadnaughts, with the necessary complementary smaller craft. A second resolution demands a standing army of 200,000 men, to be supported by a citizen soldiery whose service would be obligatory.

Col. Roosevelt refused to make any comment, saying that the meeting was entirely private.

Following is the text of the resolutions adopted:

"We must have a strong navy fully manned — forty-eight dreadnaughts and battle cruisers. The necessary number of scouts, destroyers and seagoing submarines should balance this capital fleet; also auxiliaries, colliers, repair ships, tenders, etc. This navy should be prepared immediately.

"We must have a standing army of 200,000 men and 45,000 officers, backed by a national force of universal and obligatory-trained citizens in arm. This body should be of no less strength than 2,000,000 men, fully equipped and with a large reserve supply of ammunition.

"This will be America's insurance against war, against invasion, against a foreign flag over Washington—a force of defense which makes the Monroe doctrine a living fact."

STEEL WORKERS STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Seven hundred and fifty men employed at the plant of the Crucible Steel Company of America at Jersey City, struck today, according to strike leaders. The men ask a wage advance of 15 per cent. Strikers said the mill has been working on war material.

WIDNEY AGAIN UNDER ARREST.

Los Angeles Man Accused of Selling Counterfeit Money.

Two San Francisco Brokers are also Involved.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—Charged with having attempted to sell J. M. Arriola $1,000,000 worth of counterfeit treasury notes of the government of Mexico for $35,000 in United States money, three well known realty and mining brokers were arrested today by Federal Secret Service operatives and detectives of the San Francisco police department. They are:

Robert J. Widney, son of former Superior Judge R. M. Widney of Los Angeles and the man who gained notoriety in this city three years ago when he was shot and dangerously wounded by Mrs. Vivien Lyons; Philip Thom and Walter S. Williams, both of whom according to Chief Secret Service Operative Harry M. Moffitt, have their headquarters at the office of R. L. Colburn, the mining broker.

PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT.

The arrest took place in a room in the Palace Hotel, exactly at the moment when the sale was alleged to have been made.

Arriola, who was to have been the victim, is a secret service agent of the Carranza government. With the aid of Moffitt and the local police he set the trap, and just as the money was to be passed sprung it himself by prearranged signal.

Preliminary arrangements were made, officials state, for Arriola and Widney to meet in a room in the hotel. At this meeting the understanding was, they allege, that Arriola was to make the first purchase of $100,000 worth of ten and twenty peso bills at 3½ cents on the dollar, the remainder of the million-dollar purchase, at the same rate, to be made at a later date.

VOLCANO BURSTS OVER FANUALEL

ERUPTION WITNESSED BY CAPTAINS OF STEAMERS.

Ashes and Pumice are Showered on the Valleys of the Little Friendly Island and Cover the Ocean for Miles Around with a Gray and Yellow Coating.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Eruption of Fanualel, a long dormant volcanic island of the Friendly group, 2550 miles southeast of Honolulu, T. H., was reported today to the United States hydrographic office by Capt. G. H. Dawson of the steamer Ventura, and Capt. J. H. Trask of the steamer Sonoma, who arrived here recently from South Pacific waters.

Capt. Dawson reported that he saw the volcano in eruption sending up smoke, ashes and pumice early in December. He brought pieces of pumice cast on his ship. Both Capt. Dawson and Capt. Trask reported that the sea for miles around them was covered with gray and yellow ashes and pumice as early as November 10, 1915, when they passed the island at a distance.

Fanualel is about a mile and a quarter long and a mile wide, consisting of a fertile, well tilled valley, forming the crater of the volcano, surrounded by a rim of mountains. In 1347 the volcano erupted violently, devastated the cultivated land and killed many inhabitants. Since then no one has been permitted to live on the island but cultivation of the valley has been continued.

WAS SHERMAN'S SWEETHEART.

MONTEREY (Cal.) Jan. 5.—Senorita Maria Ygnacia Bonefacia, resident of the famous Sherman Rose Cottage here, passed away this morning after a brief illness, aged 86 years. With her demise there departed the last living remnant of one of Monterey's most dearly-cherished traditions.

It was during the Mexican War that Gen. William T. Sherman visited this section and made the acquaintance of the lady. He planted a rose tree in her yard, which has since assumed huge proportions, and promised to return later to wed her. Sherman did return later for a sojourn at Del Monte, but did not fulfill his promise. Relatives of the deceased claimed today that she passed away with the firm belief that Sherman was still alive.

Senorita Bonefacia's home is in the heart of the city and is the object of interested gaze from thousands of visitors annually. She was born in this city and has always resided here.

CARRANZA INSISTS ON MINING TAX.

DECLARES STEP IS NECESSARY TO PREVENT MONOPOLIES.

Gen. Villa with Five Hundred Men is Located Southwest of Casas Grandes—Huerta is Reported as Much Improved and is Able to Leave His Bed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Jan. 5.—Negotiations of representatives of the International Mining Association with Mexican de facto government officials for annulment of the decree of March 1, 1915, which places income taxes on mines and their output, have been without result, according to advices from Mexico City today.

The mining men contend that the decreed taxes are prohibitive and say that nearly all the 440,000 mining claims in Mexico will be compelled to discontinue operation under their terms.

Gen. Carranza, according to reports, contends the decree, by fixing a graduated tax on holdings of more than ten claims, tends to discourage monopolies, and is similar to the operation of the income tax in the United States.

Edward Farley and J. J. Hurley, employees of a mining concession near Minaca, Western Chihuahua, arrived at the border tonight. The men said they had been held prisoners and the mining camp looted by bandits.

Mining men who arrived at Juarez today from the South reported that the El Potosi Mining Company properties at Yoquivo and Cienegas were looted and two men taken away and held for ransom by armed bands. Charles Qualey, general manager of the company here, reported the matter to the United States authorities and to the Mexican de facto authorities.

CREW OF CHINA UNDER CHARGE

Inability to Understand English Alleged by Union

Customs Officials Board to Investigate the Matter

Committee Named to Examine Orientals on the Line

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Customs officials went aboard the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer China today to investigate charges that the crew did not comply with the new seamen's act which requires that 75 per cent. be able to understand all orders given by officers in their native languages. Representatives of three unions filed affidavits supporting the charges.

A protest against the method of examining the vessel's Chinese crew was made recently to Capt. Jas. Guthrie, the government inspecting officer, by a representative of the Officers' Union of the Pacific. It was alleged that Capt. Guthrie put the examining questions to the Chinese sailors in English and that they were illiterated their answers.

The affidavits submitted to the customs officials were presented by Paul Scharrenberg for the Sailors' Union, Eugene Seidl for the Marine Firemen and Stewards' Union, and Joseph Fiyan for the Marine Firemen's Union.

Justus Wardell, surveyor of customs, and Capt. W. E. Reynolds of the United States coast guard, were designated to examine the crew.

CALIFORNIA'S MINE WEALTH IS INCREASED TWO MILLIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—California's mineral products in 1915 were valued at $95,211,000, an increase of about $2,000,000 over 1914, according to a report of the State Bureau of Mining, issued today. Zinc production jumped from $30,381 in 1914 to more than $1,500,000 last year. Petroleum, on the contrary, decreased from about $47,000,000 to $40,000,000. Higher prices for gold, silver, copper, lead, tungsten, manganese, magnesite and antimony made up the petroleum deficiency. The production of quicksilver was the same last year and the year before, but the price practically doubled. The estimate of production for the present year was about the same as for 1915.

GILDAY IS PLEASED.

TRINIDAD (Colo.) Jan. 5.—General conditions in the coal camps of Southern Colorado were the subject of favorable comment by Patrick J. Gilday, a member of the Federal commission investigating the industrial situation in the Colorado coal fields, in a statement here today.

Mr. Gilday, accompanied by Seth Low of New York, chairman of the commission, has spent two days in visiting coal camps in Las Animas and Huerfano counties.

Mr. Gilday said:

"Conditions from a general standpoint are as good, I may even say better, than in Pennsylvania, and other eastern districts. I cannot say as to the equipment of the mines of this section as compared with Pennsylvania. Most of the mines we have visited, however, are well equipped. The conditions brought about by the Rockefeller industrial plan appear to be highly satisfactory, but I do not think they will answer fully the demands that have been set forth by the United Mine Workers.

"I believe that Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was sincere when he came to Colorado. There are some who believe that his trip to this State was a grand stand play, but I don't. I think he played the part of a man and I feel that his trip and the things he saw here will result in material improvement of conditions generally."

Charles W. Mills, a member of the commission, joined Low and Gilday here today. The members plan to leave for Denver tonight.

NORTHER GRIPS MIDDLE WEST.

Quick Freeze Stops Flood in Mississippi Valley.

Heavy Travel to California Expected by Railways.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—Fully equipped with "teeth," a typical Canadian cold wave swept down upon the Middle West today and is spreading in all directions and increasing in intensity tonight. As showing that the Canadian visitor means business, and is working rapidly, Chicago's maximum temperature at 7 o'clock this morning was 32 deg. above zero. At that hour it began dropping and at 8 o'clock tonight was 10 above, and will probably fall to zero. This snows a drop of nearly 50 deg. in twenty-four hours. Predictions are that the cold will increase tomorrow, probably reaching the zero mark. It is being driven by a high, cutting wind.

Chicago is but one spot in a wide area affected by the sudden blast of Old Boreas. The norther has been unleashed over a wide area and the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, the lakes region and all the territory east of the Rocky Mountains, will get a hard touch of winter. Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, upper Wisconsin and Minnesota already show from 12 to 36 deg. below zero.

Inasmuch as a forty-two mile wind is coursing over all this country, it can be seen that the zero weather will be distributed over a wide territory before morning. Saskatchewan reports 38 below zero and expects to show near the 60 mark by morning. In some districts the cold wave is accompanied by a blizzard. In the Minnesota iron ranges the temperature is 38 below, with hard-driven snow.

The cold wave will not be totally unwelcome in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, however, as it will serve to check the floods which are already menacing a vast territory. The Mississippi has already submerged thousands of acres in Arkansas and Mississippi, and the Ohio River has reached an alarming stage at Cairo, Ill. Sudden cold weather will diminish this peril. Eastern States will not feel the effect of the invasion much before Thursday night. Average temperatures in the East ranged around 56 above. Down the southeastern Atlantic Coast, particularly Florida, a temperature of 76 was reported, but the intense cold weather in the north is invariably followed by cold rains in the gulf coast country. Northern tourists will get a strong touch of home weather by Friday.

Weather forecasters said the cold wave would continue several days and will be more intense and spread over much more territory tomorrow.

There was a rush today and this evening to charter reservations to California and passenger agents say one result of the fierce onslaught of winter will be western trains running in two and three sections.

Our Directors Say:—

"Sell the Houses"

Every House at the Price Is a Bargain
And We Are Making Terms to Suit

Every House Must Be Sold

Some time ago this company built hundreds of houses. Unusual conditions restricted sales, and as a result we still have a number of splendid new houses and a few used ones, which we are ordered to sell at once.

We Need the Money to Develop Other Properties

Never in the history of Los Angeles were better values in good houses offered than we are offering right now, and to honest, industrious people we are making terms to suit.

Our houses are artistic and homelike in design. They possess the little nooks and conveniences that please the housewife—they are real homes.

But don't judge the quality of our houses by the low prices—prices are low, but the houses are not cheap. They represent the very best construction and first-grade material.

Read the Description of One of Our "Clean-Up" Bargains:

New story and half bungalow—seven large rooms, one arranged as sleeping porch. Clean up price $3550, a great deal less under normal selling figures.

East front 50-foot lot—wide lawns and parkings on street, trees planted, sewers in, water, gas, electricity, both phones, cement walks and curbs. Street work all done. Just a few steps from Grand Ave. cars, a block from big school and two blocks from church and stores.

Lower floor has kitchen, living, dining and one bedroom. Extra toilet and broom closet and tubs on screened back porch. Upper floor has two large bedrooms, screened sleeping porch, large bathroom.

House has hardwood floors and all the built-in features that save labor, make the home more convenient and saves the buying of considerable furniture necessary in an ordinary house.

$3550 buys this magnificent home on rent terms. Small cash payment as matter of good faith, $30 a month for the balance is all you pay.

A Word to You, Mr. Renter!

Why don't you use your rent money, get in on this "clean-up" sale and buy a home while prices are the lowest possible and terms are like rent?

The prices of houses all over the city are going to advance very quickly and you will miss your opportunity if you don't buy now. Two weeks ago lumber advanced $3.00 a thousand, last week redwood lumber went up $2.00 more. Doors, windows, sash and builders' hardware have greatly advanced, and it is predicted by lumber merchants that further advances will follow.

The houses of this company are absolutely clear and we issue certificate of title with each sale.

Telephone our Bungalow Department now and make an appointment. A representative will call in his automobile and show you the property.

Classified Liners.

AGATE TYPE ONLY.

Accepted subject to the following rates and rules:
Rates: The rate for inserting Want Ads in the Daily Times is 1c per word each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word each insertion; not less than ten words accepted for any insertion; and to each non-consecutive insertion, 25c; except where the following classifications, the rate for which is 5c per word daily, 2½c per word Sunday, minimum charge, applicable to a single insertion 25c; and to each non-consecutive insertion, 50c daily; "Personal," "Society Meetings," "Personals—Special Notices," "Church Notices," "Miscellaneous," "Stocks and Bonds," "Money to Loan, Salary and Chattels," "Physicians," "Medical," "Dentistry," "Sanatoriums" and "Baths and Massage."

An extra charge of 25 per cent. is made for the use of capital letters.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

White spaces and dashes are charged for on the basis of 10 words to a line.

Ads set solid are counted strictly by the word. Ads in paragraphed or lined-up matter set in caps, 7 words to a line; figures, decimals or initials, each set in caps, estimate five (5) average words to the first line and eight (8) average words to each line thereafter. In this kind of advertising the actual number of words set solid is counted, and eight (8) words added for each omitted line.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which slightly reduce the value of an advertisement, will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, on presentation of receipt within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the value of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items not printed, or for any error in any such item or in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment for "Liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Telephoned orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order of their receipt, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of dispute no charge for advertising will be rebated unless the stop order number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be received before 5 o'clock Friday night. Other classified "Wants," "For Sale," etc., received over counter or by telephone until 11 a.m. Saturday. Ads received after closing hours for each division will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify." Rate, 1½c cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 200,000 copies and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times," Main 8200, Home 10091, any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention.

"BE QUICK TO KICK IF THINGS SEEM WRONG. BUT KICK TO US AND MAKE IT STRONG."

HEADACHES
Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best Doctor is often unable to find the cause of many of these headaches, and in most other cases, knowing the cause, he does not know what will remove it, so as to give a permanent cure. All he can do is to prescribe the usual pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, no matter what their nature, take anti-tramin tablets, and the results will be satisfactory in the highest degree. You can obtain them at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth, 25c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.
SICK-HEADACHES
Sick-headache, the most miserable of all sicknesses, loses its terrors when A-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be warded off. During an attack take one A-K Tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort which follow, can be obtained in no other way.
Genuine A-K Tablets bear the K monogram. At all druggists.

TAKES BOX OF CIGARETTES.

Serious Crime, for this Box Contained Two Hundred Thousand Smokes.

"I want a police detective to find a stolen box of cigarettes," announced Mr. H. Kaminsky, owner of the tobacco store at No. 332 East First street to Detective Chapman last night.

"Can't detail a man just to find one box of smokes," declared the detective.

"Oh, yes you can," protested Mr. Kaminsky, "you see this box contained 200,000 cigarettes."

According to Mr. Kaminsky the box contained 10,000 small boxes of twenty cigarettes each. It was unloaded in front of his store early last night. When he stepped from his store a short time later to drag in the box it was gone.

A detective was put on the case.

FOUND AT LAST.

Man Sought a Whole Year, to Satisfy Judgment for False Arrest, is Taken into Custody at San Diego and will be Brought Back.

A chase that lasted a year terminated yesterday when Frank McPherson, a cattleman, was taken into custody in San Diego and held for an officer of this county. McPherson is wanted to satisfy a judgment of $1000 growing out of a suit for false arrest brought by Miss Isabelle Denning, a milliner. Judgment was given by Judge Works a year ago, and since that time Deputy Sheriff Gates has been on the trail.

McPherson was heard from at Seattle, in British Columbia, at Kansas City, Oklahoma, San Diego, Riverside and again at San Diego. The deputy sheriff was never able to be in any of those places in time to get his man. Yesterday Sheriff Conklin of San Diego county wired the Sheriff's office here that McPherson had been taken into custody, and Mr. Gates made arrangements to bring the man back.

In the beginning McPherson caused the arrest of Miss Denning, alleging she picked his pockets of $100. The charge was grand larceny. Attorney Sorrenson defended her before Justice Young and obtained from McPherson an admission that the pocket-picking charge was false.

Tentative.

FIRST COST OF FLOOD CONTROL.

Officials Decide to Advocate Segregated Bond Issue.

Aid to Government and System of Dams on Programme.

Flood control work in Los Angeles county will be started under segregated bond issues of $3,600,000, according to a tentative plan evolved yesterday afternoon at a meeting between the executive committee of the Los Angeles County Flood Control Association and the Board of Supervisors.

The meeting was held behind closed doors and the plan was not adopted as permanent, but to be more fully developed at another meeting on Saturday morning. When the completed plan has been properly drafted, it will be presented to the Flood Control Association on the 15th inst.

Under consideration as a part of the plan is the diversion of flood waters from the Los Angeles and the Long Beach harbors in co-operation with the work to be done by the government, as set forth in the report of the Board of Engineers of Rivers and Harbors presented to Congress last Tuesday. The government will build a great dam from Domingues Hill to the highlands at Los Cerritos, to prevent silt washing into the ocean and hindering navigation. This alone will cost more than $1,000,000.

COUNTY'S PART.

Los Angeles county is expected to, and probably will come forward with about an equal amount, if the bonds meet with approval when put to a vote of the people. The sum from the county is for securing a right of way and paying for roads and bridges that may have to be shifted and for the adjustment of all subsequent damage that may result. The county will also have to agree to expend approximately $20,000 per year in maintenance.

Another $1,000,000 of the proposed bond issue will be spent in keeping up the channel. The remaining $1,600,000 is proposed for use in the construction of immense mountain reservoirs for the conservation of winter rains, for restraining dams in all of the streams in the county which have proved dangerous from time to time, and for spreading grounds over which the silt and rock can be distributed, to prevent clogging of the established waterways.

Each of these improvements will be made under a segregated bond issue, in order to allow the people to choose the most important works and defer those not so necessary, if it is decided the complete appropriation is too heavy for the county to carry.

Supervisors Pridham and Woodley suggested the segregation, which was approved by the majority of those in attendance at the meeting.

Complete plans for flood control in the county involve an ultimate expenditure of more than $16,000,000.

FOR CO-OPERATION.

Team work in the matter of a flood control scheme to protect Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors was discussed yesterday at a conference between members of the Harbor Commission and Charles H. Windham and Ira S. Hatch, former Mayors of Long Beach, representing the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce. One of the plans discussed was the advisability of co-operation between the city and county in voting a bond issue of about $500,000 for harbor flood control.

Harbor Engineer Jubb was instructed by the Harbor Commission to investigate and present outlines of a plan for filling in an area of Smith's Island, in the inner harbor, where the Standard Oil Company is negotiating for a lease. These plans will include a roadway giving easy access to the location.

Secretary Matson was instructed to present a report showing valuations and a schedule of leasing charges on all of the tidelands claimed by the city. President Woodman estimates that the income from tidelands rentals to the city will reach $1,000,000 a year when all are utilized.

BANISH MALICE.

Relatives of Man Slain by Motor Car Say They will Not Prosecute Two Young Autoists, but Police are to Ask for Legal Action Today.

Following the funeral yesterday afternoon of J. I. Clements, who was run down and fatally injured by an automobile driven by Miss Fern Fitch, a pretty high school girl, 17 years old, while her companion, Harry K. Widup, was teaching her how to operate the machine, members of the bereaved family stated they will not prefer a criminal charge against either of the young people. "The girl has suffered enough," said the son of the late waterworks owner.

Miss Fitch and Mr. Widup were held responsible by a Coroner's jury for the death of Mr. Clements, though their names were not mentioned in the verdict. It is said Miss Fitch accepted Mr. Widup's invitation to ride in the automobile to the mountains in quest of snow and on the way she said she would like to learn how to drive. Soon after she had taken the driver's seat the automobile struck down Mr. Clements at Cahuenga avenue and Hollywood boulevard.

The funeral was held at the Pierce chapel. The body was cremated at Evergreen Cemetery.

Evidence against Miss Fitch and Mr. Widup, said to indicate criminal carelessness in the handling of the machine, will be submitted to the District Attorney's office today by order of Captain of Detectives Flammer.

When the finding of the Coroner's jury was submitted to Capt. Flammer, he at once assigned a detective to gather all the data on the case.

OPIUM HARVEST.

Seventeen Hundred Tins of Dream Stuff, Valued at Seventy Thousand Dollars, Seized in This District in Three Years by Federal Agent.

Activities of Frank E. Johnson, special agent of the United States Treasury Department, in the seizure of smoking opium are shown in a statement just completed, that during the years 1913-14-15, there were 1700 five-tael cans of the drug taken and destroyed in this district. At a conservative estimate, based on the changing prices of the stuff within these three years, the value of the seizures is not less than $70,000, or an average of about $25,000 worth a year.

These figures mark the activity of the smuggling industry in Los Angeles and vicinity. The proximity of this city to the Mexican border line has made it for years the favorite trysting place for smugglers, and there seems to be no end to the speculators who are willing to "take a chance."

How many five-tael cans that were smuggled across the boundary the officers did not get is another story.

DINNER OR DIE.

Canadian Threatens to Blow up Local Hotel if not Served Twenty-five-dollar Meal — May Now Stoke up with Jail Beans.

William de Chene of Montreal walked into a downtown hotel yesterday, asked for the manager and informed everyone within hearing he intended to blow up the building unless a $25 meal was served him instantly.

He was arrested and taken to the City Jail, where he said he was hungry and thought he might as well go to a first-class hotel and get something to eat.

Thinking he was mentally unbalanced, the police took De Chene to the Receiving Hospital, where he was pronounced normal by the surgeons. He is held on a charge of making threats to kill. He says he is out of work.

JAILER JAILED.

Man Accused of Having Confined His Wife and Child, Exposing Them to Starvation, is Captured and Denies Guilt—Is He Insane?

George C. Lee, who locked his wife and baby in his home at No. 5035 Montezuma street and held them there more than a week, was arrested yesterday in the offices of Pierson & Clark, attorneys, in the Los Angeles Investment Building.

He apparently had heard of the search for him and was trying to interest the lawyers in his case. At the County Jail, where he is confined, he declared the charges against him are unfounded and he did not try to starve his family.

"I have been persecuted by my wife's relatives," he declared. He insists he is the victim of a plot arranged by Mrs. Lee's relatives, who desire to have him out of the way so they can get Mrs. Lee's money, which she inherited.

His story was rather incoherent and he will be taken before the Lunacy Commission Monday morning. It is probable he will be sent to the psychopathic ward at the County Hospital today for observation.

ORANGE FIESTA.

Chairman of Committee to Arrange for Day of Nation-wide Celebration in March Names Chief Aides—Finance Body Chosen.

Chairman W. E. Bush of the California Orange Day Committee yesterday appointed the executive committee that will direct the observance of Orange Day, March 18. This is the third national campaign undertaken on behalf of California's golden fruit. Notices of appointment were sent to the committeemen last evening by Secretary Warren McIntire.

Robert B. Armstrong, printing; F. E. Batturs, railroads; Willis H. Booth, banks; Hugh W. Bryson, Merchants and Manufacturers' Association; C. C. Chapman, orange growers; B. F. Coons, American fruit distributors; Herbert L. Cornish, parade; H. O. Davis, moving picture manufacturers; Marco H. Hellman, banks; H. Jevne, wholesale merchants; G. R. Logan, Broadway merchants; Francis Marshall, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Alice M. McComas, women's organizations; W. W. Mines, Los Angeles Realty Board; John S. Mitchell, hotels; N. P. Olsen, Southern California Retail Grocers; C. H. Parson, federation of State societies; O. C. Pickrell, Los Angeles Produce Exchange; G. Harold Powell, California Fruit Growers' Exchange; F. O. Reed, express companies; Paul Shoup, Pacific Electric Railway; F. J. Wadley, Jr., Los Angeles Ad Club, and S. L. Weaver, Rotary Club.

A financial ways and means committee, consisting of F. J. Wadley, Jr., W. W. Mines, W. E. Bush, Herbert L. Cornish and Warren McIntyre, has been named to finance the nation-wide celebration.

MUST SUE INDEPENDENTLY.

In the action brought by W. R. Williams, State Superintendent of Banks, against L. J. Carver and others, stockholders in the defunct Kern Valley Bank, that was closed by the bank examiner in May, 1911, in behalf of the creditors of the institution, the Supreme Court holds that the statutes confer no authority upon the superintendent of banks to enter an action in behalf of the stockholders; that it is his duty to protect the bank; that they must bring an independent action against the stockholders if they care to invoke the statute of financial liability.

Childhood Romance Blooms After Years.

Mrs. Ella Westland,

Whose engagement to J. M. Beaubier, a Canadian capitalist, became known yesterday. They will be married on the 24th inst.

Loss to Federation.

NOTED CLUBWOMAN TO BE BRIDE OF A CAPITALIST.

MRS. ELLA L. WESTLAND, one of California's most prominent clubwomen, will be married the 24th inst. to J. M. Beaubier, a wealthy Canadian business man and childhood sweetheart of the Upland widow. The interesting news became known yesterday afternoon to a few close personal friends when Mr. Beaubier arrived in Los Angeles shortly after Mrs. Westland had come to the city to purchase her trousseau.

The ceremony will take place at Mrs. Westland's beautiful Upland home. Following a brief honeymoon, the bride and groom will go to Campion, Alberta, where Mr. Beaubier has large estates.

The romance attached to the approaching wedding originated in a little town in Michigan when Mrs. Westland was a 15-year-old schoolgirl and Mr. Beaubier the schoolboy who carried her books. Then the boy went to Canada, and a few years later the girl married and came to California. Mr. Beaubier worked all the harder, but never married.

Mrs. Westland came to California sixteen years ago. Her husband published a newspaper in Upland. Shortly after their arrival, Mrs. Westland became identified with the California Federation of Women's Clubs and within a remarkably short time became one of the leaders of that organization.

Fourteen years ago Mr. Westland passed away. His widow continued to operate the newspaper along the lines used by her husband, and rapidly developed into a successful publisher herself.

Her activities in club life continued, and she was elected president of the southern district of the State Federation. She held this position until the election of Mrs. A. J. Lawton two years ago. It was while Mrs. Westland held this responsible position that she was nominated for the presidency of the State Federation at the convention held in Fresno in 1913. At that time it was thought by her supporters she would be elected but at the last moment she withdrew in favor of Mrs. James W. Orr, the retiring president, the choice of the Nominating Committee.

LABORITES ON ANXIOUS SEAT.

Conference of San Francisco "Leaders" on the Case Against Caplan.

A mysterious conference of a number of the principal figures in the Schmidt-Caplan Defense League, which has collected several thousand dollars from union workmen in all parts of the country and spent some of it in the defense of the convicted dynamiter and his alleged co-conspirator, was called in San Francisco yesterday. Those who have followed the cases closely assert that the purpose of the gathering was to discuss what pressure can be brought to bear to head off the confession which Caplan has been several times reported to be on the point of making and to further arrange ways and means of getting out from under in case the first-mentioned effort is unsuccessful.

There is but little left in the laborite till to spend on Caplan's trial, and the case against him, according to the District Attorney, is an even stronger one than that made against Schmidt.

Imperial.

Great Volcano Lake Levee now Considered Assured.

Recommendation to Congress is First Important Victory.

Immunity from Floods for Vast Agricultural Empire.

Victory crowned the long fight of the Imperial Valley to secure absolute protection against floods from the Colorado River yesterday when the Secretary of War asked Congress for an appropriation of $1,250,000 with which to extend the Volcano Lake levee to a junction with the government levee, south of the international boundary, and to raise the height of the whole to sixteen feet.

"It means millions to the Imperial Valley. It will put an impassable barrier between the valley and floods from the Colorado River," said Col. W. H. Holabird, receiver of the California Development Company. "It is the best news I've heard in many months, and something that the Imperial Valley has been looking forward to, with hope only, for a long time."

According to the recommendation made the Secretary of War by Gen. Kingman, chief of engineers, it is planned to extend the Volcano Lake levee six miles in a northeasterly direction from its present eastern terminus to where the government levee stretches out a wing in a southwesterly direction, south of Paredones.

This new levee is planned to be sixteen feet in height, while six feet will be added to the height of the two existing ten-foot levees, both of which were rendered practically useless by the "silting in" of the bed of Volcano Lake.

"As only the wash water from the Colorado ever reaches the ridge at Volcano Lake," said Col. Holabird, "the continuous levee will make an absolute barrier against floods. It will prevent a repetition of the flood of two years ago, when the water topped the ridge and 4000 second feet of water was precipitated into Salton Sea, through New River. It will also be a great benefit to at least 100,000 acres in Mexico, which are now subject to occasional inundation."

Col. Holabird also pointed out that the levee will absolutely insure investments in the Imperial Valley against floods for all times to come, and, as a result, will be a great public benefit. He also pointed out that the vast quantity of rubble rock in Black Butte, the western terminus of the Prize Fowl.

RULES OVER HER FEATHER COURT

Patrician of Chickendom has Many Admirers.

Poultry Show's First Day is Full of Interest.

Nearly One Hundred Varieties on Exhibition.

"Queen Mary," patrician of the family Buff Orpington, sat with becoming grace at the very portals of the Los Angeles Poultry Show yesterday and calmly received the admiration of all comers. This being on parade is no new thing for "Queen Mary." She has appeared in some of the biggest poultry shows of the world and has won many honors.

She is probably the most traveled chicken in existence, and a card over her domicile tells the public of her achievements. She has traveled more than 3200 miles, has taken prizes at the Crystal Palace in London, the Madison Square Poultry Show in New York City, the Coliseum Show in Chicago, the Panama-Pacific Exposition, Seattle and other places "too numerous to mention." Her last trip before appearing in Los Angeles was to Tucson, Ariz., where the usual result of prize ribbon presentation took place. "Queen Mary" is owned by Goodacre Bros. of Compton. She is simply one of the big features at the Poultry Show, now in full progress in the old Boston Store building, opposite the City Hall.

All roosters crow and all [illegible] cackles so a newspaper writer ought to find some new angle to [illegible] in giving an account of a poultry show, instead of dwelling on the strident talk of fowldom; but really one of the impressive things at the Poultry Show is the great chorus of chicken vocalism that goes on all day long. No other music is needed.

When the doors opened to the public at noon yesterday there were already waiting groups of poultry lovers. The crowd increased all afternoon, and the first day's attendance expressed in this the greatest poultry show of the year. Even the man or woman who knows of chickens only as it comes from the garnishing hands of the skilled chef would grow enthusiastic over the magnificent specimens of many varieties shown here.

There are nearly 100 distinct varieties of fowl in the great exhibit, and altogether close to 1700 entries. These include not only the chickens, but ducks, geese, turkeys, guinea fowl, pheasant, and on down the line to the diminutive canary.

NEW VARIETY.

Considerable special interest was manifested yesterday in the extensive display of Sussex fowls, a variety that is new here, and that has been imported from England. One of the striking exhibits in this class is that of the speckled Sussex exhibited by G. L. Waring of No. 1124 Fourth street, Santa Monica.

"Lloyd George," a Buff Orpington cockerel, that won first prize at the San Francisco exposition, also attracted much attention. He is the property of William P. Williams of No. 1102 West Fifty-second street. One of the wonders of the show is a Buff Minorca pullet, hatched the last of March, and now weighing a trifle over eight pounds. This pullet is owned by J. O. Longstreet, No. 5253 First avenue.

The latest addition to the show was the turkey department, which occupies the space clear across the rear of the big room. Here bronze and gray and brown and black and white mottled turks delight with their strutting and spreading, while ducks and geese close at hand loudly vociferate to draw attention.

All this music is just across the way from the City Hall, where Councilwoman Lindsay and others cogitate on the suppression of crowing and dwell upon the advantages of voiceless poultry.

The judges will continue their work of making awards today. The complete list will be bulletined tomorrow morning. The show opens at 10 o'clock every morning and closes at 10 o'clock at night. It will continue until 10 o'clock next Tuesday night.

Splashed by Mud of Passing Car, Auto Owner Recognizes His Own Machine—Stops the Theft and Incidentally Spoils Date Two Boys had with Girls.

When Oscar G. Maxwell, an auto livery man living at No. 332 Parkman avenue, left his automobile standing in Eighth street near Broadway Tuesday evening and accompanied Mrs. Maxwell to a theater, he fully intended to return there for it. A few hours later, the theater over, he and Mrs. Maxwell were walking in Broadway, near Third street, when a passing car splashed mud on them. Looking up quickly, Mr. Maxwell was startled to recognize his own motor car passing slowly toward the Third-street tunnel. Leaving his wife standing on the curb Mr. Maxwell made a flying jump and landed on the running board.

Two boys were seated in front, one intent on the operation of the car. Mr. Maxwell grabbed a youth with each hand and was industriously engaged in seeing which had the harder head when Patrolman J. D. Watson arrived.

Louis Carson, 16 years old, and Harlan Burdin, 17 years old, the boys operating the machine, at first feebly resisted the officer and irate owner. They were finally overcome and taken to police headquarters. Here they at first exhibited bravado, but when a charge of grand larceny was entered against them and the prospect of a night in jail loomed ahead their forced gaiety subsided. When Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Burdin of No. 629 South Flower street, and W. O. Randolph of No. 608 South Serrano street, the fond parents, arrived, two very dejected youths peered from behind the bars.

"We had a date," they groaned. "The girls wouldn't go unless we could get a machine. So we took one thinking it would be all right."

present Volcano Lake levee, means that material for construction of new work is right at hand, and that no delays are to be expected after the appropriation once becomes available.

"I look upon this proposed appropriation as recognition by the government of the growing importance of the Imperial Valley," said Col. Holabird. "Here we have the greatest irrigation project in North America, constructed without a cent of government aid, except the $1,000,000 that was put into the levee along the river—and that was a failure."

The recommendation of the Secretary of War is also looked upon by many as the requiem of the plan to turn the Colorado River back into its old channel by an elaborate levee system, extending from opposite Yuma to the Gulf of Mexico.

WAS ARDENT WORKER IN ST. ANDREW BROTHERHOOD.

Life Devoted to Service for Others Ends After Long Struggle with Ill Health—St. Paul's Vestrymen to Act as Pallbearers at Funeral Services Tomorrow.

John R. Coghlan, widely known in church and Y.M.C.A. circles of this city, died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Thornycroft Hospital, Glendale, after an illness of several weeks.

The funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, and will be conducted by Dean MacCormack. The vestrymen of this church will act as pallbearers. The body will be sent to Richmond, Va., for interment in the family plot.

Mr. Coghlan came to Los Angeles from St. Louis five years ago, on account of his health. He had long been an invalid, but recovered sufficiently here to become very active in church and Y.M.C.A. work, to which he was devoted. He was a vestryman and held other official positions in St. Paul's parish, and was treasurer of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. It was mainly through his activities that the great St. Andrew Brotherhood convention of last summer was secured for Los Angeles. He went East to work for it, and was the principal factor in raising the money here necessary for its coming.

He connected himself with the Young Men's Christian Association immediately after first coming to this city, and was always deeply interested in its work. For several years he was book-keeper for this institution, and in this connection formed a very wide and influential acquaintance especially with the young men of this city.

His influence and example were always inspiring and his ministrations to his fellow-men were extensive. He was beloved by a wide circle of friends. He was in his fifty-eighth year, and was unmarried. He leaves three sisters, all residents of Richmond.

IMPERIAL VALLEY LANDS.

Twenty-acre Tracts Offered on Easy Terms.

Down in Imperial county—the richest crop-producing county in the United States—the Southern Pacific Land Company is offering lands for sale in tracts of twenty acres and upwards. Prices are very reasonable and the terms unusually easy.

Imperial Valley is situate in the southeast corner of California, and its climate insures a perpetual growing season. Plants and trees of every description, alfalfa, grain and cotton grow quickly and profusely. Animals here are raised to the highest degree of perfection, reaching a full growth and a larger size than any other stock-raising section; and, as for dairying, profits are large and assured; in fact, there is no other place to compare with Imperial Valley for this industry.

The soil is of a rich sediment extending to a depth of hundreds of feet, and this is one of the main reasons for the quality and quantity of the fruits, melons, berries and vegetables grown. Hog and poultry raising are becoming extraordinarily profitable. Hundreds of thousands of dollars annually are received from the raising and shipping of fowls, turkeys and eggs.

This is the ideal place for the small rancher as well as the large operator; in fact, the small producer in a year or so branches into larger or more diversified pursuits.

TROUBLE-MAKER RETURNS TO JAIL.

CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF TERMS OF PAROLE.

Prisoner's Sensational but Groundless Charges Were Cause of City Prison Investigation—Brought Back to Serve Out Term of Sentence for Old Offense.

M. L. Silverthorn, who has given the police more trouble than any other one man during the last year, was arrested yesterday for violation of parole, and was sentenced to serve 180 days in the Eastside Jail, the term of his suspended sentence. When Silverthorn was in the jail before he sent out sensational reports of his treatment, his charges resulting in an investigation which disproved all grounds of his complaints.

His first arrest occurred seven months ago, when he was charged with an attempt to kill his wife. He escaped from jail, but was later captured, and given an extra 180 days sentence. Then he was placed on probation.

Before he was arrested the second time, it was charged, he had returned to his wife's rooms and had cut all her clothing into shreds. Last Tuesday he visited his wife again, in violation of strict provisions of his probation. Probation Officer Tom King went in search of Silverthorn, at the wife's request.

While Officer King awaited Silverthorn's return to his room, at No. 532½ South Spring street, the fugitive was seen by Chief Snively and Assistant Chief Home, who ordered his arrest, and Officer King later found his man in jail.

The local weather forecaster says it will be fair today, but the rain of the early part of the night seemed to belie the prediction. However, the San Francisco forecaster, in doping up the figures for the State, said it will probably rain in Southern California today.

The stars came out at midnight and it looked as though the local weather man would win. The uncertainty of the weather in the last month and the habit it has grown of doing just the opposite of what the forecaster says it should, may change the aspect of the sky today. Perhaps both forecasters will be right.

It rained last night only enough to wet things but earlier in the day there was quite a precipitation—more than a third of an inch. At one time it rained very hard but the shower did not last long.

SHIPPING DELAYED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Jan. 5.—The stiff southeast gale that has been blowing along the northern coast has delayed a number of steam schooners that were due here today with lumber, although the passenger steamers have been able to maintain their schedules.

Capt. T. H. Cann of the steamer President, which proceeded down the coast to San Diego today, reported a seventy-mile gale when the steamer crossed the bar at San Francisco, and very rough weather north of that point. The bar was breaking for its full length of seven miles when the steamer passed over.

The steamer Roanoke, which sailed tonight for San Francisco and Portland, was also caught in the storm and was hove to inside the bar for five hours before passing out. The Roanoke is one day behind her schedule, having laid over at San Francisco on New Year's Day to permit members of the crew to enjoy the holiday.

The steamer James S. Higgins, which left San Francisco Sunday, was compelled to put back to port after running into the teeth of the gale outside. Capt. Ellefson struck the worst of the blow off Pigeon Point and was unable to round the point and find a lee near Santa Cruz and had to put back to port. A part of the deckload went overboard along with lifeboats and a part of the rail.

Several steam schooners that were delayed by the gale are expected here tomorrow. The tailend of the storm brought rain to this port, but there was little wind.

RAILWAY LANDSLIDE.

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 5.—The storm cleared as suddenly as it came after precipitation of .01 of an inch. At 9 o'clock tonight the sky is clear as a bell, and only another veering of the wind can make further precipitation possible.

A landslide on the coast line near Point Concepcion has necessitated the building of a diverting track about the slide. The Lark was sent by way of the San Joaquin Valley.

The extent of the landslide is not known here. It occurred at a section where the railroad bed is cut into the side of a bluff. Local railroad men report that the track will be cleared by tomorrow noon. They say the slide is not of a serious nature. Before the temporary track was completed passengers going north and south were transferred around the slide, necessitating a walk of about 200 feet. All the trains are reported on time.

LIGHT RAINSTORM.

Anuric Completes Link in Chain of Health.

Thousands of sufferers of kidney disease are daily linked with health by using Anuric—

Painful rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica are driven away by a few treatments with this wonderful discovery. Backache, dizzy spells vanish when Anuric has driven Uric Acid out of your body. Every day many Los Angeles men and women come to see Dr. Pierce's Representative at the Sun Drug Store, N.E. corner of Fifth and Broadway, and tell how Anuric has given them relief when other prescriptions or remedies have failed.

READ WHAT THIS MAN SAYS.

"It pleases me to give Dr. Pierce my testimonial. Having for years suffered from Kidney Trouble, tried many doctors and medicines, but until I used Anuric I got no lasting relief. Now thanks to Anuric I am free from kidney trouble and rheumatism. Upon being examined for life insurance I found the examination to show no signs of Uric Acid or Albumin in Urine. Signed: W. F. BAXTER, Los Angeles, Cal., 705 Broadway.

WHAT IS ANURIC?

Anuric is a discovery made by Dr. Pierce of the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., where safe, reliable family medicines have been made for over forty years by this experienced physician. Anuric is a positive Uric Acid solvent—thirty-seven times more efficient than lithia. Anuric does not harm or upset delicate people—and yet it is an absolute enemy to Uric Acid.

ANURIC PURIFIES YOUR SYSTEM.

Get rid of dangerous and poisonous Uric Acid—this will allow the overworked kidneys to resume their normal function. It will rid your system of rheumatism, lumbago or sciatica. Because it cleanses the kidneys it removes the cause of backache and dizzy spells.

PERSONALLY REPRESENTED.

Dr. Pierce has sent his personal representative from the World's Dispensary to Los Angeles. The Sun Drug Store on Broadway and Fifth street, N. E. corner (the green front store,) is his headquarters.

Here he daily meets the public and explains the benefits of Anuric, and other of the famous Dr. Pierce's Medicines. He gives you helpful hints to regain your health free of charge. If you suspect Uric Acid you cannot afford to neglect yourself. Send a sample of your urine to Dr. Pierce at the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free analytical test—a report will be mailed to you free of charge.

Mail Orders addressed to Sun Drug Co. for Dr. Pierce's medicines receive prompt attention.

Engineer Declares City Must Buy Company Plant.

Investigation brought out a divergence of opinion between Edward Fletcher, manager of the Cuyamaca Water Company, and City Attorney T. B. Cosgrove of San Diego at the latter's hearing in the local offices of the application by the City of San Diego for canal and dam-sites, as assignee of W. D. Hamilton, and the protest filed by the officials of the Cuyamaca Water Company.

Fletcher reiterated that if his company is not bothered by the city he will agree to furnish all the pure water that was needed at 10 cents a thousand gallons, which was cheaper, he said, than the city itself could furnish the water if El Capitan damsite was acquired from his company. "You know," said the witness, "as well as the city has nothing upon which to build a dam; it must buy from us." He said his company would agree to sell for $1,000,000, accepting San Diego city bonds.

CENSURES CITY.

Fletcher declared that if his company had been met in a different spirit by the officials of San Diego and the city had not sought to secure the Cuyamaca water rights through the courts, permit the municipality to have been met in a more friendly manner by his associates in office.

Attorney Cosgrove read from a statement made by Hydraulic Engineer Lee, at a hearing before the State Railroad Commission, that the proposed dam at El Capitan site should be built to a height of 140 feet at a cost of $900,000. Mr. Lee was present at the hearing for the Cuyamaca Water Company. It was shown that in his estimate Mr. Lee had included the cost of purchase of private rights along the proposed way, and the removal of the power house from La Grande Capitan Reservoir site to another location. But Col. Fletcher claimed that from the estimates made by City Engineer Cromwell of San Diego the work would not cost more than $2,000,000, which he said was prohibitive. He said the proposed dam of his company would be 100 feet high, and there was a difference of $300,000 in the cost of a 100-foot and a 140-foot dam.

Numerous excerpts were read by Attorney Cosgrove from a protest filed by Col. Fletcher, James Murray and R. B. Henshaw of the Cuyamaca Water Company with the Secretary of the Interior in August, 1915, in which it was sought to show that the conditions had not been represented by the protestants to the officials at Washington.

Fletcher said that the present plans, with additions to be made, would be able to furnish 14,000,000 gallons of water a day to the city of San Diego, or the equal of 1100 inches. He claimed that the rights of private owners to the waters of the San Diego River had been settled for twenty-five years, and that nothing of this litigation, should it the city got the Hamilton dam, the riparian owners would be settled with.

Referring to the ability of the Cuyamaca Water Company to deliver the water to consumers in San Diego to supply all possible needs for years to come, Col. Fletcher said the pumping system and the conduit system now at the city limits, but the government granted the city of San Diego a permit to flood the lands of the Cleveland National Forest and the damsite it would be necessary to move the present system of pumps.

J. D. Post, chief engineer of the Cuyamaca Water Company, described the plant of that company and its ability to serve the consumers of San Diego with water. He said the sales now being made by the corporation was about 10 per cent. of its capacity. The irrigated acreage under was about 4000 acres, with a possible area of 10,000 acres. About 14,000 consumers are served, he said, in San Diego, La Mesa and East San Diego by the Cuyamaca company.

Mr. Post told about a conference held in Los Angeles about two years ago between C. T. Sackett and Benjamin Hagar, former employees of the Cuyamaca Water Company, and Los Angeles capitalists, who had in view the purchase of the Cuyamaca system. It was suggested, said Mr. Post, that James Murray, one of the protestants in the present case, and W. D. Hamilton, who afterward assigned his rights to the city of San Diego, $3000 for his interest in the proposed easement. The tender was rejected.

"MAH HEART!"

Only Good Dinner Runs at Large Till Knowing One Comes.

How the 'possum came from is one no one can fathom, but early morning it was nosing along First street.

Up and down the street, the shout "Here the big rat." Those who had never tasted an unripe persimmon or knocked a 'possum off a persimmon ran for clubs, others for hoes, some ran for a sack. Soon there were collecting about the creature, when the weary and bedraggled thing "played 'possum," in the habit of its kind, but when a prodding or threatening toe approached, scuttled to some other port of refuge.

A newsboy wished to capture the stranger, to put it in a box and charge a penny for inspection. Another was searching for a box when he ran into Policeman Bomar, who had roamed the Missouri hills of old.

Officer Bomar hastened to have a look at the "rat" before a fee was paid for the privilege. He approached it, hurled through the air and missed. Then his eyes expressed wide open went his mouth. He looked again.

"Oh mah heart," he shouted, "it's my old friend." And then he called someone.

"Come here," said Mr. Bomar. "He is not, he's my dinner, he is. He's my friend. We sure are going to have 'possum tonight," and he disappeared with the "possum and sauntered down the street.

That doesn't solve the mystery of the 'possum's presence in the Japanese quarter on East First street.

Eastern "Salmon King," Staying in Pasadena, Surprised at Great Resources of Southland, Shown Him by the Midwinter "Times."

C. M. Huxford, president of Dorman, Huxford & Co., one of the largest commission concerns in the East, with headquarters at Boston, who is sojourning in Southern California, made the statement yesterday that he has seen most countries of the world, and he believes Los Angeles and vicinity have a brighter future than any place he has ever visited. Climatically, he declares, the Southland has no peer, and he is amazed at the country's productiveness.

Mr. Huxford is known in the East as the "salmon king," his company making a specialty of packing and wholesaling salmon. He knew that the Northwest was the center of that industry, but not until he arrived here a few days ago did he discover that Southern California has an enormous output of tuna and other fish.

"When I read the anniversary number of The Times it opened my eyes," Mr. Huxford said. "I had heard a great deal about Los Angeles and Southern California, but it was the first time I had seen the facts and figures. They were so convincing that I immediately began to study conditions here. I am satisfied that the situation was not exaggerated and that this country has a wonderful future."

Mr. Huxford's company also deals extensively in the sale of dried fruits and he said he will give that industry in Southern California a close investigation. In fact, he is dickering now with a concern for future business.

Mr. Huxford is accompanied by his wife, who was formerly of the faculty of Howard Seminary, Boston, and former president of the Woman's Club of Melrose Highlands. They are staying in Pasadena, having apartments in Bowen's court.

DECLARES KAISER BEST ADVERTISER.

AND MAN WHO SINGLE-HANDED MADE GERMANY GREAT.

Foreign Buyer for Mercantile Firm Discusses the Teutonic Empire as a Lesson in Efficiency and Tells Jovian League Members the Salient Things Taught.

"If the Kaiser should lose his job as Emperor, he could get $100,000 a year as an advertising man, for he leads the world in that line," said Clarence E. Adams, foreign buyer for A. Hamburger & Sons, in an address to members of the Jovian League yesterday, on "The Kaiser and His Empire—A Lesson in Efficiency."

Germany is the Kaiser, and the Kaiser is Germany, according to Mr. Adams, who knew the confederated States before William II. came to the throne of the empire. He is the man who has shouldered Germany, he stated, into the forefront of the fight for world commercial supremacy.

"Every so often," said Mr. Adams, "nature fashions a particular man for a particular purpose. The Kaiser was fashioned to make Germany a great nation. And he has done it in spite of obstacles, for the material resources of Germany are small. But where, a half-century ago, England controlled the markets of the world, Germany now controls them—or did until the war broke out. The greatness of the Kaiser is in that he has accomplished this."

A rapid verbal picture of the Germanic states when William II came to the throne was painted by Mr. Adams. It showed a land of meager advancement, with few or no factories. Today, he stated, Germany is the center of the most efficient manufacturing in the world, and its wealth is enormous.

"How was this done?" said Mr. Adams. "Well, if the Kaiser saw an opera and did not like it, he immediately set to work to fashion a better one. When Germany was building a navy and plans for battleships didn't suit, the Kaiser made his own plans. He is a myriad-minded man—a man of enormous energy and attainments—and he lives for Germany.

"A little town I know, for instance, was far from coal. It had no commerce. The people were poor. The Kaiser visited it. He saw the women were expert at weaving grasses. It gave him an idea, and he imported reeds from Russia and expert basket-makers to teach these people their craft. Today that city is the basket-making center of the world.

"So it was with Nuremberg, where most of our toys come from, and Dresden, and hundreds of other places. In most cases the Kaiser discovered them, or they were discovered by men he had trained, and the natural aptitude of the people was put to use. Then, after the industries of the country were running, the Kaiser and his men found markets for the goods. Their success in this line is proved by the fact that, until the war broke out, two boxes of German-made goods were laid down in the markets of the world to one from any other nation."

AFTER LONG CHASE.

Postoffice Authorities Arrest Man on an Old Complaint.

Postoffice Inspector Charles S. Ranger yesterday signed a complaint against George W. Rocho, alias George Grayson, who was arrested in this city last Tuesday night, as a fugitive from justice. It is alleged that Rocho, in 1904, when employed as money order clerk in the Omaha postoffice stole $1200. An indictment was returned against him in November, 1904, charging him with the crime, and the postoffice authorities have sought him since that time. He was held yesterday on $2000 bond, by the United States Commissioner.

In 1911 Rocho was arrested in Denver, but succeeded in escaping from the officers. The following year he landed in Fresno, where he married. Although he had left a wife in Omaha, Rocho acknowledged when arrested that he was the man sought for the Omaha offense, and expressed willingness, the postoffice authorities say, to return and plead guilty.

BIG ORDER FOR MINING PUMPS.

Largest Single Requisition in Local History Phoned Here from Denver.

With the dispatch of a specially-chartered express car over the Santa Fe at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the Lane & Bowler Corporation of this city began the filling in what they believe to be record time of the largest single order for centrifugal pumps ever placed in the West, so far as they know. The order was placed by long-distance telephone from Denver by A. C. McDaniel, chief consulting engineer for the American Zinc Company, and calls for $35,000 worth of pumps to be used in the big zinc mines near Mascot, Tenn. The huge war orders which this company is filling is the cause for haste. All the pumps will be shipped by special cars and the express bill alone is $13,000.

The local company is sending along three engineers to superintend the installations.

ANNEXATION BY CONQUEST ONLY.

Mexican Consul Here Denies His Government will Settle American Damage Claims by Cession of Territory—Says Interested Officials Responsible for Differences.

Adolfo Carrillo, Mexican Consul in this city, issued a statement yesterday afternoon in which he scouted the idea of the United States receiving any Mexican territory as indemnity for alleged damages to American interests during the Mexican revolution. Furthermore, Mr. Carrillo added, the present trouble being stirred up in the Senate concerning the appointment of an American Ambassador to Mexico is caused more by personal animus than a patriotic and national feeling.

"I understand that Gov. Hunt of Arizona is talking about a plan to obtain sufficient land from Mexico to extend the boundary of his State to the Gulf of California. I understand he has requested the Governor of California to aid him in influencing Washington in this endeavor," Mr. Carrillo said. "It is against all Mexican law and spirit to cede one inch of territory. Not even the President of my republic has the right to sell or give away his country's land. Only by force of arms can anyone seize Mexican property. Gov. Hunt's proposition is futile.

"A large section of Coahuila, Chihuahua, Nueva Leon and Sonora are owned by American concessionaires. Two of these concessions are owned by United States government officials, and it is these who are now mixing up the administrations of two governments with certain demands before the appointment of an American Ambassador.

"I am in a position to know that the lands belonging to these officials are to be confiscated by Gen. Carranza. When he obtained supreme control in Mexico a commission was appointed to investigate the legality of certain concessions granted by Gen. Diaz, Gen. Huerta and others. These concessions under investigation were given for practically nothing. And as a result they are null and void. I firmly believe the present difficulties were raised by these officials more for a personal reason than anything else," said the Consul.

LIBEL ACTION HEARD.

Judge Trippet yesterday heard the testimony in the libel action brought against the owners of the gas launch Zenobia by Vincent and Jose Vitalichi, owners of the gas launch Mary, that it is alleged was run down and sunk by the Zenobia. The boats were fishing between Point Firmin and Point Vicente, and it is alleged that the accident was due to the negligence of the men on the Zenobia. Damages in $2500 are asked.

OUR YOUNG WOMEN

are so often subject to headache—are languid, pale and nervous—because their blood is thin or insufficient. They are not really sick and hesitate to complain, but they lack that ambition and vivacity which is their birthright. They do not need drugs—but do need the tonic and nourishment in Scott's Emulsion that makes richer blood, fills hollow cheeks, suppresses nervousness and establishes strength. Nourishment alone makes blood and Scott's Emulsion is the essence of concentrated nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or opiates.

If mother or daughter is frail, pale or nervous, give her Scott's for one month and see the betterment. It has a wholesome, "nutty" flavor. Avoid substitutes. At any drug store.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) A general increase in nearly all lines of business is indicated by reports sent to the government by Federal banks in the twelve reserve sections. The lumber trade, especially, is reported active, while railroads are said to be buying new equipment in great quantities. The demand for investments continues, with an ever-increasing valuation of gilt-edged paper.

(For details see financial pages.)

FLYING A SIGNAL.

What a mistake people make in not recognising the difference between diffidence and indifference! Fine natures are diffident and are kept apart when a look or a word would bring them together. Indifference belongs to the callous and undeveloped.

JAW-BREAKING NOMENCLATURE.

The German government some time ago suppressed the Deutsche Tageszeitung and recently it suppressed the Lokalanzeiger. It did a good job. Imagine a newsboy disturbing your slumbers by crying under your window, "Here's your morning Tageszeitungen Lokalanzeiger."

OLD CLOTHES MEMORIAL.

Congressman Roberts of Massachusetts has introduced a bill appropriating $7500 for the purchase by the government of the last suit of clothes worn by Abraham Lincoln. Where did the vendor of those clothes get them? and why should the government buy them? What memories of the great liberator will his breeches awaken, or his coat or vest evoke? From a Lincoln national highway to a Lincoln second-hand clothing memorial seems a long distance, and yet, as the proverb says, "It is but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous."

WILD CANARIES.

Here it is spring and you have not cut back your rose hedge. You don't believe it is spring, but it will take only two straight days of sunshine to bring you under conviction. In California we have many harbingers of spring. The most unfailing is perhaps the least. It is the wild canary. He is no longer than a humming bird and his back is brown, while his breast is yellow. He isn't feathers at all, because he is made of light, and his song is just a little stab of a note which he hurls at you from time to time as a sort of ripost for your unbelief, and all signs are so sure to him. He has been at it two days now in the woods about Los Angeles and you had better take his word for it that spring is here.

A SHIRT TOO SMALL.

To sell a confiding fat man whose linen has not been returned from the laundry, and who calls at the furnishing store for a shirt eighteen inches at the neck, a shirt which, on opening the package at home after the store has closed, he finds to be fourteen and one-half inches at the neck, is not merely a blunder, it is a crime which compels the victim either to stay away from the function where he expected to enjoy love's young dream with the Widow McGillicuddy, or else appear arrayed in a soiled shirt that will queer him with the company.

The careless clerk should be doomed to wear a No. 6 hat on a No. 7 head when it was raining and go without an umbrella and see how he likes it.

NOT "MORALLY" BOUND.

Democratic leaders who feel that they must acquiesce in the renomination of President Wilson, the plank in the Baltimore platform to the contrary notwithstanding, are finding an excuse for their complaisance in the statement that the true intent and meaning of the single-term plank was that the party was committed to a single term on the contingency that Congress should pass a law governing the length of the single term, and that, as Congress has taken no action on the subject, consequently neither the party nor the President is bound, "morally" or otherwise, to observe the single-term declaration. Did anybody of any color, race, sex or previous condition of servitude ever dream that the Democratic party ever was or ever will be "morally bound" to keep any promise it ever made?

WANTED, AN AMERICAN.

Several agencies and influences point to the early retirement from politics of one of our most noted college presidents. As Mr. Carr has aptly expressed it, "The most important plan of national defense that has been advanced is the Republican plan to get rid of Dr. Wilson and elect an American to be President." Mr. Bryan, who is perhaps not an optimist about anything except the subscription list of the Commoner and Henry Ford, earnestly prays that the Republicans may nominate their weakest man, which shows what he thinks about it. There come to ear from time to time, however, rumors of a displeasing nature, even to Republicans, to the effect that those in the United States who are interested in Germany's fortunes of war are willing to spend millions in the defeat of Wilson. If the fight is made to elect an American President, nothing is gained by displacing a man who seems to lean to one side of the war if we elect a man who might lean to another. International money must and shall be kept out of this fight. Wilson can be defeated on straight American franchise and judgment.

INCOME AND INHERITANCE TAXES.

Even subservient Democrats are rebelling at President Wilson's taxation proposals. Some of them are regarded as an additional burden upon industry at a time when it most needs encouragement. The Wall Street Journal aptly says: "If there is one tax that is radically and indefensibly bad it is a tax upon a process of trade, because it tends to destroy or cripple the thing taxed."

The administration of President Wilson has been senselessly extravagant and has made no scientific study of the taxation measures required to meet its extravagance. Its theory is "that the best tax is the one easiest to collect, imposed upon a limited number of persons who cannot show their resentment with their votes."

The income tax is imposed upon 400,000 persons out of 100,000,000. The only excuse for this discrimination against the 400,000 is that they are able to stand it, and the other 99,500,000 do not resent the injustice to the 400,000, because they are followers of Chateaubriand's maxim that "we bear with complacency the misfortunes of others."

Inheritance taxes are worse even than income taxes, because they eat up private capital, while income taxes come out of earnings and therefore do not reduce the country's productive power.

The Wall Street Journal points out "that anyone left an estate of $10,000,000 in Oklahoma by a non-relative, while resident in New York, would, through the folly of the inheritance taxes of those two States, be $1,250,000 worse off than he was before the fortune came to him. In like manner the inheritance tax of New York could easily wipe out an entire estate in four successions."

If these taxes upon capital were used to pay off the national debt something might be said in their favor, but they are used for the increased and increasing expenses incurred by the Democratic administration and Democratic Congress. "The Democratic party, as always, learning nothing from experience, is eating up the seed corn."

BRITAIN'S SPECIAL PLEA.

Consul-General Skinner in London some months ago submitted a report to Secretary Lansing in which he said:

"It continues to be the case that many classes of goods, the exportation of which from the United States to neutral countries is attended with great difficulties and hazards, are going forward freely from Great Britain to the same countries, and in some cases in largely-increased quantities."

Sir Edward Grey, in a note to Ambassador Page, called Consul-General Skinner a—well, a person who was "laboring under a misapprehension of facts," and in response to the reiterated statement of Consul-General Skinner that Great Britain has taken advantage of war conditions in order to increase its exports at the expense of American trade, the British Ambassador at Washington has published a statement filling four columns of the newspapers in which it avers—

1. "That while British export trade has undergone a uniform decrease in practically all articles, the export trade of the United States, in spite of lack of shipping, the complete dislocation of normal conditions of commerce and the measures taken by the allied powers to restrict the trade of their enemies, and quite apart from the export of actual munitions of war, has increased to a phenomenal extent; while British trade has probably suffered more from the embargoes on exports imposed owing to the necessities of war by the British government than has United States trade from the measures in restriction of neutral trade with the enemies of Great Britain."

2. "Reduction in exports from belligerent countries," says the Embassy, "has supplied the opportunity for American industry to replace European products in the markets of South and Central America, the Far East and even in neutral European countries, so that the practical cessation of direct trade with Germany, Austria-Hungary, Belgium and Turkey is more than compensated by the opening up of new markets. From all points of view, therefore," says the Embassy, "it appears that the European war has proved rather beneficial than otherwise to American trade and industry. While any statement that Great Britain is attempting to use the military situation for the purpose of hampering American trade is utterly refuted by the actual facts and figures."

"The actual facts and figures" which are cleverly juggled with by the British Embassy show that, with the exception of raw cocoa, cotton and a few other articles, the exports of Great Britain have increased, while those of the United States have decreased.

3. The British Embassy asserts that a decrease of United States exports to neutral countries is probably in many cases to be explained by the fact that in many lines of industry the United States factories are working at full strength to fill profitable war orders from the allies and no surplus remains for exports to neutral countries and by the further fact that home consumption of certain articles must have increased very largely in view of the greatly decreased imports from all the belligerent countries, so that probably a proportion of the goods which, under ordinary circumstances, would have been exported are now required for the home market.

4. Says the British Embassy in its lengthy reply to the report of Consul-General Skinner:

> "An apparent increase of exports from the United Kingdom is explained in the case of many articles by the fact that large quantities of merchandise from the British colonies which were formerly shipped direct to Hamburg, Bremen, Antwerp and Rotterdam, thence to be distributed among customers in Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, must now be shipped to British ports, thence to be re-exported. These re-exports would swell the volume of exports from the United Kingdom."

That Britain's calamity has been America's opportunity in some respects—such as the manufacture of munitions of war—is not to be denied. Neither can it be denied that Great Britain has endeavored to negative our advantage in every possible way by cutting off our supplies of rubber and dye woods, by seizing our ships and their cargoes on the high seas in defiance of international law, and by borrowing from us the money with which to pay for the guns and munitions she bought from us.

The Getting-Off Place.

A RAINY DAY.

A rainy day is a luxury in Southern California. The relaxation in the atmosphere, the restfulness and the unhurry of a gently falling rain ease our tense nerves and still our unrest. The prospect of a long, quiet uninterrupted day of steady rain is a joy. It means that we can sit down to some special task that has long awaited its time, with no haunting visions of forty other things that "must" or "ought" to be done today. It may be that we shall be able to write the long-neglected letters that are always on our conscience—write real letters, not just hasty notes. Or we may, with a mind at rest, just sit before the fire and read the book or the magazines that we have stowed away for the convenient time.

Even the busiest busybody lets up on the rush on a rainy day. Perhaps he clears out his desk—and sets his brain to rights; perhaps he figures out the scheme that has been lying latent in the back of his head for weeks. In some quiet corner at the club two men may find time to talk "things over" and set at themselves as they never dream of doing when the sun is calling them to action.

A rainy day is especially a day for friends, not acquaintances. Over the teacups or the luncheon table there may be the lingering gossip that ordinarily is crowded out; just two alone, in a cosy corner, on a rainy day—that is living. The calls and the hustle and the engagements of ordinary days are forgotten; the leaden skies, wet streets and falling drops shut us in. For the day we live in peace—and we find ourselves regretting that rainy days do not come oftener and last longer in "the land of the sun."

THE SOUTH IN THE SADDLE.

There are fifty-eight committees of the United States House of Representatives. Thirty-five of the chairmen of these committees are southern Democrats; twenty-three—mostly of the less important committee chairmanships—have been accorded to northern Democrats. Only three first-class committee chairmanships have been given to northern Democrats. Southerners head the Committees on Ways and Means, Military Affairs, Judiciary, Interstate and Foreign Commerce, Rivers and Harbors, Foreign Affairs, Postoffices and Post Roads and Indian Affairs; while the chairmanship of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions and the like fell to the lot of northern Democrats. As no law is ever enacted without a favorable report from the committee having it in charge, and as the chairmen of the committees control their action, it results that the Federal legislation of the country is in the hands of thirty-five southern gentlemen.

Democrats and Republicans have hoped for the last fifty years that the day might come when the antagonisms of the Civil War and the ill feelings of the period of reconstruction should be utterly abated, and our political divisions take place upon other than sectional lines. That such is not the case, and that the North and the South are politically arrayed against each other, as in the days of Grant or of Cleveland, is the fault of southern politicians who treat their northern Democratic allies with no more consideration than they do their Republican antagonists.

Of the 435 electoral votes cast for Wilson only 157 came from twelve Southern and two border States, while 278 came from thirty-three Northern States and one border State. Yet in the distribution of the Federal offices, as well as in the House committee chairmanships, the South, which furnished one-third of the votes, succeeded in obtaining two-thirds of the offices.

The Republicans have never been embarrassed with similar conditions. In the Sixty-second Congress out of 163 Republican members only nine were from the Southern States; in the Sixty-third Congress out of 144 Republicans only ten were from the Southern States, and in the present Congress out of 194 Republicans only nine are from the Southern States, so that if Republican Leader Mann, who will designate the minority members of the committees, shall name one out of every twenty committee members from the Southern States he will act with perfect fairness. There will be no struggle for these places, for a minority membership in a committee does not amount to much, anyhow.

The objection to cleavage on sectional lines is that the South does not govern the country in the interests of the nation; it governs it in the interests of the South. The South is not interested in the manufacture of textiles or leathers or metal goods, and the duties on these were remorselessly reduced. It does not grow on its farms enough agricultural products for its own use, and these were placed by the last Congress on the free list. Only in the case of sugar would it suffer from its own tariff legislation, and it is announced that the duty on sugar will be continued.

The South is not commercial; it is not interested in the restoration of the American ocean marine, and it may be predicted that Wilson's bill to have the government go into the ocean-carrying trade and extirpate what is left of our ocean shipping will receive southern support.

An eastern exchange, commenting on these conditions, says:

"The nation is no longer menaced or alarmed by sectionalism. Division on the present lines is wrong and even dangerous on purely economic grounds. The interests of the country as a whole are neither properly represented nor conserved when important chairmanships of the House are assigned almost exclusively to any one section, whether it be the South, the North or the West. The economic interests of the sections are diverse. Production, manufacture and finance all require impartial and wise recognition in the common interest. The South has a right to be Democratic, if it wants to be; the North has an equal right to be Republican, if that is its choice; but in the organization of a national representative body there should be no South, no North, no West, since the country at large is entitled to the best that all sections and parties have to offer it in thought and service and purpose."

THE COLONEL'S HYMN OF HATE.

[New York Evening Post:] Mr. Roosevelt hates and despises Mr. Wilson more than he does any other man in public life. But this does not mean that, if he tried, the Colonel could not hate and despise somebody worse than he does Mr. Wilson. To say otherwise would be to reflect on the Colonel's versatility and power of emotional concentration. This is the latest explanation of the famous Gary dinner, and a luncheon that took place about the same time. At these functions Mr. Roosevelt let it be known that if the Republicans try to nominate a candidate who is weak on Americanism, meaning preparedness, Mr. Roosevelt will throw his support to Wilson. This is consistent and adequate preparedness. It is preparedness against any possible adversary, Wilson, or whoever is the greater traitor nominated by either party on the un-American platform of disagreeing with Mr. Roosevelt. Believing heart and soul in preparedness, the Colonel has prepared a hymn of hate which may be discharged in any direction, like the guns of the Queen Elizabeth:

Hate of the mind and hate of the spleen.
Hate of the stout and hate of the lean.
Whom will I hate in June, '16?
Wilson!
Burton!
Root! As the case may be.
McCall!

WHITE WINGS.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

The gulls are not as gullible as the name would seem to warrant. An alert, able-bodied ring-bill can spy a meal ticket miles away and he knows how to hang on to it when found. Some of us thought it odd to see these sea-birds swarming like bees in the foothill country, far from the ocean, but it was noted that they were foraging in ever-expanding circles. Conditions combined to cut off their usual fodder and they had to find a new bread line. So they spread over the country, and when any found hospitality or entertainment the word seemed to pass along and presently a fluttering flock would swoop down upon the goods provided.

In our Verdugo hills the gulls have become boon companions. We have a herd that camps on the front lawn at daybreak and remains with us until after the eventide whistle blows. Possibly we gave them too much encouragement to start with. They came to us when we were soaking up a large sack of baker's bread preparatory to giving a changed ration to our interesting collection of poultry. The visitors from the sea took an acute interest in the proceedings. They not only promptly sat in at breakfast, but they remained for luncheon and dinner. After the tables had been cleared away they assembled at the tail end of our little ranch and passed a noisy resolution of thanks.

In the morning a feathered committee waited upon us and sat around in dignified silence until refreshments were served. At that two of them sampled them while the other three circled aloft.

But not for long.

They were merely bearing the message to their companions that breakfast was now ready in the dining car. They came in numbers—fifty or sixty of them—and after a fluttering salute, dropped down to see what the larder contained. The repast only lasted a few moments. The birds stood around chatting, and apparently waiting for another course. Apparently they had their faces fixed for hot waffles and maple syrup. When this combination was not forthcoming the bulk of the flock moved away, leaving a couple of sentries behind to watch the place for us.

These watchful waiters are with us yet. One of them is so tame he answers to the name of Oscar Wilde. He is a stout party with a slate-colored neck, and tries to balance himself on the window sill while breakfast is being prepared. If there is enough for two he permits his partner to have a snack; otherwise he chases him off the lot. If there is enough for five or six he will send out his scout to bear the tidings abroad. Presently he will return with half a dozen companions and the party will lunch as copiously as the menu will permit. When it is all over Oscar will chase the extras away and take up his serious business of guarding our place.

When the fishman comes by and blows his horn Oscar is Johnny-on-the-spot. He flutters around to see that we don't overlook the caller. If we didn't buy something Oscar would ring the doorbell. He can recognise his portions at once. Heads he wins, tails we lose. It's a regular system.

We have a young Rhode Island Red rooster we call Rufus, and we let him have the run of the yard with a couple of pullets. Oscar is very cordial to the young hens, but he and Rufus occasionally mix it at the breakfast table. Oscar doesn't seem to be a bit afraid of Rufus, but he does not fight according to cock-pit methods. If Rufus gets into correct fighting position Oscar merely tries to nose him off the premises. He just leans his beak against the rooster's vest and keeps backing him out of the picture.

The other day Oscar was trying hard to coax the young hens over to a little stone-bordered pool on a neighboring place. He was trying to teach them how to swim. The gull is getting quite chummy with all our poultry. He flies into the various chicken runs and samples all the fodder. Oscar is acquiring a strangely-mixed appetite. He is learning to eat almost everything from field mice to popcorn, but if he doesn't get his coffee cake in the morning he makes a noise like spilling water on a hot stove. The other morning Oscar offered to share his breakfast with a couple of pullets and everybody behaved in a ridiculous manner—in fact, it was almost scandalous. Possibly we may develop a line of poultry that flies away to the beach on Saturday and comes back Monday hungry and with a headache.

Nothing so blooming strange about poultry of that sort, either.

However, our Oscar the Two Eyes is furnishing us as much interest as Brother Ford's ark of the same name.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

WINTRY WINDS.

The wintry wind blows down the village street, and chills men's whiskers as it fiercely spins. How happy they who have the goods to eat, and bright, warm fires by which to toast their shins! I see the homes where comfort reigns supreme, the windows glow, the chimneys cough up smoke; indoors the kids with merry laughter scream, when dad turns loose a prehistoric joke. The men who work in summer, spring and fall, may view the winter with unworried brows, rest in their chairs, their feet against the wall, and hear the singing of their cheerful fraus. There's store of onions by the cellar stair, there's bacon hanging by the kitchen door; the kids have shoes and other things to wear, there's lots of kindling on the woodshed floor. And as I look, some delegates go past, the hungry men, who always are on deck; they hunt a hole in which to dodge the blast, all down and out, each one a sorry wreck. They would not work when summer smiled and glowed, and there was work for every willing hand; they loafed and lounged along the open road, they played and dreamed throughout a busy land.

WALT MASON.

Had Ridden the Rods.

[Chicago News:] The New York Giants were exercising in Texas when one night Mike Donlin crept into the Pullman that was side-tracked at Waco a long while after hours, greatly to the rage of John J. McGraw. Now, according to Donlin, there is supposed to be but one complete humiliation for a ball player who goes against the winter training rules. The culprit is assigned to an upper berth in the sleeper.

McGraw was awakened when the belated Donlin climbed into the car, and says he: "Just for that, Mike, you take an upper."

The manager had forgotten the player's previous servitudes and stealths in the way of personal transportation across the country. But Mike had not forgotten. He said merrily: "All right, John. I've ridden 'em higher than uppers and lower than lowers."

NOMINEES CHOSEN FOR CIVIC BODY.

JOHN S. MITCHELL WILL HEAD COMMERCE CHAMBER.

Sidney A. Butler is Picked for First Vice-President and Bradner W. Lee for Second, at a Meeting of Directors—Ballots will be Cast Next Wednesday.

John S. Mitchell, president and manager of the Hollenbeck Hotel Company, was nominated for president of the Chamber of Commerce, succeeding Robert N. Bulla, yesterday at the annual meeting of the board of directors. Nomination is practically equivalent to election.

Among the other nominations were the following: First vice-president, Sidney A. Butler; second vice-president, Bradner W. Lee; treasurer, R. W. Burnham; chairman Committee on Commerce, Mr. Bulla; chairman Committee on Agriculture and Horticulture, F. Q. Story; chairman Committee on Manufacturing, D. P. N. Little; chairman Committee on Mercantile Affairs, Henry W. Louis; chairman Committee on Mining, Maynard McFie; chairman Committee on Transportation, Watt L. Moreland; chairman Committee on Publications and Statistics, E. B. Rivers; chairman Committee on County and Municipal Affairs, William Mead; chairman Committee on Hotels, Walter E. Smith; chairman Committee on Finance and Auditing, W. D. Longyear; chairman Committee on Building and Permanent Exhibit, Louis M. Cole; chairman Committee on Immigration, A. J. Copp, Jr.; chairman Committee on Boulevards, Parks and Roads, E. W. Murphy; chairman Committee on Expositions, Robert Wankowski; chairman Committee on Membership and Grievances, George Rice, Jr.

The balloting for officers will take place at the chamber the 13th inst., the polls being open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Mr. Mitchell, the nominee for president, has been first vice-president of the chamber the past year. He is one of the hardest workers among the entire membership. By the rule of yearly advancement in office, G. A. Brock was slated for first vice-president, but was forced to decline the honor on account of a press of private business.

PERJURY CASE WITNESS TELLS ABOUT CONFESSIONS.

San Francisco Police Officer Testifies in Local Justice Court to Alleged Incriminating Speech by Defendant—Letters and Scandal Report Figure in Testimony.

Lieut. A. D. Layne of the San Francisco police department, while on the witness stand in the trial of George Bitten, yesterday, declared that the latter had confessed to William Bruton the embezzlement of $750 from Mrs. Ella M. Levy.

The case was on trial in Justice Hinshaw's court. The charge against Bitten is subornation of perjury, in connection with an alleged attempt to bribe Mr. Bruton. According to Lieut. Layne, the dependent told Mr. Bruton that he would share with him the proceeds of his suit against the Los Angeles police department, which he intended to bring on a charge of false imprisonment, and also the proceeds of the sale of some letters incriminating a high public official.

The letters, according to Mr. Bitten's statement to Mr. Bruton, the witness said, were purchased from a woman for $750, which he had obtained from Mrs. Levy, and he wanted Mr. Bruton to say that he had received the money, thus practically freeing Bitten from the charges of having embezzled the sum.

Lieut. Layne also testified that he had heard Bitten tell of a trouble in which a wealthy Los Angeles man had become involved, which included, he said, hiring a man to marry a girl whom the local man had wronged. The objections of Attorney Allendar, for the defendant, were continuous and bitter.

Deputy District Attorney Shelley, who conducted the prosecution, was assisted by Miss Lita Belle Hibben, the newly-appointed woman Deputy District Attorney, who appeared in court the first time in her official capacity.

The trial will be continued today, when it is expected, Mr. Bruton will be called to testify.

IMPERIAL VALLEY LANDS.

Twenty-acre Tracts Offered on Easy Terms.

Down in Imperial county—the richest crop-producing county in the United States—the Southern Pacific Land Company is offering lands for sale in tracts of twenty acres and upwards. Prices are very reasonable and the terms unusually easy.

Imperial Valley is situate in the southeast corner of California, and its climate insures a perpetual growing season. Plants and trees of every description, alfalfa, grain and cotton grow quickly and profusely. Animals here are raised to the highest degree of perfection, reaching a full growth and a larger size than any other stock-raising section; and, as for dairying, profits are large and assured; in fact, there is no other place to compare with Imperial Valley for this industry.

The soil is of a rich sediment extending to a depth of hundreds of feet, and this is one of the main reasons for the quality and quantity of the fruits, melons, berries and vegetables grown. Hog and poultry raising are becoming extraordinarily profitable. Hundreds of thousands of dollars annually are received from the raising and shipping of fowls, turkeys and eggs.

This is the ideal place for the small rancher as well as the large operator; in fact, the small producer in a year or so branches into larger or more diversified pursuits.

LEAVE FINGER PRINTS.

Thumb Marks Cause of Arrest on Burglary Charge.

Frank Mann and Vicente Murillo, charged with robbery of the hardware department of the Consolidated Lumber Company, and the saloons of John Heinerd and "Curley" Moore, at Watts, were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Fox and Nolan. In the hardware store the burglars had been very careless and left evidence of their visit in finger prints on dusty cases, on doors and various other places.

Comparison of the finger prints of the two men and those found in the store tallied, the officers assert, and the prisoners made a virtual confession of their guilt by telling where some of the loot was hidden. Most of it consisted of fountain pens, knives, safety razors and tools.

Enjoys Golf Links.

Frank H. Mackey, a polo player of international reputation, who is spending the winter at the Beverly Hills Hotel, returned yesterday from Coronado, where he has been enjoying the polo match. Mr. Mackey is an American by birth, but has spent the last twenty years in England, and it was there he distinguished himself as a polo player, having captained teams from England to play at Coronado, Del Monte and Burlingame on three different occasions. Mr. Mackay will return to his home in Leamington, Eng., as soon as the war is over. Though he has now retired from polo, Mr. Mackey's interest in the sport is as keen as ever. His hobby now is golf, however, and he is a frequenter of the links of the Los Angeles Country Club.

Country Club Dinner.

Miss Eleanor Banning, the most feted debutante, was made the motif for an elaborate dinner-dance at the Los Angeles Country Club last night. Mrs. William May Garland, Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mrs. William Andrews Clark, Jr., and Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin were hostesses, and responsible for an especially beautiful affair. Fifty covers were laid for the table, graced by the fair society bud, and twelve guests occupied the Dutch treat board nearby.

Honoring Miss Thompson.

In compliment to their daughter, Miss Bernice, who is spending the holidays at home from her studies at the University of California, Mr. and Mrs. T. Thompson entertained with a jolly dancing party at their home in Hollywood, New Year's Eve, forty college and high and school friends of the honoree being in attendance. Seasonable decorations, including a gayly-tinseled tree and numerous ropes of smilax and flaming poinsettias, added to the festive appearance of the rooms. Before midnight each guest was presented with a noise-maker, and right merrily was the new year ushered in. Supper was served buffet and after midnight college songs and stories were enjoyed.

Miss Thompson's visit is to conclude Sunday.

In Pink and White.

On Friday at the Sierra Madre Club, Miss Florence Danforth will be an auction bridge hostess, having bidden for guests that day Miss Florence Howard, Miss Juanita Lane, Miss Wilhelmina Rector, Miss Cora Boettcher, Mrs. Mable Boettcher, Mrs. Frederick Jungquist, Mrs. Frank B. Hanger, Mrs. Howard Clark, Mrs. Havel Lane, Mrs. Howard Clatworthy, Miss Hazel Goodwin, Miss Vera Hall, Mrs. Walter Overell, Mrs. Estella Pinehoute and Mrs. Earl Rogers.

Pink and white are to predominate in the decorations.

For a Visitor.

A pretty social hour is to be extended Mrs. Arthur Fin, an attractive young matron of Wichita, Kan., tonight when Mr. and Mrs. Mike Levee of the Bryson entertained with dancing and supper. About thirty of the younger married set are invited to meet the visitor.

Welcome Mrs. Van Nuys.

The many friends of Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys are extending to this beloved matron a hearty welcome back to Los Angeles, after an absence of several months, many weeks having been spent at the San Francisco exposition. Mrs. Van Nuys has again taken a suite at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Victim of the Germs.

Miss Cora Boettcher, popular young society girl, who was taken suddenly ill Friday with an aggravated case of tonsilitis which prevented her being guest of honor at the New Year's Eve dinner-dance at the Sierra Madre Club with Dr. E. M. Spates as host, is now convalescing, and will soon be able to resume her social duties. Miss Boettcher enjoyed many delightful holiday functions prior to her illness.

At the Sierra Madre.

The calendar of social events at the Sierra Madre Club includes a bridge party in the ladies' dining-room for the evening of the 11th inst., a formal dinner-dance on the 29th, a children's Valentine party Saturday, February 12; a bridge party for February 15, and a masquerade ball for February 19. The bridge parties are for both ladies and gentlemen.

MILLION DOLLAR CAMPAIGN.

Executive Committee Plans Details for Two Weeks' Work.

The Executive Committee for the Occidental College campaign to raise $1,000,000 in two weeks held its first official meeting yesterday at the Alexandria, and much enthusiasm was shown. Dr. John Willis Baer, president of Occidental, spoke, pointing out the advantages of the short campaign. This will also be a celebration of the tenth anniversary of Dr. Baer as president of this college.

It was shown by the reports that a vast army of volunteer workers will be in the field for the two weeks' work, and that it is possible to make a great many new friends for Occidental by judicious efforts during this campaign.

Separate tasks of organization were alloted to the various members of the committee, and it was arranged to hold another luncheon at the Alexandria next Monday noon, at which time reports on progress will be made.

Those participating in the discussions yesterday were Hon. Frank P. Flint, Louis M. Cole, Lorin A. Handley, Lynn Helm, H. Jevne, R. W. Pridham, Judge Wood, Dr. Baer, David B. Gamble, W. E. McVey and Frank May.

HERE FOR WINTER.

Mississippi Valley Editor and Wife Renew Old Friendship.

Col. Edmund M. Botsford, president of the Quincy Herald Company, and for more than thirty years a substantial specimen of the Mississippi Valley editor, has taken a suite at the Hershey Arms for the season, and with his charming wife is renewing old friendships here in Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Coronado and other coast resorts.

Although Mr. Botsford has worn the editorial harness for many years he has not permitted the collar to chafe his neck. He has the world's record of making "the baby" on the Coronado links in one stroke. Of course, it was an accident, but accidents are what newspaper people thrive on.

Mrs. Botsford is a daughter of the late Thomas Butterworth, a famous old school politician of Illinois, and one time State Treasurer. He was a pioneer in the gas and electric industry, and at his death owned these public service plants in his home city of Rockford.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST.

Albert Tirman, Chief Commissioner of the French Republic to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon en route East. He will be the guest of L. N. Brunswig while here. It is Mr. Tirman's intention to start this morning for Washington, where he will confer with the French Ambassador. Mr. Tirman expects to sail for Bordeaux the 15th inst. on board the Lafayette.

NEW ASPECT TO "MELTING POT."

Significance Increases in Light of War Events.

Shows Right to Rank Among Our Greatest Actors.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

Walker Whiteside has done a fine thing. He has discovered America. He has also been unusually frank about it by admitting that the real American has not yet arrived. His burning lines read, with the emphasis of admirable reserve at the Mason yesterday afternoon and last night, were doubly significant in this present hour of world peril, when every other citizen of the United States is ready to imagine an international crisis to be upon our unprepared heels.

At such a time as this our zeal becomes overwhelming and sometimes overbearing. Each of us believes that he has the only Simon pure Americanism extant. Each of us is equally sure that affairs must henceforth be run on a different basis. All of us know what is the matter with the country, and we are eager to supply the need on short order. We know, for instance, that we must have an American for a President, and some Americans in the Cabinet and in Congress. It must be at once arranged that all future babies shall be born with military training, and we must have a new battleship every ten days. Above all else, ancestors are not to be permitted. America is not old enough for American ancestors, and foreign ancestors would be unpatriotic and hyphenating.

It is disturbing, therefore, just when we have all been doing so well, persuading ourselves of our inherent and eternal Americanism, that Walker Whiteside should dig up Israel Zangwill, and "The Melting Pot," and throw the whole bunch of us back into that fiery crucible of nondescripts.

Right in the face of a nation that has made up its mind that no man shall remember that he had a grandfather, and in the face of such orders from Washington that no man shall admit that any other government has ideals except the one we are living under, comes Mr. Whiteside in the name of Zangwill, and declares that our ideals are only in the formation and daring to preach the curious gospel that the business of America is to evolve the American. He was as good as telling us to our faces that we are too absurdly new as a nation to feel that we are half finished, and that our one chance to survive is first to arrive. It was a healthy and almost a humorous reminder, that our only justification for scorning the old is to continue to produce something gloriously new, and that before we can begin to refine upon refinement, we must make a start at working up our raw material.

It could not be by any chance that Mr. Whiteside has chosen "The Typhoon" to warn us on the one hand and "The Melting Pot" to laugh at us on the other, but he gives us a lusty spanking in both cases and I, for one don't think it will hurt us in either case.

There is nothing in literature that better expresses the fusion of all races into the American citizen than "The Melting Pot," and Zangwill has really accomplished what he has his character David doing where he says he can only hold out his hands with prayer and music for the republic of man, and the Kingdom of God.

HAS NEW MEANING.

He turns away from Europe, sodden with blood, to this great country in the making, where the roaring fires of God are melting the strength of all races for the birth of the American race. Nor does he make the mistake of putting this creation off into the future, but recognizes in every arrival of immigrants at Ellis Island fresh material for this sublime work of the father of nations.

He voices a robust contempt for the sterile sickness of a few of the American rich who believe they can only find a fit art and culture in the dying countries of Europe, and he makes his appeal to the present and to the future, turning without sentiment and without superstition from a past that has served its day.

Now Zangwill is not an American, but he has understood us, has hoped for us, has loved us, and told the truth about us, and we have to thank Walker Whiteside for daring to give us this much needed lesson with the force of his beautiful art.

Whiteside becomes more satisfying as an artist every day that he spends upon the stage. His reading at the Mason yesterday afternoon was memorably good. He has long outgrown the folly of declaiming, and has learned something of wonderful worth. He has learned the value of tenderness. His voice has a quality that clutches at the heart-strings, and Mr. Whiteside has learned the full measure of its appeal. I hope I am not presuming when I say that when he adds to this dulcet pathos a certain supressed hardness like the glint of steel he will have only David Warfield, Forbes-Robertson, and possibly one or two others mentioned before him. As it is, it is more pleasant to hear him read from an uninteresting play than to see other men of greater dramatic emphasis flashing through the passages of plays with fine action.

Not by any chance would I be understood as considering "The Melting Pot" as anythink but mediocre for stage purposes. It has an atmosphere exceedingly difficult to enter at once. Much of the first act drags by before you can see what it is about, and even then you see little excuse for it as a play. It tells the sad truth about the Jews in Russia, and the glad truth about all people in America, but this does not make it interesting as a drama, and I cannot see that anything does happen of sufficient importance to give this the place on the stage that it deserves among letters. I am used to propaganda as literature, and I can't learn to like it as food for the stage.

Mr. Whiteside has probably taken this piece as a balance for "The Typhoon" which is a "corking" good drama, whether it is true or not. I will tell you why it is good. It is good, because no one who has seen it ever forgets it. Now, I seriously doubt whether anybody ever remembers "The Melting Pot" from one time to the next.

Mr. Whiteside's support was not sensationally good, although it seemed to be saved in spots, the brightest one being Arda La Croix, as David's uncle.

Clune's Auditorium.

Good-bye to "Ne'er-Do-Well," and welcome to "The Spoilers," at Clune's Auditorium, next week. Nearly 100,000 persons are said to have viewed the "Ne'er-Do-Well," filmed from the Rex Beach story.

Next week, beginning Monday, "The Spoilers," in an enlarged version, filmed from the Rex Beach novel of the same name, will be the attraction. "The Spoilers," on its initial showing, ran nearly as long as "The Clansman," and it is said that in the expanded version, the photoplay is far more fascinating even than in the original form.

Tally's Broadway.

Pauline Frederick in "Lydia Gilmore" is drawing well at Tally's Broadway this week. Miss Frederick is rapidly becoming one of the most favored of film stars.

Next week the attraction will be "The Great Divide," with House Peters and Ethel Clayton in the leading roles.

This is a notable film feature, not only because of the fact that it was considered in its stage form as the "great American drama," but because of the fact that its leading actors are prime favorites of the screen. An added attraction is the fact that many of the scenes of the picture were filmed in the Grand Canyon of Colorado, exactly as described in the thrilling play.

This is the first of the personally selected photoplays Mr. Tally will present to the public.

Majestic.

De Wolf Hopper is scoring an immense success this week at the Majestic in "Don Quixote," filmed from the ancient Spanish classic. The quaint fancifulness of the old tale is excellently preserved, while to its telling is brought all the genius of the noted actor, famous internationally on the speaking stage.

Quinn's Superba.

Monday promises a sensational film, "Camille," done by Clara Kimball Young, the film favorite. Miss Young's past performances in pictures assure a strong and fascinating portrayal of "Camille," and her remarkable beauty should in this instance be a great asset.

The film is said indeed to be one of the best ever made.

Symphony.

William Faversham, the noted stage star, in "One Million Dollars" is drawing well at the Symphony. The film play is a charming one, and Mr. Faversham appears in it to the best advantage.

Next week, beginning Monday, the offering will be little Mary Miles Minter, 13 years old, said to be the youngest star in the world, who scored such a marvelous success in "Emmy of Stork's Nest," and who will be seen at the Symphony Theater next week in "Barbara Freitchie."

Woodley.

Constance Collier, the internationally noted London star in the role of the witty, tender and strong-minded grand opera idol in the "The Tongues of Men" at the Woodley, has a role especially suited to her great personal beauty and artistic strength. The duel of wits between the aristocratic, high church rector and the emotional grand opera diva, whose performance is a sensational opera, the rector denounces from the pulpit, is an interesting one. Forrest Stanley has the role of the young rector and gives a convincing portrayal.

Next week Mary Pickford will be presented in another sterling characterization in "The Foundling."

Sherman.

The Sherman Theater, at 518 South Main street, will open today, presenting Cyril Maude, the noted English actor, and Lois Meredith, star of "Help Wanted," in "The Greater Will."

The photoplay is said to be an especially strong one, thrillingly dramatic and well acted throughout.

Palace of Pictures.

Blanche Ring, the clever comedienne, will be seen on the screen for the first time in this city at the Palace of Pictures next week. She will be featured in the first run comedy production, "The Yankee Girl." This was one of her biggest comedy successes on the stage, and has even been made funnier with the filming.

Marguerite Clark, the dainty little dramatic actress, is attracting large audiences this week in "Still Waters," declared by many critics to be her most effective masterpiece. "Still Waters" will be seen until Sunday night, and Monday "The Yankee Girl" will begin a week's engagement.

Clune's Broadway.

Today's change of programme at Clune's Broadway Theater will bring "The Wanderers," a Vitagraph three-part drama made in Los Angeles; "Mile-a-Minute Monty," an Essanay comedy; "The Missing Mummy," a Kalem fun vehicle, and the usual song numbers and news pictorials.

Elizabeth Burbridge will be featured in next Monday's programme in "The House of Revelation," an Essanay three-part drama. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew will be seen in "His Wife Knew About It." Eugenie Besserer will be starred in "The Devil-in-Chief," a Selig drama.

Miller's.

Robert B. Mantell, who has in the short time he has been working in the silent drama gained a vast following, adds to his laurels by his remarkable performance in "The Green-Eyed Monster" now being shown at Miller's Theater. His interpretation of the role of a man consumed by an overpowering jealousy is a compelling one, and he is ably supported by beautiful Genevieve Hamper, Stuart Holmes and others.

Next week's special attraction is to be Richard Mansfield's greatest triumph, "A Parisian Romance," in which his famous role of Baron Chevrial, censor of feminine loveliness, is played by the well-known character actor, H. Cooper Cliffe.

Alhambra.

Theda Bara, Jane Lee, Stuart Holmes and Claire Whitney are all appearing to good advantage in "The Galley Slave" at the Alhambra this week. Rarely has there been as much interest regarding a feature as has been shown by the patrons of the theater this week.

Next week's attraction is to be "The Unfaithful Wife," with Robert Mantell in the leading role.

Walker Whiteside is scoring heavily in "The Typhoon" and in "The Melting Pot," his two great successes, at the Mason this week. Mr. Whiteside is one of the subtlest as well as one of the strongest of American actors, and his work in these two dramas is above criticism. "The Typhoon" will be given during the remainder of the week with the exception of Saturday night, when Israel Zangwill's "The Melting Pot" will be presented.

Next week, commencing Monday night, the big George M. Cohan success, "It Pays to Advertise," will be the attraction. This comedy is one of the big eastern successes, and is described as "giving you the laughing treatment." It presents, with the light of humor upon it, the big audacious, large-visioned American business spirit.

Burbank.

The curtain falls for the last time on the Burbank company as such, Saturday night. The last performance of "Kick In," will be given. Willard Mack's gripping and human crook play has been a tremendous success, but must close to make room for other attractions. Florence Rockwell and [illegible] Edmund Lowe, as well as [illegible] bers of the Burbank [illegible] scoring heavily.

Orpheum.

The Orpheum Road Show [illegible] ly selected by Martin [illegible] trate his idea of what a [illegible] show should be, will be [illegible] the Orpheum, beginning [illegible] afternoon.

The Owner of a Cadillac Eight Does Not Envy the Owner of Any Other Car

The Eight-Cylinder Cadillac performs with greatest ease and with the expenditure of less mental effort and less physical effort on the part of the operator than any other car.

The Eight-Cylinder Cadillac negotiates bad roads and hills with greater ease and with greater comfort to driver and passengers than you probably have thought possible in any car.

The Eight-Cylinder Cadillac performs more delightfully under all kinds of conditions than you have probably ever dreamed possible in any motor car.

In Hurry.

STROUD LEAVES TO PICK COACH.

California Manager Sent on Trip to East.

Great Number of Applicants to be Visited.

Zuppke, Illinois Man, Seems Good Prospect.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—A special session of the University of California Executive Committee last night resulted in action which will mean the selection of a football coach for the Bears within the next three weeks. Tonight Manager Stroud leaves for Chicago, and, subject to the sanction of the committee, is to choose a coach before he returns.

Stroud will have full power to fix the term of employment, salary and other details, plus the big task of picking the right man. He will go directly through to Chicago, and from there will make excursions to personally interview candidates for the job.

THE REASONS.

This sudden decision to hurry the matter of selecting a coach comes because of two things. There is now accumulated in the manager's office no less than fifty-one applications, all of which have voluminous recommendations appended. Enough data has been received to furnish material for a record of nearly every prominent coach in the country. After viewing this pile, and studying its contents, Stroud and the committee have come to the conclusion that the practical way to hunt a coach is to go where coaches abound. Thus, Stroud goes East.

COMPETITION.

A second, and even more pressing reason, is that this seems to be a season when many colleges are looking for coaches. Several men, upon whom California has cast an approving eye, are being watched by other colleges. In other words, Stroud is going to get into the field while there are still coaches to capture.

From fifty-one the field of choice has narrowed down to about ten men, all of whom Walter Camp has recommended. It will be with these ten that Stroud will concern himself, and it is likely that the number will be lessened before Chicago is reached.

NO BUSINESS DONE.

A number have been mentioned as possible coaches, but no selection has been made. Stroud has opened negotiations with none of the applicants, many of whom have applied anonymously that they might not impair the safety of their present positions.

It is unlikely that California will exceed the $6000 mark when it comes to salary. The limit is necessary because of financial conditions at present. This amount is not sufficient to tempt the bigger coaches of the East, but is large enough to command good talent.

A PROSPECT.

Zuppke, coach at Illinois, will undoubtedly receive consideration from Stroud, though he denies that he has made any overtures to him. Zuppke, a former Wisconsin star, won the championship of the Big Nine last season and tied this year. Stroud is impressed with his record.

Other men probably to be interviewed are John Macklin, coach of Michigan Aggies; Fred J. Murphy, Northwestern; George H. Brooks, Pennsylvania; A. S. Smith, Purdue; Glenn Warner, Pittsburgh, and John Rush, Princeton.

The importance of the power delegated to Stroud and of the matter in hand caused the Executive Committee to include in its session a special committee of alumni. They were Dean Witter, crew captain '09; J. K. Moffatt, '99, board of regents; Herm Phager, '12, football player, and J. Black, '12, of the varsity squad.

A local man will be selected to coach the Bear baseball team.

SALE OF CLUB COMPLETE TODAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 5. — The sale of the Lincoln Western League baseball club will be formally completed tomorrow, the announcement being made late today following a meeting between Hugh L. Jones, the present owner of the club, and four of the five directors of the stock company formed to purchase the franchise. An agreement was reached to dispose of the club at the option price of $12,500, it was announced.

THOMSON TO ENTER U.S.C.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—Long Beach's loss will be the University of Southern California's gain next month, when Earl Thomson, star track and football man, graduates from the local institution.

Thomson, although a versatile athlete, is at his best on the track. He holds the Pacific Coast interscholastic record in the high hurdles with a mark of 15s. flat, and should fill the gap in the obstacle department of track athletics left vacant this year at U.S.C. by Fred Kelly.

Thomson established a new Coast record in the high hurdles in the State interscholastic meet at Palo Alto last spring by clipping 1-5 of a second off the previous best time.

Thomson also consistently clears the bar at over six feet in the high jump, making a six foot, two-inch jump last spring in the same meet that he set up a new record in the high hurdles. He is also a good broad jumper and runs the low sticks in excellent time.

The Long Beach marvel is also a remarkable athlete in the respect that he has developed into an exceptional performer both in track and football in spite of a bad hole in his side sustained several years ago when the accidental discharge of a shotgun blew out a couple of his ribs. His injury, however, never bothers him, he says.

Great Rejoicing.

POWERS LANDS FRANK CHANCE.

Peerless Leader will Guide Seraphs' Destiny.

Los Angeles has Greatest of Minor Managers.

Former Cub Player also Buys Some Stock.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Frank Chance is manager of the Los Angeles club. Details by which he is to assume this position were arranged at a conference between President Powers and the Peerless Leader last night.

The contract will be signed today, it is announced. However, that is now a mere formality. Action taken at last night's conference confirmed the story published a week ago.

A GREAT THING.

This gives Los Angeles the greatest manager in the history of minor-league baseball. Baseball lore does not record where a man of Chance's caliber and reputation has identified himself with minor-league ball. It is like securing Mack or McGraw, and surpasses the fondest dreams of Coast League fans.

Chance becomes part owner as well as manager. He has taken over a majority of the stock of T. J. Darmody and, according to Powers, will own more than a quarter-interest of the club. Darmody still retains a few shares, but has practically severed his connection with baseball in an active sense, it is stated.

RIGHT TO WORK.

Chance will get on the job immediately, and it is known to be his ambition to give Powers the greatest club ever seen in Los Angeles.

His appointment is one which will arouse country-wide interest, and it will place Los Angeles on the baseball map as it has never been before. In this city the selection is sure to be sweepingly popular, while the rest of the great United States will sit up and take notice as never before.

LOYAL.

Chance is a "native son," and in consenting to re-enter baseball here he was actuated in a degree by sentiment. He played his first ball in Fresno, but only as an amateur. He went directly from the sun-kissed

REFUSE OFFER OF FREE TRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The offer of the California Golf Association to furnish free a special train to carry competitors in the next amateur championship tournament of the Western Golf Association to the Pacific Coast and back, provided the meet be awarded to the Del Monte club, was refused today by a majority vote of a meeting of the board of directors of the Western Golf Association. This decision should be over-ridden at the annual meeting, January 18.

The reason assigned was that the acceptance of the offer would violate the bylaws' definition of an amateur as one who is not permitted to accept traveling or living expenses for playing over a course or for participating in a golf tournament, contest or exhibition.

The selection of a course over which to decide the western amateur championship will be made at the annual meeting of the Western Golf Association in Chicago on January 18. Reports indicate that a majority in favor of the Del Monte course had been made likely by the proposal of the California golfers to overcome the objection of distance by providing free transportation. The other active contestants for the tournament are the Midlothian Country Club of Chicago, and the Omaha Country Club.

JONES MANAGER OF THE BROWNS.

ALSO BECOMES SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT OF CLUB.

Is Provided in Final Deal for Team that Hedges, Retiring President, Pay Syndicate Money Received from Boston Americans for Catcher Agnew.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5.—Fielder Jones, who managed the St. Louis Federals last season, took managerial charge of the St. Louis Americans today. He also became second vice-president of the club.

It developed today that in the final agreement for the transfer of the St. Louis Americans to the new owners—Phil Ball, Otto Stifel and their associates—it was provided that Robert L. Hedges, retiring president of the club, should pay the syndicate that handled the deal $6000, which he received from the Boston Americans for Catcher Agnew, who was sold to Boston before the peace agreement was signed, but after the syndicate had obtained an option on the St. Louis Americans.

The syndicate, however, took over all debts of the club including the $5000 judgment in favor of John O'Connor, former manager of the club, which was affirmed by the St. Louis Court of Appeals yesterday.

BENTON BANGS IS THE CAPTAIN.

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 5.—Benton Bangs, left half-back on the Washington State College football team, will be captain of the eleven next year, it was announced here today on the arrival of the squad from Pasadena, Cal.

Bangs was elected by his team-mates on the train last night. He is the only member of the eleven who is not a resident of Washington, his home being at Albion, Idaho. He has the distinction of being the only player who was picked for the all-northwestern team by every sporting writer in the Northwest.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Jan. 5.—Ted Lewis of England and "Kid" Graves of New York have been signed to meet here January 17 in a ten-round no-decision boxing contest.

DIETZ IS NOT INDIAN BRAVE.

Journalist Claims He is a German-American.

Was Born in Wisconsin at Town of Rice Lake.

BY AD G. WADDELL.

William Henry Dietz, much-heralded football coach at Washington State College, is not an Indian.

According to word received yesterday from Rex Lampman, the Walter Camp of the Northwest and football critic on the Oregon Journal, Dietz is a German-American. The beautiful subriquet, "Lonestar," is but a stage name, according to the Portland newspaper man.

HIS ORIGIN.

Lampman says that Dietz was born at Rice Lake, Wis., in 1884. His father was William W. Dietz, prominent business man of that section and for three terms Sheriff of Barron county, Wisconsin. His mother's maiden name was Anna R. Glieder. Both parents were Americans of German descent.

Dietz's Indian career did not begin, according to Lampman, until he had become famous as a football player in Minnesota during 1903.

INDIAN STUFF.

In 1899 Dietz entered Rice Lake High School. For four years he starred on the football team and in his senior year was captain. Graduating in 1901, the husky youngster matriculated at Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., playing right tackle during the seasons of 1902 and 1903. In 1903 he was picked for the All-star Minnesota eleven and given the right-tackle berth. His diving tactics and seeming immunity from injury won for him the subriquet of the "Terrible Indian."

The reputation of the "Terrible Indian" spread throughout the country and when the Chilocco Indian School of Oklahoma started to recruit the world's fair Indian baseball club in 1904 the manager corresponded with the "Terrible Indian" and Dietz signed under the name of "Lonestar."

During the previous summer Dietz had played professional ball in the Northern Wisconsin League on the Superior (Wis.) club. He held down the third-base job. The world's fair Indian club was a fast outfit and Dietz was lucky to get in on the outfield.

ON DIAMOND.

Joining the Indian school team in the early spring of 1904, Dietz played center field in forty-six games, his team winning thirty-nine of them, the majority being played at the St. Louis exposition. It is claimed that this team was the greatest ball-playing Indian outfit ever gathered together.

The "Lonestar" person got away with the Indian act so well that the next year he went to Carlisle, where he stepped out as a football-playing Indian of the first water. Under Glenn Warner he lined up against the best that Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and the rest of them had. After completing his course he stayed on at Carlisle as assistant coach; then he showed up at Washington State and put out the greatest team ever developed in the West.

GOOD IMPOSTOR.

The "Lonestar" part was so well carried that Dietz is said to have even gone into the Indian camps and fooled the redmen. How he got by with the customs and language is a hard problem to dope out, but it seems that he did that very thing.

It is claimed that Rex Lampman went to Rice Lake High School with Dietz. His father owned a paper in Rice Lake and young Lampman kept tab on Dietz's career from the time he left high school to enter Macalester College until they met in the Northwest, when Dietz arrived to take charge of the Washington State gridiron squad.

Coach Dietz could not be reached last night to affirm or deny the rumor.

Stanford Alumni Urge Adoption of the Freshman Rule.

Coming Up.

AMERICAN GAME IS ASKED FOR.

Stanford Alumni Vote for Cards to Play It.

Portland Association Gives the Same Advice.

Recommend that Freshman Rule be Retained.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

Stanford may use freshmen and play Rugby again next year, but if she does she will fly in the face of her alumni and be without their sympathy.

The Cardinal alumni in this city joined the band wagon yesterday. They unanimously advised Stanford not to use freshmen. And, by a vote of 50 to 14, they asked for a return to the old game. They gave as their reason—expediency.

SAME ADVICE.

The alumni at Portland gave the same advice, only stronger. The San Francisco body was against using freshmen, but for Rugby. That leaves those who are where the American game is played strongly in favor of it and those who are in the stronghold of Rugby opposed to the old game.

Only two other alumni bodies are to be heard from. They are located in Chicago and New York. It is a safe enough bet that both of those will come out strong for the old game and the elimination of the first-year men.

QUIEN SABE.

Just what effect the action of their alumni will have on the Cardinals remains to be seen. They cannot ignore it entirely. The local Stanford men differed in their opinions. They all seemed to think that the barring of freshmen was assured. Most of them hoped that the American game would come next fall, or in 1917 at the latest.

"It's not a question any longer," explained one Stanford grad, "as to whether Rugby is the better game. If we are going to have relations with other universities, not California necessarily, we have to play the old game and bar freshmen, for all these others do. English may be a fine language. A man may think it the best in the world. But that will not get him any bread if he's hungry and trying to get bread from a Chinese coolie in Peking.

MUST COME.

"The freshman rule is here as far as Stanford is concerned, and the old game is coming," said Mow Mitchell. "They cannot be avoided. It's that or the death of athletic competition."

Sam Lindauer was inclined to think that the American game had as good chance of coming in the fall as two or three years from now, although he was not willing to admit that it would ever come.

Those favoring the old game for competition's sake are putting much stock in the resignation of Dr. Angell as chairman of the Athletic Committee. Dr. Angell has opposed the old game as if it were poison. He was as set in his views as concrete that has stood a couple of days in the mold and as hard to handle. But he has gone to handle the Belgium relief fund, and the Cards see a light ahead.

FOR RUGBY.

But Lindauer says the Prof. A. O. Murray, Angell's successor, is more firmly against the old game than he who has gone. Prof. Murray is the father of Lyn Murray, the tennis player, and of Fred Murray, national champion in the high and low hurdles. But Prof. Murray, according to Sam Lindauer, is an Englishman and a sportsman who believes in sport for the greatest number of students.

President Wilbur has come out almost as strongly for Rugby and against the old game as Dr. Jordan. "The hope of forcing the old game upon the faculty," concluded Lindauer, "is the same hope that Billy Goat has when he tries to buck through a stone wall."

ALL READY.

But however that may be, the local body of the alumni have come out for the old game and the barring of freshmen from athletics. And they have appointed a committee consisting of Judge B. F. Bledsoe, G. B. Bush, G. W. Bryer, A. Wright and Mow Mitchell to draw up their resolutions and submit them to the Stanford students.

SENIORS COME BACK AND WIN A GAME.

The L. A. High senior 140-pound basketball team made up for defeat at the hands of the 120-pound team by defeating the juniors, 25 to 13, yesterday afternoon. The game was well played. The boys seemed to be getting a grasp on the new rules. Very few fouls were called on either team.

The game was a fight from start to finish, good teamwork on both sides being a feature. At the end of the first half the score stood: Seniors 9, juniors 6.

The seniors kept their lead in the second half and were not in danger of being overtaken in any part of this period.

Pat Dougherty, the L.A.A.C. center, played a star game for the seniors and was the cause of most of their points. Both the Scott brothers, Dan and Ewing, played stellar games.

Seniors.		Juniors.
D. Scott	Forward	Sayer
Harrison, A. Roth	Forward	Fleming
Pat Dougherty	Center	Atwood, Hill
E. Scott	Guard	Robertson
J. Cummings	Guard	Vesey

FULTON GLAD TO GET MATCH.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Fred Fulton left for New Orleans this morning, where he will battle Porky Flynn on January 28. Mike Collins, his manager, went with him.

Both are delighted over landing a match. Collins says that after Porky and a few others are cleaned up Willard will have no justification for backing out of a fight with Fulton.

Elliot Binzen,

The 17-year-old Fordham collegian, who recently listed his name among the tennis champions of the United States by defeating James Weber, Chicago youngster of equal age representing Phillips-Andover, three sets out of four, in the finals of the junior national indoor singles, which were held in New York. Binzen established his championship rating decisively and effectively, winning by 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2, and defeating his western opponent cleverly.

Got This?

STANFORD HAS A PEACE PROPOSAL.

WILL RENEW RELATIONS IF BEARS PLAY RUGBY.

Alumni Make Four Recommendations Calculated to Heal California Breach—Freshman Rule Must be Adopted Immediately or no Business Can be Done.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—A Stanford alumni committee has submitted proposals to Paul Wilson, president of the student body of Stanford, which, if adopted, will heal the breach with California and provide a way for the two universities to get together on a spring sports schedule.

The recommendations comprise four sections:

(1.) That freshmen be eliminated from intercollegiate competition upon three conditions:

(2.) That California must require of athletes the same relative standard of scholarship as is required at Stanford.

Paul Wilson, Stanford student body president, said tonight: "These proposals are satisfactory to me, and I believe that they will be adopted. We realize that California is our natural rival and we should like to renew relations."

On the California campus the resolutions have brought favorable comment. California has already agreed to all of the restrictions asked by Stanford, and there is no question but that the students will agree also.

Charles Street, president of the student body, says: "We are willing to make any reasonable concession if we can secure the adoption of the freshman rule. That has been our fight. We will gladly submit, as we have before said, to the restrictions if we are thus enabled to resume relations."

The Stanford student body convenes next week, and at that time the proposals will be laid before the meeting. If adopted the breach, now standing close to a year, will be healed.

It will mean that California and Stanford will meet in baseball, track and crew. It will be a solution to the most vexing problem that the two universities have ever faced.

COMPTON SENIORS ARE SCHOOL CHAMPS.

The senior basketball team of the Compton High School defeated the freshmen yesterday, thereby annexing the basket title of the school. The score was 19 to 15. Cocke and Dillingham were largely responsible for the victory of the older boys, while Reed and Newby did good work for the freshmen.

Coach Raymond Hunt announces that his first game of the season will take place with the U.S.C. preps next Tuesday.

BOLES MAY NOT GET POMONA COACHING JOB.

Since Walter Boles will have to report to the Angels for spring training about the middle of March it seems that he will not get the job of coaching Pomona College. It is thought that the Huns need a coach for the entire season and therefore Walter will probably be passed up.

EMPRESS CLUB SHUT BY THE FIRE CHIEF.

Fire Chief Eley ordered yesterday that the Empress Athletic Club be closed because of inadequate facilities for handling the crowd in case of fire. This step marks the passing of two local fight clubs, the Western having been put out of business for the same cause.

HOLIDAY MARATHON BEING DISCUSED.

Wallie Robb, secretary of the local A.A.U. branch, is agitating for a marathon race to be held on Washington's Birthday. He thinks that a jaunt from Los Angeles to Pasadena would be ideal sport for the holiday. The race would be finished at Bovard Field, where the A.A.U. is going to stage a relay carnival on the afternoon of February 22.

Here They Are.

MANY BENGALS TO PICK FROM.

Twelve will be Pruned from Reserve List.

Moran Demanded More Money than Allowed.

Patterson has New Plan for Salary Limits.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Mater and Patterson have no less than twenty-eight athletes from which to fashion their shackles. For some reason or other reports have gone forth of releases of certain players which never have taken place.

CONFUSION.

As a result the situation is somewhat gummed up in the public mind and some of the players have stated that they hardly know their own status. This chaotic condition is due largely to ill-founded or premature stories of releases or trades which were given publicity.

As a matter of fact, with the exception of Wilhoit and Piercy, who go to the majors, all of the Tigers of last season are still on the Vernon reserve list, while neither Moran, catcher, nor Whaling, secured in a trade with Boston, has been officially turned back, or otherwise disposed of. Thus the Tigers probably have more men on their list at the present time than any other minor league club in the country. Here is the list of available material:

THEIR NAMES.

Pitchers—Chech, Henley, Fremmes, Johnson, Mitchell, Hood, McElroy, Arellanes, right-handers; Hitt and Decanniere, left-handers. (One more to come.)

Utility—Risberg.

Among those reported to have been released from time to time were Chech, Henley, Mitze, Bayless and Berger, while it is announced that Kane had been traded to Portland for Derrick. This deal, however, never fully materialized, and now it would appear that Gleichmann is certain of his job. When the Kane-Derrick deal was pending it was strongly intimated that Gleichmann might not be with the club.

TWELVE TO GO.

However, while no changes in the personnel of the club have actually been made, several have been decided upon, and no less than twelve of those on the reserve list will be sold, traded or released. The right-hander for whom negotiations are now in progress will bring the total of Tiger players up to twenty-nine, while it is planned to carry but seventeen.

Maier and Patterson have a wealth of material from which to form the 1916 team, and because of the large number of men on the list can be very discriminating in their choice.

Berger, Mitze, Bayless, Kane, Henley, Chech, Cather and Moran are said to be among those who will not be present at the opening bell.

AMBITIOUS.

Moran demanded more money than could be allowed under the present salary limit, while Cather's Boston contract calls for $2000 and has one other year to run. Vernon would be compelled to assume this if it used Cather. Neither of them would consent to the cut in salary which it would be necessary for them to accept if they played on the Coast under the present regime.

However, from no angle of reasoning is it possible to show where the defection of Moran and Cather will weaken the Tigers, or lessen their chances. Plainly speaking, the addition of Moran and Cather would not add an atom of strength to an outfield already composed of Daley, Mattick and Deane, with Risberg for utility.

BETTER.

Given Daley, Mattick, Deane, Moran and Cather from which to pick, and it is a pretty safe bet that the average manager would select the first three. By what line of reasoning Moran and Cather arrive at the conclusion that they are entitled to come out here and draw down more money than Pete, "Chick" and Walter, is not entirely clear.

That Berger will not be with the Tigers this season was reiterated by Patterson yesterday. Berger drew a major league salary last season. Last fall he was assured of a cut. This was considerable, and yet the figures offered him were large as salaries go in this league. Pat now opines that Joe will play with some other club for less than he was offered by Vernon.

HAS BIG IDEA.

Patterson has a new plan to offer regarding the adoption of salary limits. He believes that it would be a good idea to fix them a year in advance, so that the different owners could make their arrangements accordingly. Then, if there was a reduction to be made, it could be made gradually and the unpleasant news broken to the players more easily.

Further, he points out that a lower salary limit does not necessarily result in a reduction of expenses. Take the case of Berger and McGaffigan. The reason given for deciding not to retain Berger was that the club could not meet his salary demands, and keep inside the limit. At the same time, in order to get a lower-salaried player, the club got busy and bought McGaffigan, paying, it is said, in the neighborhood of $1000 for him. Thus the club, in reality, was put to fully as much expense as if it had retained Berger at a salary of $2500 for the season.

SOME SWEDE.

Patterson characterizes Risberg as the greatest "salary limit player" in the league, and figures that the Swede will give the Tigers a big edge over all rivals.

"Risberg's versatility makes him equivalent to about three players," orated Pat. "If necessary, I can pitch him two games a week and on other days use him for infield or outfield utility roles. He can play any position on the club. Can't blame some of these major league clubs for wanting him."

STRONG AT SHORT.

Patterson figures that the club will be exceptionally strong at short, a position in which it always has been weak until last season. McGaffigan, Rader and Risberg can all play that position to a finish, and this guarantees the needed reserve strength. With two shortstoppers injured, the club will still have an able-bodied and efficient player on the job. It was lack of reserve strength at short which lost the Tigers the pennant in the historic series with the Beavers in 1911, and again against Oakland in 1912. Pat doesn't intend that anything like that shall happen again. This year he will have shortstops to burn.

Viewed three months from the opening of the season, the Tigers look the part of a regular ball team, and should be prominent contenders, barring hard luck and accidents.

TIGERS STRONG BEHIND PLATE.

As now constituted, the catching staff of the Vernon club is by far the best in the minor leagues, and superior to several in the big circuits.

In Spencer, Mitze and Whaling, Mater has three backstops of major league caliber, and each ranks as a first-string man. Patterson, in fact, asserts that there is no club in the country, with the possible exception of the Boston Red Sox, with three catchers of equal ability. Unfortunately, only two of them are to be carried. It is hard to imagine a tougher job than deciding on which one to "black ball."

Excited.

HUGHIE JONES PEEVED AT FEDS.

Claims that General Sentiment Exists on Pacific Coast Against Those Who Jumped—States that Those Who Stood by the Old Ship are Worse off than the Deserters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, Jan. 5.—Baseball peace may be restored in the major leagues, but if the sentiment expressed by Hughie Jones, owner of the Lincoln club in the Western League, is at all general, the minors are in anything but a peaceful mood.

Jones stopped in Denver today on his way home from the Pacific Coast. He swears that no Federal League player will be given a place on his club. The same feeling exists throughout the cities on the Pacific Coast circuit, according to Jones, and he says that it would not surprise him in the least to see the Coast League pull away from organized ball rather than to submit to the peace pact.

It is Jones's contention that the majors never lost anything and stood to lose nothing. Ninety per cent of the ball players to jump to the outlaws came from the minor leagues and it is the minors who will suffer.

"It was only a year ago that Garry Herrmann asked minor league clubs to stand pat," said Jones. "It was his cry then, and it has always been the cry of the baseball powers, to avoid jumpers.

"The minors, by joining hands with the Federal League, could have put the American and National leagues out of business. Instead, we remained loyal and blacklisted the jumpers.

"Now see the position we are in. The players who jumped are back in good standing. On the other hand, the player who, like the minor league magnates, remained loyal, is holding the sack.

"The baseball powers looked out for their own interests and forgot everybody else. The worst mistake they made, in my opinion, was the restoration to good standing of the jumpers."

UNIVERSAL MOGULS MOTOR TO RACES.

In Mr. Laemmle's party, which motored down from Universal City, were George E. Kann, business manager of the Universal Company's Pacific Coast studios; Carter De Haven, Abe Stern, Miss Marie Kann, Miss Louise Orth and Hobart Henley.

JOHNNY POWERS RETURNS EARLY.

Johnny Powers, president of the Angels, returned yesterday from San Francisco. During his stay in the north the Coast League schedule for 1916 was not adopted owing to the failure of President Murphy to reach the meeting, his train being stalled some way along the route. Powers was forced to shorten his stay in order to return home and resume negotiations with Frank Chance.

CHANCE IS GREATEST TRADER IN BASEBALL.

Peerless Leader Practically Made the Cubs by His Masterful Swapping—Once Gave Four Men to Get One Player—Recognized Talent of Orvie Overall and Developed Him.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

His name is a household word in baseball. He is the one man with the nickname, "Peerless Leader." The fact that he won four National League pennants and two world championships is still green in the memory of the fans. In the heyday of his career as a first baseman, he disputed with Hal Chase the distinction of being the greatest man in that position which the game has known. During the National League in stolen bases, a .300 hitter, a brilliant fielder, a tremendously aggressive player and a manager who rivalled the achievements of Mack and McGraw, the California boy looms as one of the game's greatest figures from whatever angle you consider him.

TRADER, TOO.

There would seem to be honors enough for one man, but Chance holds another and less known distinction—that of being baseball's most successful trader. As those on the inside know, hoss trading is a game for amateurs when compared with making trades in exclusive baseball circles.

During his career as manager of the Cubs Chance made but one trade which could be questioned. That was when he exchanged Luderus for Zwilling. In the matter of the ability of the two men he got the worst of the deal. However, the trade was justified. He had no possible use for Zwilling, and he did need a pitcher of Luderus type. That the latter subsequently failed to pitch up to the form that he had previously shown, or that Luderus developed into a star, must not necessarily be taken as a reflection on Frank's judgment. Furthermore, the trade did not in any degree weaken the Cubs. With him it was merely a case of trading something for which he had no use.

MADE CUBS.

Second to this deal are four or five others which literally converted the Chicago club into a championship combination.

It has been claimed repeatedly that it was Frank Selee built up the team with which Chance later won four pennants, and the assertion has been more generally accepted as fact.

Selee was a great manager, as shown by his work with Boston. In fact he doubtless would have given Chicago a winner. However, at the time ill-health forced him to relinquish the management, he had gathered but the nucleus of a good team. It remained for Chance to complete the enterprise. By five masterful trades he converted this mere nucleus of a ball team into one of the greatest clubs of all time—the Cubs of 1906-7-8-10. And prior to that he used his influence to keep Chicago from selling Johnny Evers to Jim Hart, then owner of the Lou Angeles club, for a trifling sum.

BECOMES HEAD.

Because of the condition of Selee's health Chance directed the Cubs through most of the 1905 season, and in 1906 was given supreme command. The Chicago club was far from perfect. The outfield was well worn, and showed no great amount of class; pitching and catching staffs needed strengthening and the club was lacking a high-class third baseman. In fact the team was a mile or two below championship standard. Over night, the young leader remedied practically all these defects, and the following year was able to place in the field a club that was as finely balanced as a Swiss watch.

When Chance took hold, the outfield was composed of McCarty, Slagle and Hofman, while Schulte and Hofman were sitting on the bench. His first moves were to place Schulte and Hofman in regular service in the outfield. The baseball department did not measure up to the ideal. It needed one more

And in order to built up to this ideal, Chance made one of the most sensational trades ever pulled—giving Maloney, McCarty, Casey and Briggs in exchange for Jimmy Sheckard. Brooklyn was the club on the other end of the deal, and was generally conceded to have made the best of the bargain. This thing of swapping four men for one was a new wrinkle, and considerable caustic criticism centered on Chance. Others, more considerate, attributed the move to his youth and inexperience. All of these, however, were forced to change their tune within a couple of months. In fact, it took less time than that to show it had been a master stroke. The addition of Sheckard made the Cub outfield the best in the game at that time, while none of the four men traded to Brooklyn remained in the majors a great while.

The pitching staff was then brought up to world championship standard by two master trades that brought Overall and Brown to the Southside.

MORE TRADES.

St. Louis was hypnotized into yielding Brown and Catcher O'Neill in exchange for "Pack" Taylor. The three-fingered one's ability requires no review. He and Overall were probably Mathewson's greatest rivals of that era.

Chance figured that the catching staff needed greater reserve strength, and later sent O'Neill and Pfeffer to Boston in exchange for Pat Moran. Moran proved to be the man needed. As second string catcher he added a lot of power to the staff, and also was invaluable in coaching the pitchers.

Moran was not a flashy backstop, and did not possess much of a whip, but he was smart and generally nailed his man, which was the main thing. Chance was then at his best as a baserunner. That Moran nailed him almost every time he started was what impressed him with Moran's ability. Did the fact that Pat kept throwing him out cause the P.L. to germinate a grudge? It did not. Rather, it caused him to entertain a great admiration for Pat and make a trade for him.

ABOUT ORVIE.

The Brown deal was no more sensational than that which brought Overall to the Cubs. Overall, fresh from the Coast League, appeared to be hopelessly wild. Chance realized that this was due to overwork, and recognized in Overall the elements of a great pitcher. Therefore, what did he do but trade Bob Wicker to Cincinnati for Overall and $2500. And who among you can recall ever having heard of Bob Wicker? At least, you have only a vague recollection of him. With Chicago, Overall under the reassuring guidance of Chance, quickly manifested his worth as one of the greatest curve ball pitchers of all time, and won twelve games in a row. "Big Jeff" was a mighty factor in the winning of four pennants.

Third base was the one remaining problem. Cincinnati couldn't see Harry Steinfeldt. In fact, Ned Hanlon was preparing to send him back to the minors, and would have done so had not Chicago refused to waive.

Rather than retain Steinfeldt, Cincinnati traded him with $2000 in cash on the side to Chicago in exchange for Jake Weimer. Jake never did amount to much, while Steinfeldt rapidly developed into the best third baseman of his time. His arm probably was the best ever seen in that position.

All of which is merely to show that Chance was a regular manager—able to create as well as to direct.

BARNEY OLDFIELD SHINES AS A BASEBALL MAGNATE.

BARNEY OLDFIELD unexpectedly went north with Johnny Powers when the latter left for San Francisco to attend the Coast League meeting. Naturally the appearance of Oldfield in the vicinity of the meeting caused much surprise and comment, and not a little curiosity.

The scribes were hot on Barney's trail, and he gave out at least one remarkable interview.

In reply to a question as to why he should be mingling with the magnates, Barney explained that he hoped to induce the league to extend to eight clubs. He further explained that he intended to place a team in San Diego, and that all Sunday-morning games would be played in Tia Juana. All will have to admit that Barney is no piker when it comes to giving interviews. He strives to please.

WEEGHMAN BUYS CUBS FROM TAFT.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 5.—The Chicago Cubs changed hands here today when Charles Weeghman, former president of the Chicago Federal League club, agreed, among other things, to pay $500,000 in cash to Charles P. Taft of this city for 80 per cent. of the stock of the Chicago National League club. The actual sale, exchange of money and transfer of property will take place on January 20.

The sale of the Cubs partly served to complete the condition of the treaty of peace recently signed here, and at a meeting of the committee to settle the disputes between the Federal and International leagues all other loose ends that were found after the signing of the peace treaty were put in order.

GLENDALE HIGH DEFEATS CLUB.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Jan. 5.—An enthusiastic game of basketball was played this afternoon between the Glendale Union High School and the Glendale Athletic Club. The High School boys won by the score of 24 to 22. The High School line-up included Powers, Phillips and Shea, the latter two starring.

BARRISTERS MAY PRACTICE TODAY.

RAIN PREVENTED STARTING ON SCHEDULE TIME.

Bovard Field Expected to be in Condition for Light Workout this Afternoon—Nothing but Tossing will be Permitted for Fear of Cutting Field.

Rain has kept the U.S.C. Law School baseball squad from practicing at Bovard Field for the last two days. And it will be two or three days more before any serious practice can be held. When Bovard Field gets muddy, it stays muddy for some time.

The squad will probably report today, however. Coach "Pat" Millikan has been told that he can get his men out if they only throw the ball around. There is too be no batting, or baserunning or anything that will cut up the field. So it will be just plain, ordinary catch and limbering up this afternoon and possibly again tomorrow.

The lawyers will have to play catch on the track and not on the field. The track is composed of cinders and eats up water. They must, also, be very careful to keep out of the way of the trackmen who are expected to get busy tomorrow. So Millikan will line them up in a long string around the outside edge of the track. The runners will be able to jog along on the inside to their hearts' content.

Widiner, who has been catching in semi-pro ranks about the south, has entered U.S.C., and along with Ed Marxen, Sprotte and several other Trojans will help to form a formidable backstop array.

Millikan discovered that one of the best amateur hurlers in the south has been in attendance at the law school for two years. His name is Ferry and he formally pitched for the Soldiers' Home team. Until yesterday nobody knew that he was anything else than a student. He works for the Pacific Electric, and will not be able to report for practice every night.

Capt. Cad Counts is of the opinion that the law school nine will be formidable this season.

Curry, at first base, was a sensation in prep ranks last year at Long Beach. Hillman is cracked up to be as good a second baseman as Louis Wright. Holloway is a fast shortstop and has the finest throwing arm of any college shortstop in the south. Harry Hirsh will be back to take care of third. In addition to these there are Stew Miller and Dalla, who are capable infielders.

Jenson, Sprotte, Malette and Albers are promising outfield material.

The lawyers have an incentive to work this year. They get a trip to the Hawaiian Islands if they beat both Stanford and California. Dodson, who was formerly a baseball captain at California, and now a law student here, has been carrying on negotiations with Honolulu. All the islanders ask is that U.S.C. show its class by beating Stanford and California.

CLAIMS COBB HAS A RIVAL.

SEATTLE, Jan. 5.—According to Tom Seaton, former Portland and Philly pitcher, Ty Cobb will have to look to his laurels this season. Seaton believes that with Benny Kauff, Brookfed player, breaking into organized baseball Ty will be given a close run for his customary honors.

Seaton himself does not know which team he will play with. His contract with the Federals has a year to run and he feels sure of getting the money.

DIETZ GETS A NEAT SALARY.

Lonestar Dietz came to terms with Washington State College last night and will coach at Pullman again next season. He is to receive $1500 for the football season and does not have to report until the first of September. His actual work with the team will take three months.

Dietz was to have coached baseball there this spring, but was released from fulfilling that part of his contract in consideration of his signing for another football season.

AUTO SHOW IS GOING STRONG.

NEW YORK EVENT CONTINUES IN POPULARITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—An average daily attendance of more than 20,000 was reported today at the national automobile show. It was "society day" and many men and women prominent in New York and other cities inspected the cars on exhibition. Among them were: Russell Colt, Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Livermore, Bradley Martin, Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Frederick S. Pearson, Monty Waterbury, Stanley Mortimer, Mrs. Archer M. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Iselin, Mrs. Elbert H. Gary, Mrs. Stephen Peabody, Jr., Sidney Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, Patrick Francis Murphy, Poultney Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wagstaff, Jr., Mrs. Howard Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker, Jr., Lawrence L. Gillespie and Harry S. Harkness.

POPULAR PRICES.

The popularity of the automobile show is due more than anything else to the downward trend of the prices of automobiles, which places them within reach of persons of moderate means.

The average price of cars manufactured by more than a hundred automobile concerns, according to figures issued by Charles E. Duryea for the automobile show, is a little more than $1600 this year, whereas in 1915 it was more than $2000 and more than $2500 in 1914.

OTHER REASONS.

There are other trends of interesting nature aside from prices; trends, however, which should be considered as playing their part in bringing about the reduced cost. There are, for example, fewer models turned out by the various manufacturers. Now there is concentration on one or two models, which, by the way, differ so slightly in point of construction that parts may be interchanged.

One automobile analyst does not hesitate in assigning the present low cost of automobiles to this fact. Then, standardization methods as applied in the production of automobiles have reduced the cost of materials through the fact that increased production results in ability to buy constituent materials at wholesale, thereby materially lessening the price.

LESS HORSE POWER.

Horse power, too, averages lower this year than ever before, but at the same time, because of mechanical adjustments, it may not be said of the 1916 product that it is less powerful than its predecessor.

The part of the exhibit devoted to motor car accessories is not less popular than the many groups of cars on the main floor. Everywhere in evidence are the various sparking devices, which scores of persons, unfamiliar with the mechanism of the motor car, mistake for minute wireless equipments when they hear the noise incidental to the demonstration.

CLUBS SQUABBLE SO COUNTY DOES WORK.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, Jan. 5.—Owing to the controversy between the automobile clubs of Northern and Southern California for permission to place road signs in Tulare county, the members of the Board of Supervisors have practically reached the decision to do this work at the county's expense, using signs of a distinctive nature on practically all highways of this section.

These signs are to be of a substantial iron and steel construction, and, in addition to giving the names of the various towns of the county, will also indicate the main-traveled routes to the larger cities, as well as showing distances.

It is expected that work will be started as soon as weather conditions will permit.

MAXWELL STOPPED AFTER MAKING NEW WORLD MARK.

Traveling Under A.A.A. Sanction Car Exceeded Former Nonstop Record by Ten Thousand Miles—Motor Turned off Once During Run but Observers Decided to Let Stunt Continue.

A NEW world's record for automobile travel without a stop of the motor was established in Los Angeles yesterday by a stock Maxwell "25" touring car. Earl Cooper, racing driver, who had complete supervision of the run for the A.A.A., officially started the nonstop Maxwell at 12:10 noon, November 22.

The car was on the road night and day for forty-three days and twenty-two and one-half hours. At 11:15 yesterday Mayor Sebastian pulled the switch plug which stopped the motor and officially terminated the test, with a total mileage of 22,022.3 miles. The previous record was 12,406.9, which was made in San Francisco and had stood for several years.

SOME ACHIEVEMENT.

In traveling continually for the total of 22,022.3 miles a remarkable record for consistency in every way was made. An average speed of twenty-one miles an hour was maintained for 1055 consecutive hours, and the car traveled twenty-two miles to every gallon of gasoline.

The most remarkable performance of the Maxwell during the entire run was made in the last nineteen hours, during which time the car traveled a total of 447 miles over wet, slippery pavements, part of the time in a downpour of rain, and yet averaged more than 23.5 miles per hour. During this time Carl Behrman drove for eight hours, and Harry Tatman for a like period.

OFFICIALS.

The new Los Angeles Maxwell record will be official in every way as soon as the data collected by the American Automobile Association representatives here, who had full charge of the test, is sent to headquarters in New York. An A.A.A. mechanical expert examined the car before the start to make sure it was "stock."

An A.A.A. official observer traveled with the Maxwell every minute of the time. There were three of these observers who worked in eight-hour shifts. They kept a complete and accurate record of every detail of the performance of the car, down to the most minor occurrence.

The only motor stop was made early in the run at 2:45 on the morning of December 4, and was caused by the very severe rain which amounted to a cloudburst and was neither the car's nor the driver's fault, being occasioned by a taxicab in turning the corner at Slauson and Moneta avenues in such a manner as to force the nonstop Maxwell to the curb into deeper water, which necessitated the draining of the carburetor and incidentally a stop of two minutes, and eighteen seconds before the car was under way again.

NOT AT FAULT.

It was due to the extreme weather conditions, and also to the fact that the sworn statement of the observers show that the stop was no fault of the driver or the car that the A.A.A. allowed the run to continue, which resulted in considerable additional mileage being piled up.

After this short stop the nonstop Maxwell covered a total of 10,102.1 miles, complying with every rule and regulation. The perfect running of the car the morning following the brief stop was a determining factor in the decision of the American Automobile Association officials. The final decision was not made until a few days ago after careful investigation of all particulars.

The nonstop Maxwell has been very light on tires. Very little water has been required to keep the motor cool. The record for consistency and economy, as well as durability is an enviable one.

BOWLING NOTES.

In the Commercial Bowling League on the Majestic alleys the Examiner team defeated the Broadway Department Store by 66 pins on account. The Examiner team rolled in fine form, scoring through their captain, Ray Hall, a total of 1004, Hall being on account of his high average of 190. Camden, the star of the Broadway team, was handicapped on account of his not being a regular player; and would be shown up with a total of 1000 on an average.

STOVALL GOES TO GET BALL BERTH.

George Stovall, manager of the late Kansas City Feds, leaves for the East today in answer to a telegram asking him to accept some sort of a baseball berth there.

The "Firebrand" refused to state what team he has been called to but said that he would not return until after the season is over. Perhaps he will have charge of the Cleveland Americans.

Rabbit's Foot Secrets Uncovered at Burbank.

Entertainments Planned to Help Actor Fund.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

All those Burbank actors have pet superstitions, and the uprooting is bringing them to light. The uprooting, of course, means the coming change of location to the Morosco Theater. Edmund Lowe has a rabbit's foot that he got from a crossed nigger in the dark of the moon, and which he wears around his neck. Florence Rockwell has a horseshoe over her door, which she is to take with her. Lillian Elliott has a four-leaf clover, pressed inside the copy of Shakespeare, given her by Thomas McLarnie. Grace Travers has faith in an antique chair blessed by a holy man of India. Ida St. Leon owns a mirror that came down to her family from the P. T. Barnum show, and which she always sets up in her dressing-room. And then there's Kit, the black cat, without whom the Burbankery couldn't keep house. Frank Darien says he has some lucky coins, too, but it is understood he refers merely to the coin of the realm these hard times. Billie Colvin says he carries his luck around with him. We don't know whether this refers to his philosophical disposition or a specially brewed c.t., which anybody is in luck to get.

Real Dancing.

In these days of specialisation in all things Chalmers Brooks Fithian, a young local dance artist, has attained the distinction of ballroom director for three Los Angeles motion-picture studios. Ballroom scenes on the film are not all play by any means.

Bert to Repeat Success.

Burt Wesner, as the hermit in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," has a companion role to Napoleon in "The Misleading Lady."

Actors' Fund.

At a meeting of the California Campaign Committee of the actors' endowment fund movement, held last night at the Mayor's office in the City Hall, with Jesse L. Lasky presiding, three entertainments features of the campaign were definitely decided upon.

City-wide co-operation among theaters and motion-picture houses will be asked February 10. It will be requested that a percentage of receipts be turned into the fund. Details as to the management of this movement will be determined at a meeting of the Theatrical Managers' Association, which will be held this week, with W. H. Wyatt presiding. It is hoped also to secure the co-operation of motion-picture and stage stars on this day.

The second event will occur March 3, when Al Levy will give a special dinner and entertainment, with half the proceeds to go to the fund. Not alone the cabaret entertainers, but stage stars and motion-picture favorites will participate.

The biggest feature of the campaign as so far determined will take place the afternoon of March 31, when every headline act and every prominent actor in the city will be asked to take part in a mammoth five-hour show, to be given at some theater to be announced later.

Other features of the campaign, such as a ball and an automobile raffle, are being considered, but nothing in this regard is as yet definitely decided on.

Transplanting Note.

H. S. Duffield is officially the oldest inhabitant of the Burbank company. He has been under the Morosco management ever since the Burbank was taken over by Morosco, at the time of the famous Daniel Frawley engagement, seventeen years ago.

He will speak the first line in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," when it goes on at the Morosco next Sunday afternoon.

Can Show the Hand.

Warner Baxter has a rather bad hand as the result of the enthusiasm with which Florence Rockwell enters into her part in "Kick In." Several times Miss Rockwell has punctured the skin, in sticking the hypodermic needle into the back of Baxter's hand.

"And there's nothing in the little 'gun' to deaden the pain, either," said Baxter, who acknowledges he cried "Ouch!" the other evening when the needle pierced him a little harder than usual.

Governmental Report.

Eddie Foy says that taking care of the entire population of Foyville is no easy job. He says there isn't another manager that has his troubles.

"Imagine, for one thing," said Foy, "having to drive your whole company to clean its teeth every morning."

Everybody's Doin' It.

All the motion picture directors are breaking into song. First there was Mr. Ince who tuned his lyre to "Peggy," and now J. Farrell Macdonald has gone and done it. The song is entitled "Our Baby," and is dedicated to his little daughter. Mr. Macdonald has an alibi, however, in the fact that he used to be an operatic stage director.

Star to Polish Up.

Thought Her Real Gypsy.

Nonette, the gypsy violinist at the Orpheum, is prouder than ever today of her "gypsy" cognomen. The mere announcement of her coming to the Orpheum brought to the box office yesterday three real gypsies, in all their colorful costumes, to hear one of their own people. They were surprised at the party gown, but their applause when she reappeared in their own garb was very sincere and profuse.

Billie's Burden.

Billie Colvin doesn't know how to move Kit, the house cat of the Burbank, to the Morosco. They carried her over to the Morosco yesterday to acclimate her, but she came back. Billie is the only person she will follow. They don't want to frighten her, lest luck run away, and so he expects to walk over to the Morosco today, calling "Kittie! Kittie!" all the way down Broadway.

New Light.

Billie Boland, an actress of some experience in the East, has joined the Burbank company, and will play the part of the chaperon in "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

Doesn't Care for Pill.

Senorita Cansino, whose dancing at the Orpheum is enchanting all beholders, admits she likes bullfights; but says she can't see anything in our national game of baseball.

"There are no excitements," says Miss Cansino. Evidently the fair lady wasn't present that memorable day when Ham Patterson put the ball up against the center field fence with three on.

Thirty-third Degree Vampire.

Louise Glaum of the Ince company is about to take her diploma in vampiring for the screen. She is considered as among the best in the portrayal of these roles.

Mad, so There.

Receives Beautiful Present.

The beautiful yellow chrysanthemums used in "The Typhoon" at the Mason Tuesday night were presented to Walker Whiteside by Seesue Hayakawa, the distinguished Japanese actor appearing in pictures for the Lasky company, who played the role of the Japanese in the picture version of "The Typhoon."

Emma Perley Lincoln, featured on this week's bill at the Hippodrome, has been requisitioned for the big benefit programme for the newsboys, to be given next Sunday night at the Mason Operahouse.

It Does Really Pay.

"What's the show next week?" demanded a man of the ever affable Walter Hearn, at the box office of the Mason the other day.

"'It Pays to Advertise,'" responded Hearn.

"Don't be sarcastic," retorted the man.

"I'm not," responded Walter, "'It Pays to Advertise.'"

"Are you human or just a phonograph?" demanded the man. "I know it pays to advertise; don't run any of that street car sign stuff on me. What I want is plain information. Now will you or will you not tell me what the name of next week's show is?"

"I tell you 'It Pays to Advertise!'"

"Good Lord, I'm going to report you. Are you a ticket seller or are you an advertising agent——"

It was hard going, but by and by the man understood and took two tickets. But Walter says he's going to have a sign in electrics, in words of one syllable, posted outside the door.

HANDICAP MEET TO COME SOON.

L.A.A.C. EVENTS TO BE FIRST OF KIND IN SOUTH.

All Swimmers Have been Rated and Exciting Competition should be Furnished—Competition also on for the Women Swimmers—Club Decides to Have Woman's Team.

The handicap swimming meet of the L.A.A.C. will be held the night of January 20. This will be the first handicap swim ever held in the south and is being introduced by Vance Veith, the club's swimming instructor.

"The idea of the handicaps is to make the races closer," he said yesterday, "and also exciting. The interest in any sport soon dies when one man always wins. The others decide that there is no use in trying. Competition and practice make a swimmer."

The swimmers will be numbered according to their handicap. The man with the highest or largest handicap will be the first to jump into the water, the others will follow after him at the number of seconds less handicap they have than he until finally the scratch man jumps in last of all. The first to finish wins the race.

This handicap swim will also introduce another new feature—the women swimmers of the L.A.A.C. in competition. It is now possible for women to obtain athletic memberships at the club. Since the A.A.U. agreed to allow women to compete in the same meet with the men, the club has decided to have a woman's swimming team. Memberships have already been granted and these women appear for practice on ladies' days at the club.

The events at the meet will be: The 220-yard swim, 440-yard swim, 100-yard swim, 100-yard breast stroke, 150-yard back stroke, plunge for distance, men's diving, juvenile diving, juvenile 100-yard dash, ladies' diving, ladies' 100-yard dash and ladies' 100-yard back stroke.

"NE'ER DO WELL" RIGHT SOLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 5.—The speed record in motion-picture dealing was broken today when Sol Lesser of San Francisco, president of the All-Star Feature Distributing Company, took five minutes to buy the entire United States rights to the Selig production of Rex Beach's "The Ne'er Do Well." Moreover, he paid real out-and-out money in the shape of a certified check to the tune of $150,000, which Mr. Selig now possesses in the place of the picture and the bother of displaying it.

Mr. Lesser is a film financier only 25 years of age. He has been in the business for seven years. His firm has handled "Cabiria," "The Spoilers" and others of that type for the Coast district. He came here to buy the California rights to the picture, but when he considered what a good thing it was he asked Mr. Selig for a figure on it for the whole country. Mr. Selig set the figure, and Mr. Lesser signed the check.

and lots of California to the big league. On the recommendation of Cal McVey, the veteran major-leaguer, he was signed by the Chicago Cubs in 1898.

"I imagined that major-league players could jump twenty feet into the air and catch a ball," said Chance. "So when I went East it was with many misgivings. Figuring that I wouldn't stay long, I bought a round-trip ticket."

Chance piloted the Cubs into four pennants and two world championships. He later handled the New York Americans for two years at a salary of $35,000.

N. W. Banks has challenged Alfred Jordan to play for the checker championship, and a stake of either $500 or $1000, next fall.

BABY A SIGHT WITH PIMPLES

All Over Head and Face. Hard Crusts Formed. Cried Night and Day. Suffered Terribly.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little boy became red all over his head and face, and he lost all of his hair. Later he broke out in little pimples and hard crusts formed. The skin was sore, red, and inflamed, and it burned so he used to scratch all the time. He was nearly crazy and he cried night and day. He was a sight to behold and suffered terribly.

"The trouble lasted about two months and nothing seemed to do any good. We were told to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and we did so. They seemed to relieve him at once and he slept for two hours, and after we used two boxes of the Cuticura Ointment and about three bars of the Cuticura Soap he was completely healed and did not have a mark on him." WINTER CLASS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Jan. 5.—The Glendale Sanitarium and Training School for Missionary Nurses graduated its 1916 class last night, the exercises being held at the Glendale grammar school auditorium. The large assembly hall was filled to capacity, many friends of the graduates having come from Los Angeles, Loma Linda and other near-by cities.

Members of the faculty and the sixteen graduates in their spotless white uniforms were seated upon the platform, which was decorated with sweet peas and ferns. Nearly 100 other nurses from the sanitarium, who also were in uniform, occupied the front seats.

Prof. G. W. Rine, instructor in English at Pacific Union College, a Seventh Day Adventist institution at St. Helena, Cal., delivered a masterly peroration on "The Joy of Self-sacrifice." Elder E. E. Andross, president of the board of directors of the local health institution, presented the diplomas to the graduates.

Prof. Rine said self-sacrifice is fundamental to the Christian religion, adding that "the Christian nurse follows a career that perhaps is more vitally and essentially a life of sacrifice than any other." He said the world is too commonplace for unmixed joy, or to appreciate joy without the emphasis of pain.

"Christ himself was a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, and yet always rejoicing in God. When we realize we are living in a world redeemed with the blood of the Son of God, who hung on the cross for us, we can rejoice always in service for Him."

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Elder B. E. Beddoe, president of the Southern California conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, at the Glendale Adventist Church, corner Third and Isabel streets, last Saturday morning.

The members of the class are as follows: Jessie S. Allen, Charlotte F. Ball, Agnes D. Bolton, E. Maud Daniel, Ursie M. Dick, Metta M. Dransfield, Amanda A. Graf, Carrie S. Gurriere, William I. Hilliard, Miriam M. Hoffman, Lorraine A. Lawrence, Hattie O. Mallernee, Bernice E. McKim, E. Myrle Simons, Agnes Thompson, Susanne A. Tod. The class colors were lavender and cream and the class flower was lavender sweet pea.

HIGH AVERAGE FOR VALENCIAS.

Nearly Million and a Half Realized by Orange County Fruit Exchange Growers—Randolph School Bonds Sell at Good Premium—Supreme Court Victory Involves Land.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SATNA ANA, Jan. 5.—That the Valencia oranges shipped through the Orange County Fruit Exchange, which is the selling agent of several co-operative associations between Santa Ana and the foothills, brought an average of $3.258 per box for all Valencias shipped between September 1, 1915, and December 31, 1915, was shown in the report of the secretary, D. Eyman Huff, today.

In that period the exchange shipped 227,264 boxes and received $740,381.51. The entire 1915 crop of Valencias for this exchange reached 475,816 boxes, with net f.o.b. California returns of $1,394,940.49. The exchange shipped, since September 1st, 24,543 boxes of lemons for which an average of $1.994 net f.o.b. per box was received. Sixty-four cars of navels shipped in the same period brought $1.79 per box here.

The Valencia season throughout was an excellent one, the prices being highly satisfactory. The acreage of Valencias here increases yearly.

That the money market is in good condition and that Orange County's school bonds are in good demand was shown today when the Board of Supervisors sold the $66,000 bond issue of the Randolph School District bonds, bearing 5 per cent. interest, for a premium of $2500.

That premium was paid by the State Board of Control. Eight bids were received, the next to the highest bid being $2776. With the money realized from the sale of the bonds a new schoolhouse will be built at Brea.

The need of dressing Los Angeles county in anticipation of the arrival of thousands of prospective homemakers during the year 1916 was portrayed by C. A. Gummere in an illustrated lecture on the county beautiful. Basing his talk on three years' experience in the home improvement work established by John H. Patterson at Dayton, O., Mr. Gummere aroused the interest of the entire meeting over the results of co-operative improvement work in civic lines.

An effort is to be made to get a State fish hatchery located in the Sierra Madre Mountains for Southern California. Present plans as disclosed at the meeting locate this hatchery at Oak Creek on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevadas in Inyo county.

The department at present plans to take fish eggs from Bear Lake to supply this hatchery. This would mean an unusual amount of transportation and delay, which is both harmful to the spawn and expensive. Sportsmen of Los Angeles county are anxious to locate this hatchery in the south, from whence comes 35 per cent. of the fishing-license money.

Long Beach Ordinance Filed on Recommendation.

Negro Women Arrested for Blind-pigging.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 5.—Determined to uphold the city's reputation as a great religious and prohibitory community, officials today raided a blind pig and introduced an ordinance for the closing of grocery stores and meat markets on Sunday.

Jessie Sterling and Minnie Dunn, both colored and under 30 years of age, live in the rear of No. 336 Pine avenue, near the Salvation Army barracks. The members of the latter organization observed an unusual number of men, both black and white, frequenting the place, and the raid by the police followed.

Many bottles of beer and whisky were confiscated. Today Police Judge Hawkins found the women guilty and told them to come for sentence Friday. As they are at liberty without bail they are not expected to return.

City Attorney Hoodenpyl, at the request of the good people of the city, today introduced the ordinance making it a misdemeanor for the proprietor of any grocery store, meat market or like place of business to keep open on Sunday. When placing the ordinance before the City Commission, however, he gave it as his opinion that the measure would be found unconstitutional if tried out in court. Upon his representations the ordinance was filed.

DEBATE SCHEDULE.

"Resolved, that national legislation should be shaped so as to gradually do away with the protective tariff," is the question that has been selected for debate between Long Beach, Los Angeles Polytechnic and Santa Monica high schools next Friday evening. The debate is a scheduled triangle argument under the auspices of the California State Debating League.

Long Beach High School's chance for the championship of the league hinges on the outcome of the coming decision. Andrew Dunlap, star athlete of the local institution, and Manager Murphy of the local debaters will form the team that will uphold the affirmative side of the question against Los Angeles Poly in the local High School auditorium.

Long Beach now stands among the ten leading schools of the State in the debating activity out of sixty-seven prep institutions that form the State league.

DEMAND ADMITTANCE.

The High School, built five years ago at a cost of $250,000 is found inadequate for the accommodations of the students, who are clamoring for tuition. Members of the Board of Education engaged in a heated discussion last night over the advisability of adding to and remodeling the present building, with the alternative of erecting a new high school in the eastern end of the city. This would cost at least $100,000.

The need of intermediate schools, however, triumphed, and the board authorized a bond issue, probably for $300,000, for the purpose of building two intermediate schools.

RUSHING WORK.

More than eighty men are rushing the work of completing the big factory of the American Products Company in the harbor district. Another carload of machinery arrived for the plant today, making the total value of the machinery arrived to date $100,000. This company will endeavor to supply potash to take the place of the German product, getting the chemical from kelp. The construction of a spur from the Salt Lake tracks will be begun soon.

BANK BUYS SITE.

The City National Bank today purchased the lot at the northwest corner of Broadway and American avenue, on which the bank stands, for $23,000, from the Deets estate. Eight years ago, the City National Bank leased the corner for ten years, erecting a $20,000 brick structure on the site. President B. F. Tucker declared that the bank would soon make additions to its quarters.

DIVA'S SON DIES.

Hans Hugo Schumann-Heink Succumbs to Grip and Pneumonia with Famous Mother at His Bedside—Will Cremate Body.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 5.—Hans Hugo Schumann-Heink, son of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the great diva, died this morning at the Agnew Hospital from pneumonia.

Young Schumann-Heink was taken very ill ten days ago with the grip, which later developed into pneumonia. His mother, who was singing in Chicago, was summoned, but sang New Year's Day at the exposition, the day after her arrival here, as his condition was improved.

For many years Hans Schumann-Heink had lived at Grossmont, fourteen miles from here, with his mother, but a year ago removed to the city when he became interested with his brother-in-law, Hubert Guy, in the insurance business.

He leaves, besides his mother and brothers and sisters, a widow and two small children. He was 28 years of age.

The body will be cremated.

Yorba Linda Water Company Plan to Make Improvements.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, Jan. 5.—The Yorba Linda Water Company has elected the following directors: E. K. French, E. A. Speer, Arthur Staley, Emery Albertson, T. R. Welch, Thomas Hughes and J. A. Logsdon. More than half of the stock was represented. The directors were authorized to expend $30,000 or less of bond money for covering the reservoir for a new pipe line and for a pumping unit. It is not believed these improvements will cost over $10,000.

The Anaheim Union Water Company has let a contract to the Western Reinforced Concrete Pipe Company for a concrete pipe inverted siphon to replace flume No. 6 of the company, according to plans presented by Engineer Sherwood. The pipe will be sixty-six inches in diameter and similar in all respects to the pipe just completed at flume No. 7. The length will be 535 feet.

John Nicholas Brown III.

RICHEST BOY AND PARTY HERE.

HEIR TO MILLIONS IS PUT TO BED WITH A COLD.

While His Mother, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, and His Private Doctor and Personal Tutor Go Motoring in the Rain—To Make Home in Pasadena.

John Nicholas Brown III, the "richest boy in the world," and reputed heir to $75,000,000, arrived in Pasadena over the Salt Lake at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning in the Brown private car "Boston." With the other members of his party he was taken by automobile to the Huntington Hotel, where he was put to bed, suffering with a cold.

Besides the richest boy in the world, who is a descendant of John Nicholas Brown, the founder of Brown University, the party includes his mother, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, who is a sister of Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt and was before her marriage Miss Natalie Dresser, and their maid, who are registered from Newport; Dr. Frank L. Day, their private physician, Providence, and J. W. Baker, a young Brown University graduate, who is tutor to John Nicholas III. His chief occupation, however, is to keep reporters away from the boy.

The youth until last year was always referred to as the richest baby in the world, but he took a sudden notion to grow tall, so when he reached Pasadena last January measuring 6 feet, 4 inches and more, "baby" had to be changed to "boy" and it doesn't look as if he is going to be a boy very long, for he is rather husky, regardless of the fact that both times he has visited Pasadena he has arrived with a cold.

When questioned about the boy's health, the maid indignantly denied he was ill. "Why, he never was in better health in his life," she said, "and the person who told you he is ill told an untruth." She immediately called up the manager of the hotel, to say no reports were to be given out that John Nicholas was sick.

When Mrs. Brown rented the home of Mrs. C. Henne of No. 1255 Hillcrest drive, it was reported she was coming to Pasadena to make her permanent home, but this was not verified yesterday.

When the Browns arrived in California last year, Mrs. Brown was most indignant because of the publicity given her son, and declared before her arrival in the Crown City that if any more was given to him, she would leave California never to return. They went to the Huntington last year, and the management refused to give out any information whatever about them and said that when they arrived they would not register.

With John Nicholas tucked in his bed and the maid and hotel folks to look after him, Mrs. Brown and the others of her party went motoring in the rain yesterday afternoon, leaving the hotel shortly before 3 o'clock.

John Nicholas III is greatly interested in civic matters, or was last year, and used to visit the City Commission here and hold conference with the chairman of that body, but while at the hotel hardly half a dozen guests knew him or his mother by sight.

A motion-picture man who was making films of the smartest guests there last year almost wanted to die one night, when he missed getting John Nicholas in a picture just by a hair's breadth. The boy was having the time of his life watching the picture-making, when all at once someone in a loud whisper, pointed him out, saying: "That's the Brown baby, the richest boy in the world." John Nicholas heard the whisper, as did the movie man, and making a wild dive, the lad raced madly along the corridor with the crestfallen, but determined "movie" man in pursuit. That John Nicholas III did not get "snapped" is due to his long legs and the short ones of the picture man.

Imported Thoroughbred Bulls to Improve Butter.

EL CENTRO, Jan. 5.—As probable chief beneficiary should Mexico cede Lower California to the United States in lieu of a cash payment of indemnity claims, Imperial county will probably undertake a campaign to impress Congress with the importance of such a deal.

This was indicated today in the action of the Board of Supervisors in authorizing its president, W. F. Beal of Brawley, to call a conference of county agricultural and commercial interests to outline a plan of campaign.

Beal was the first person to bring the matter to public attention when he advocated the neutralization of the canal zone, just south of the boundary line, before the agricultural assembly last month. His recommendation that early action to that end be taken was indorsed by the farmers in the convention.

The assembly appointed a committee to co-operate with the Supervisors, which was announced today as S. T. Tyler of Calexico, Leroy Holt of El Centro, Judge Carr of Imperial, W. H. Best of Brawley and Phil Brooks of Imperial.

BUTTER-MAKERS.

The purchase and importation of a string of thoroughbred bulls of a butter-producing strain to raise the standard of dairying stock in the Imperial Valley was decided upon today by the Board of Supervisors.

Imperial is the chief butter-producing county of the State. Chairman Beal, who initiated the movement, said that it was an economic impossibility for the majority of dairymen to purchase such stock, and that the cost of service will be low, but under conditions that better stock will be bred.

At an auction sale on the Wilson ranch near here today, twenty-seven Holstein bulls were sold for an average price of $297 each, a State record for unproven stock, it is asserted.

STEAMERS OVERHAULED FOR A NEW SCHEDULE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Jan. 5.—A new schedule for the Pacific Navigation Company steamers is announced which will be in effect while the steamers Yale and Harvard are given their annual overhauling.

The Harvard will be the first to go into drydock, leaving here for San Francisco Friday. It will take about six weeks to put the steamer in condition, and meanwhile the Yale will sail for San Francisco on Sunday, Tuesday and Friday and for San Francisco Thursday. The Harvard will take up the temporary schedule while the Yale is in drydock.

The steamer Paralso has been rechartered to W. R. Grace & Co. by Swain & Hoyt for the South American run at $500 per day. She will be turned over to Grace & Co. after delivering a cargo of lumber and wheat she is now loading at Seattle for San Francisco.

The entire fleet of Swain & Hoyt steel steamers is now under charter at highly profitable rates on account of the scarcity of tonnage. Much of the stock on the steamers is owned in Southern California, the steamers having been built at Long Beach.

Charter rates are still soaring. The barkentine Hawaii has just been chartered to carry lumber to the African coast at 175 shillings. This is said to be the highest charter rate ever obtained for any vessel in the lumber trade from the Pacific Coast. The Hawaii is now en route from Newcastle, Australia. She carried 1,000,000 feet and is paying handsome profits to her owners.

After experimenting for several months with Japanese chief stewards the Toyo Kisen Kaisha line, which is owned and operated by Japanese capitalists, has come to the conclusion that only white stewards will satisfy the white travelers. All the chief stewards on the big liners of the company are now Americans. Japanese cooks have also been replaced with Chinese on account of trouble experienced with the Japanese.

Recapture the Old Joy Of Living

HAS life lost its zest? Do you suffer pretty constantly from nervous depression—"the blues?"

Very often this state of things is brought on by poor elimination. Constipation is the underlying cause of many a case of "nerves" as any doctor will tell you.

Once get rid of constipation permanently and you will be amazed at the transformation in your health and spirits.

But you will find in Nujol a rational means of restoring normal, healthful bowel activity. Nujol is a pure white mineral oil conforming to all the requirements of the Lane treatment for constipation, which physicians everywhere are now prescribing as the safest and most effective means of restoring normal bowel activity.

It is not a laxative but a lubricant. Being entirely mechanical in its action it may be taken in any quantity without harm.

Write for booklet, "The Rational Treatment of Constipation." If your druggist hasn't it, we will send a pint bottle of Nujol prepaid to any point in the United States on receipt of 75c—money order or stamps.

MARKET RESISTS STEADY PRESSURE.

UPWARD TENDENCY IS MET WITH SELLING ORDERS.

Coppers, Lackawanna Steel and the Rails are Active and Higher but the Balance of the List Loses its Earlier Gains—Bonds are Irregular.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The salient feature of today's feverish market was its steady resistance to pressure. At the active opening of the market gains of 1 to 3 points were made by various issues, chiefly coppers, Lackawanna, Steel and some of the less active specialties. Rails in general rose fractionally. Heavier offerings of special descriptions, notably oils and automobile issues, gave the market another setback during the late session. Prices continued to sag, almost the only exception being Lackawanna Steel, which made an extreme advance of 8⅝ points to 85⅝. In connection with more or less familiar rumors of a deal. Coppers as a group were steady. Total sales of stocks aggregated 920,000 shares. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, aggregated $5,440,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CONTEST ON STOCK AMICABLY ENDED.

PLAINTIFF WILL TAKE SHARES IN LIEU OF MONEY.

Suit Against Los Angeles Investment Company and Home Builders Settled Out of Court, Though It was One of Few to Pass Demurrer Stage.

The suit of Lee C. Sawin against the Los Angeles Investment Company and the Home Makers to recover money paid for stock and for the cancellation of notes given for the payment of the balance on the stock, has been amicably adjusted. Attorney M. O. Graves filed the stipulation for the dismissal of the suit yesterday. He took considerable pride in the fact that this is the first of the largest of this class of suits that passed the demurrer stage. The complaint was amended six times.

Mr. Sawin bought stock at prices ranging from $1.55 to $4.15. He paid $5000 cash and gave notes for $10,000 and owed besides the notes, $1000 for interest and charges. The stock was pledged as security for the notes. The suit was for recission of contract, the cancellation of the notes and indebtedness and the return of the money paid in, with damages for the use of the money.

The stipulation, signed by President Frank P. Flint, Attorney Graves and Mr. Sawin, covers the cancellation of all the indebtedness of Mr. Sawin to the investment company, and he will receive as much stock as the $5000 paid down would have covered at the time he purchased it. The actual number of shares he receives is 1800. The actual words in the stipulation are: "So many shares of stock in the Los Angeles Investment Company as the actual cash paid in by said plaintiff would buy at the prices at which said stock were sold at the time of the respective purchases set out in the complaint."

PLEADS GUILTY TO NEGLECT CHARGE.

Louis C. Malek, for the fourth time in court to answer to a charge of failure to provide for his 5-year-old son, Howard, and his divorced wife, Mrs. Anna Malek of No. 3431 East Sixth street, decided after having heard the evidence against him to plead guilty. The case came up in Judge Craig's court yesterday and attorneys were ready to start their arguments when the carriage painter, who is said to have recently fallen heir to a large sum of money, brought the trial to a sudden termination.

It is reported that Malek has received a legacy amounting to about $60,000, but this he would not confirm or deny yesterday. It will probably be brought out in the hearing of his application for probation, which will come up Monday.

Malek was divorced by his wife about a year ago. Prior to that time he was taken before Judge Monroe for not taking care of his family. Later, he was before Judge Willis for the same reason. After that trial, which was dismissed on technical grounds, Malek took the baby away from Mrs. Malek and went to Petaluma. He was ordered to bring the boy back and did so.

After the divorce he failed to pay the alimony stipulated, although he worked steadily, and after his coming into a legacy, Mrs. Malek showed she had received only about $20 in eight months. The defendant said he had refused to pay because his former wife refused to permit him to see the boy.

BARGAIN LOST. HEART SUIT RECALLED.

Miss Anna Victoria, a nurse at the County Hospital, drew a bargain when she bid in on a judgment sale a $4000 lot for $125. She brought suit against Dr. Charles Hendricks, the alleged owner, to quiet title, but because she failed to show a valid judgment upon which to base a sale of the property Judge Taft nonsuited her case yesterday.

Among the several defendants was Mrs. L. Bennett, formerly Miss Laura Biggar, the actress. Miss Biggar and Dr. Hendricks met in the courtroom. Their meeting revived the suit for alienation of affections brought in New York by Mrs. Hendricks against Miss Biggar, upon which she obtained a judgment of $50,000. Miss Biggar appealed from the judgment and obtained a reversal and order for a new trial.

Miss Biggar did not testify yesterday, as the defense, through attorney Leroy Edwards, raised the technical point that Dr. Hendricks had not been served with notice of the original trial, when the Lee-Dickson Company obtained a judgment of $72, growing out of a garage account. The judgment was by default December 15, 1914, and Dr. Hendricks was served with notice for December 28, 1914. Miss Victoria was represented by Attorney Berkebile.

AVIATOR CLEARED BY FLYING ATTORNEY.

After ten minutes of deliberation the jury in case of Willis L. Fox, charged with having stolen an automobile, returned a verdict of not guilty in Judge Houser's court yesterday.

Four witnesses identified the defendant as the man who took the automobile, and Detective Wynn of the police department testified the defendant made a confession to him. Mr. Fox denied this and declared it was a mistake in identity and that he had been hired by a man in Los Angeles to drive the machine to San Francisco.

He was arrested in Oakland while trying to sell the automobile. His younger brother, who looks almost exactly like him, was arrested at the same time, and both were held in the Oakland jail two weeks, when the younger brother was discharged and the elder returned here for trial.

The case was handled for the people by Deputy District Attorney Woolwine, and Mr. Fox was defended by Attorney Cleveland Schultz.

SHE FINDS VOICE. COURT HELPS QUEST.

Mrs. Edith J. Simmons, like most first visitors at the divorce court, began whispering her story of domestic troubles to Judge Wood yesterday.

"You will have to speak louder, madam," remonstrated the court.

Mrs. Simmons managed to get her voice into the intermediary.

"I will continue this case until you feel you are able to talk up," ordered the court. At the lapse of an hour Mrs. Simmons was recalled and without visible effort threw her voice into the high and went skimming along. She stated that her husband, William W. Simmons, did not support her. Mrs. Lou Clark testified she provided for the couple's daughter. The decree was granted.

The Simmons were married February 17, 1909, and separated last July 8.

CLAIM ADVANCED ON CONTESTED ESTATE.

The People's Loan and Trust Company of Riverside filed a petition yesterday for the probate of the will of Charles E. Gyger, who died July 10, 1914, alleging it is a creditor of the $20,000 estate. Previously Jesse A. Gyger, the son, asked for letters of administration.

Under the provisions of the will Mrs. Edna Gyger, the stepmother of Jesse A. Gyger, is given all the estate except $100, which was bequeathed to the son. The latter declares his father's reason had been destroyed and that he was the victim of delusions. While his mind was in this state and after false accusations had estranged the father from his friends, it is declared, he executed his will, cutting off the son. The stepmother is charged with undue influence.

INS AND OUTS ABOUT THE COURT.

HE NEVER CAME BACK. Mrs. Jeanette I. Thompson of Pomona was granted a decree of divorce by Judge Wood yesterday on the ground of desertion. For nearly two years she has searched for her husband, Ira I. Thompson. Finally he was located in Wyoming by her attorney, W. C. Guerin. The couple were married in August, 1913. Four months later, Mrs. Thompson says, she was deserted.

HOME UNHAPPY. Frank Powers came into the divorce court yesterday to explain why he left home. The suit brought by Mrs. Mary M. Powers was partially tried last Tuesday. Mr. Powers testified his married life was not happy. He and his wife could not agree. A willingness was expressed to deed the home property to Mrs. Powers and to pay her a monthly sum. In addition, he said, he would pay the gas, telephone and electric bills. The property settlement was ordered, and Mrs. Powers was granted a decree on the ground of desertion.

TO SAN QUENTIN. Max Abrams, recently convicted of arson, having set fire to the residence in which he was living at No. 3910 La Salle avenue about three months ago, was sentenced to three and a half years in San Quentin by Judge Houser yesterday morning. Mrs. Otta Fischer Abrams, wife of the prisoner, is charged with complicity in the same crime, and her trial is set for March 2.

EASY PAYMENTS FOR OPEN CUT.

COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR LONG-TERM BONDS.

Ordinance of Intention Nearly Ready for Presentation and Property Owners will Have Twenty-five Years in Which to Pay for Benefits.

Property owners affected by the Bunker hill open-cut project will have twenty-five years to pay for the benefits they will receive from the improvement. This provision was made by the Council yesterday when City Engineer Hamlin reported that work on the ordinance of intention is progressing rapidly and asked for instructions regarding the length of time to be specified in the improvemnt bonds. The ordinance which will be presented to the Council within a few days will provide that the work shall be done under the improvement act of 1913, with the maximum time allowance for payment of the bonds.

"This decision to make the bonds run for twenty-five years will do away with a large part of the opposition to the open cut," said Chairman Topham of the Public Works Committee. "Of course there is a certain element that may be expected to continue active opposition to the open cut, but in my experience in municipal affairs I have yet to see a public improvement that has not been attacked by persons who either fear that some pet scheme will be injured or else are afraid that the other fellow will prosper because of the change."

The Business Stability Association which is leading the movement for the open cut was informed yesterday that prominent business interests in the southern part of the business district, which have heretofore opposed the open-cut project on the theory that it would benefit the north end exclusively, are now ready to work for the success of the project. The Mayor's message to the Council, pointing out the need for immediate action to give outlet and inlet through Bunker hill was received as a decidedly encouraging feature of the campaign for the improvement and the Mayor was congratulated yesterday on his stand on the question.

ROW IS SCHEDULED. SALARY SCRAP IN COUNCIL.

Salary increases sought for two employees in the City Assessor's office will come up again for discussion before the Council today and, in case the Council votes the increases which have been asked, Chairman Wheeler of the Finance Committee says he will forthwith hand in his resignation. Said resignation was written yesterday morning and while the salary question was being discussed yesterday, Councilman Wheeler handled it in a manner that indicated he had more than half a notion to present it at that time.

The salaries in question are those of Ralph Davis, deputy Assessor, now getting $150 a month, and Deputy Rosenthal, who now receives $110 a month. The position of chief deputy Assessor was held by A. B. Conrad, who, under leave of absence, is serving as City Tax Collector. Mr. Conrad received $175 a month as chief deputy Assessor and his place has not been filled in the Assessor's office. Mr. Davis and Mr. Rosenthal contend that there was an agreement with the former Finance Committee that if they did the work of chief deputy, they would each receive a raise of $25 a month. They did get the raise —for a few months—but the new Finance Committee put them back on the former basis last July, and Davis and Rosenthal and their friends have been kicking ever since. The Finance Committee has reported adversely several times and yesterday Mr. Davis was asked if he would take a civil service examination for the promotion to chief deputy and he refused. "I may not have to use this resignation tomorrow, but it is ready if I need it," said Mr. Wheeler.

TO HIGH SCHOOL ROADWAY IS PROVIDED.

Negotiations between the city and the Rimpau estate for a thoroughfare that will give access to the High School site between Pico street and Wilshire boulevard were completed yesterday by Chairman Topham of the Public Works Committee. The estate donates a thoroughfare 100 feet wide and the street will be graded and oiled by the city at a cost of about $4000. It is understood that the Los Angeles Railway will lay tracks to the High School site.

The site was bought by the Board of Education about six months ago and after the money was paid it was discovered that the school board had forgotten to provide for any means of access to the school excepting over private property. The Council discovered a "club," which was used through refusing to accept maps of the plat of adjoining property until the street has been dedicated.

IMPROVEMENTS. ORDINANCES AND ORDERS.

The City Engineer was instructed to proceed with the improvement of Sunset drive between Myra avenue and Sanborn avenue under the Vrooman Act, without waiting for waiver signatures. The Engineer was also instructed to proceed with the improvement of Del Mar avenue from Santa Monica boulevard to Hoover street under the Improvement Act of 1913. Instructions were also issued by the Council providing for the improvement of McPherson street from its east end to Santa Fe avenue, the city to pay its assessment for the work.

No Recommendation.

Sprinkling bids received by the Board of Public Works, which were taken up by the Council and considered by the Public Works and Finance Committee were sent back to the Board of Public Works yesterday with a report, which made no recommendations and left the board to act as it sees fit in awarding a contract for the year's work. Two alternatives are open for action, either to let the contract to the low bidder, or else to buy the equipment from the old company and do the work by force account. One bid in the hands of the board offers to supply sprinkler, team and driver for $4.15 a day, while if the city does its own work it must pay $5 a day for a team and driver for the city water wagon. In any event, it is likely that the city will either buy or rent a motor-driven sprinkler and keep careful account of its performance.

Employment Bureau Busy.

Chairman Wheeler and Councilman Betkouski of the Finance Committee visited the Municipal Employment Bureau yesterday and inspected its workings with a view to considering plans for enlarging the quarters in the near future. They reported that the employment bureau is increasing its scope of usefulness at a rapid rate, and, with the co-operation of the Federal government under plans now under way, its efficiency will be broadened to a marked degree. Chairman Wheeler said he believes the Finance Committee will find a way to recommend the appropriation of funds imperatively needed by the bureau.

Art Commission Elects.

A. F. Rosenheim, formerly vice-president, was elected president of the Municipal Art Commission yesterday when the board reorganized. Mrs. Sumner P. Hunt was elected vice-president and F. W. Blanchard was re-elected secretary. The commission made the change at the request of John W. Mitchell, who has served two terms as president, and who remains a member of the board. The other members of the commission are Mrs. H. L. Macneil, reappointed last week, and Mayor Sebastian, City Engineer Hamlin and Building Inspector Backus, ex-officio members.

Municipalograms.

Preparation of the complicated municipal report for the State Tax Commission as required by the new tax commission law was begun yesterday by Robert Domingues, Deputy City Clerk. This assignment, being in the line of extra work, was approved by the Civil Service Commission and the Council, and the compilation of the report from the tax rolls will require about sixty days.

City Engineer Hamlin recommended to the Council yesterday that the improvement of Crenshaw boulevard be held up until a storm sewer is built. The recommendation went to the Public Works Committee.

George Dunlop, a member of the Board of Freeholders which framed the proposed new charter, will tell members of the City Club what he thinks of the charter at the Saturday meeting of the organization.

ELECTION CONTEST.

Judge Conley presided at the election contest brought by James P. Whalen, defeated candidate for Commissioner of Santa Monica, in Department Twelve yesterday. Mr. Whalen was nosed out at the recent election by five votes, and charged that a recount would show irregularities which would throw the election to him.

A staff of clerks is doing the work, which at a late hour yesterday afternoon showed a gain of twenty-five for M. K. Barretto. The count at that time was 547 for Mr. Barretto and 522 for Mr. Whalen, out of a total vote of 4300. More than another day will be required to complete the count, which is eagerly watched by the friends and adherents of both parties to the suit.

DAMAGES FIXED

A jury in Judge Monroe's court yesterday fixed a value of $3600 on 1.49 acres condemned by the Pacific Electric for the cut-off of the Redondo Beach-Watts line, to Redondo Beach, near Hawthorne. The damage to the remainder of the eighty-acre tract was valued at $5000.

The suit was against the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, trustee for Charles L. Hubbard, and C. F. W. Palmer. The owners' experts valued the part taken at from $3750 to $3000, and the total damages at from $15,000 to $20,000. The Pacific Electric's highest valuation was $3600 altogether. Woodruff and Shoemaker represented the defendants.
